Village fulfills requirements

Neumann moves in

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

With the approval of two special service areas (SSA), the Village of Antioch has completed its requirements set forth in the "memorandum of understanding" (MOU). This non-binding agreement is to lead to a global settlement of the litigation over sewer and water in Antioch's East-Sub Area between the parties in the Deercrest litigation (Village of Antioch, Lake County, Lake County Forest Preserve District, Deercrest) and the zoning litigation (Neumann Homes, Village of Antioch).

The two establishing ordinances had been tabled. The board was awaiting an answer as to how houses in the two Neumann Homes developments (Deercrest and Clublands) would be valued given the special tax attached to the properties to pay off bonds to cover the cost of bringing sewer and water and other amenities to the area.

Antioch Township Assessor Heather Kufalk-Marotta sent a letter to the mayor and the board allaying concerns. In it she said, "I am enclosing a copy of an Illinois Real Estate Transfer Declaration from Grafton Township in McHenry County, Ill. This property has the same special service area that Neumann Homes has proposed...It includes the $18,300 for the municipal bond amount."

The board approved the ordi-

Wal-Mart jumps first hurdle

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Wal-Mart has jumped its first hurdle and is one step closer to becoming a reality as the combined planning and zoning board voted to approve a positive recommendation to the village board.

To have the proposal fit within the newly amended language of the Comprehensive Plan that would allow for business development along Route 173 of up to 30 acres, Great Lakes Principals (GLP, the developer) orally modified its request.

Previously, it was seeking approval of two phases of development that would sit on 67 acres that is currently made up of seven smaller parcels at the intersection of Route 173 and Deep Lake Road. Tim Barrett, of GLP, asked that the board consider only at the first phase and recommend a B-2 (business) planned unit development (PUD) on 29.39 acres. Additionally, the developer asked that 7.3 acres where the water retention ponds will sit be rezoned to Ag (Agriculture).

Barrett confirmed that Wal-Mart intends to build a "Super" center of 203,000 square feet if approved.

With that, the developer was able to present a better detailed plan that includes moving the building 60 feet closer to Route 173 to protect neighbors to the rear and eliminate most of the retaining walls. Landscaping will be intensified through Tim Stewart, an architect working with the developer said, "We can't hide it (the building) entirely, but we can make a really nice buffer."

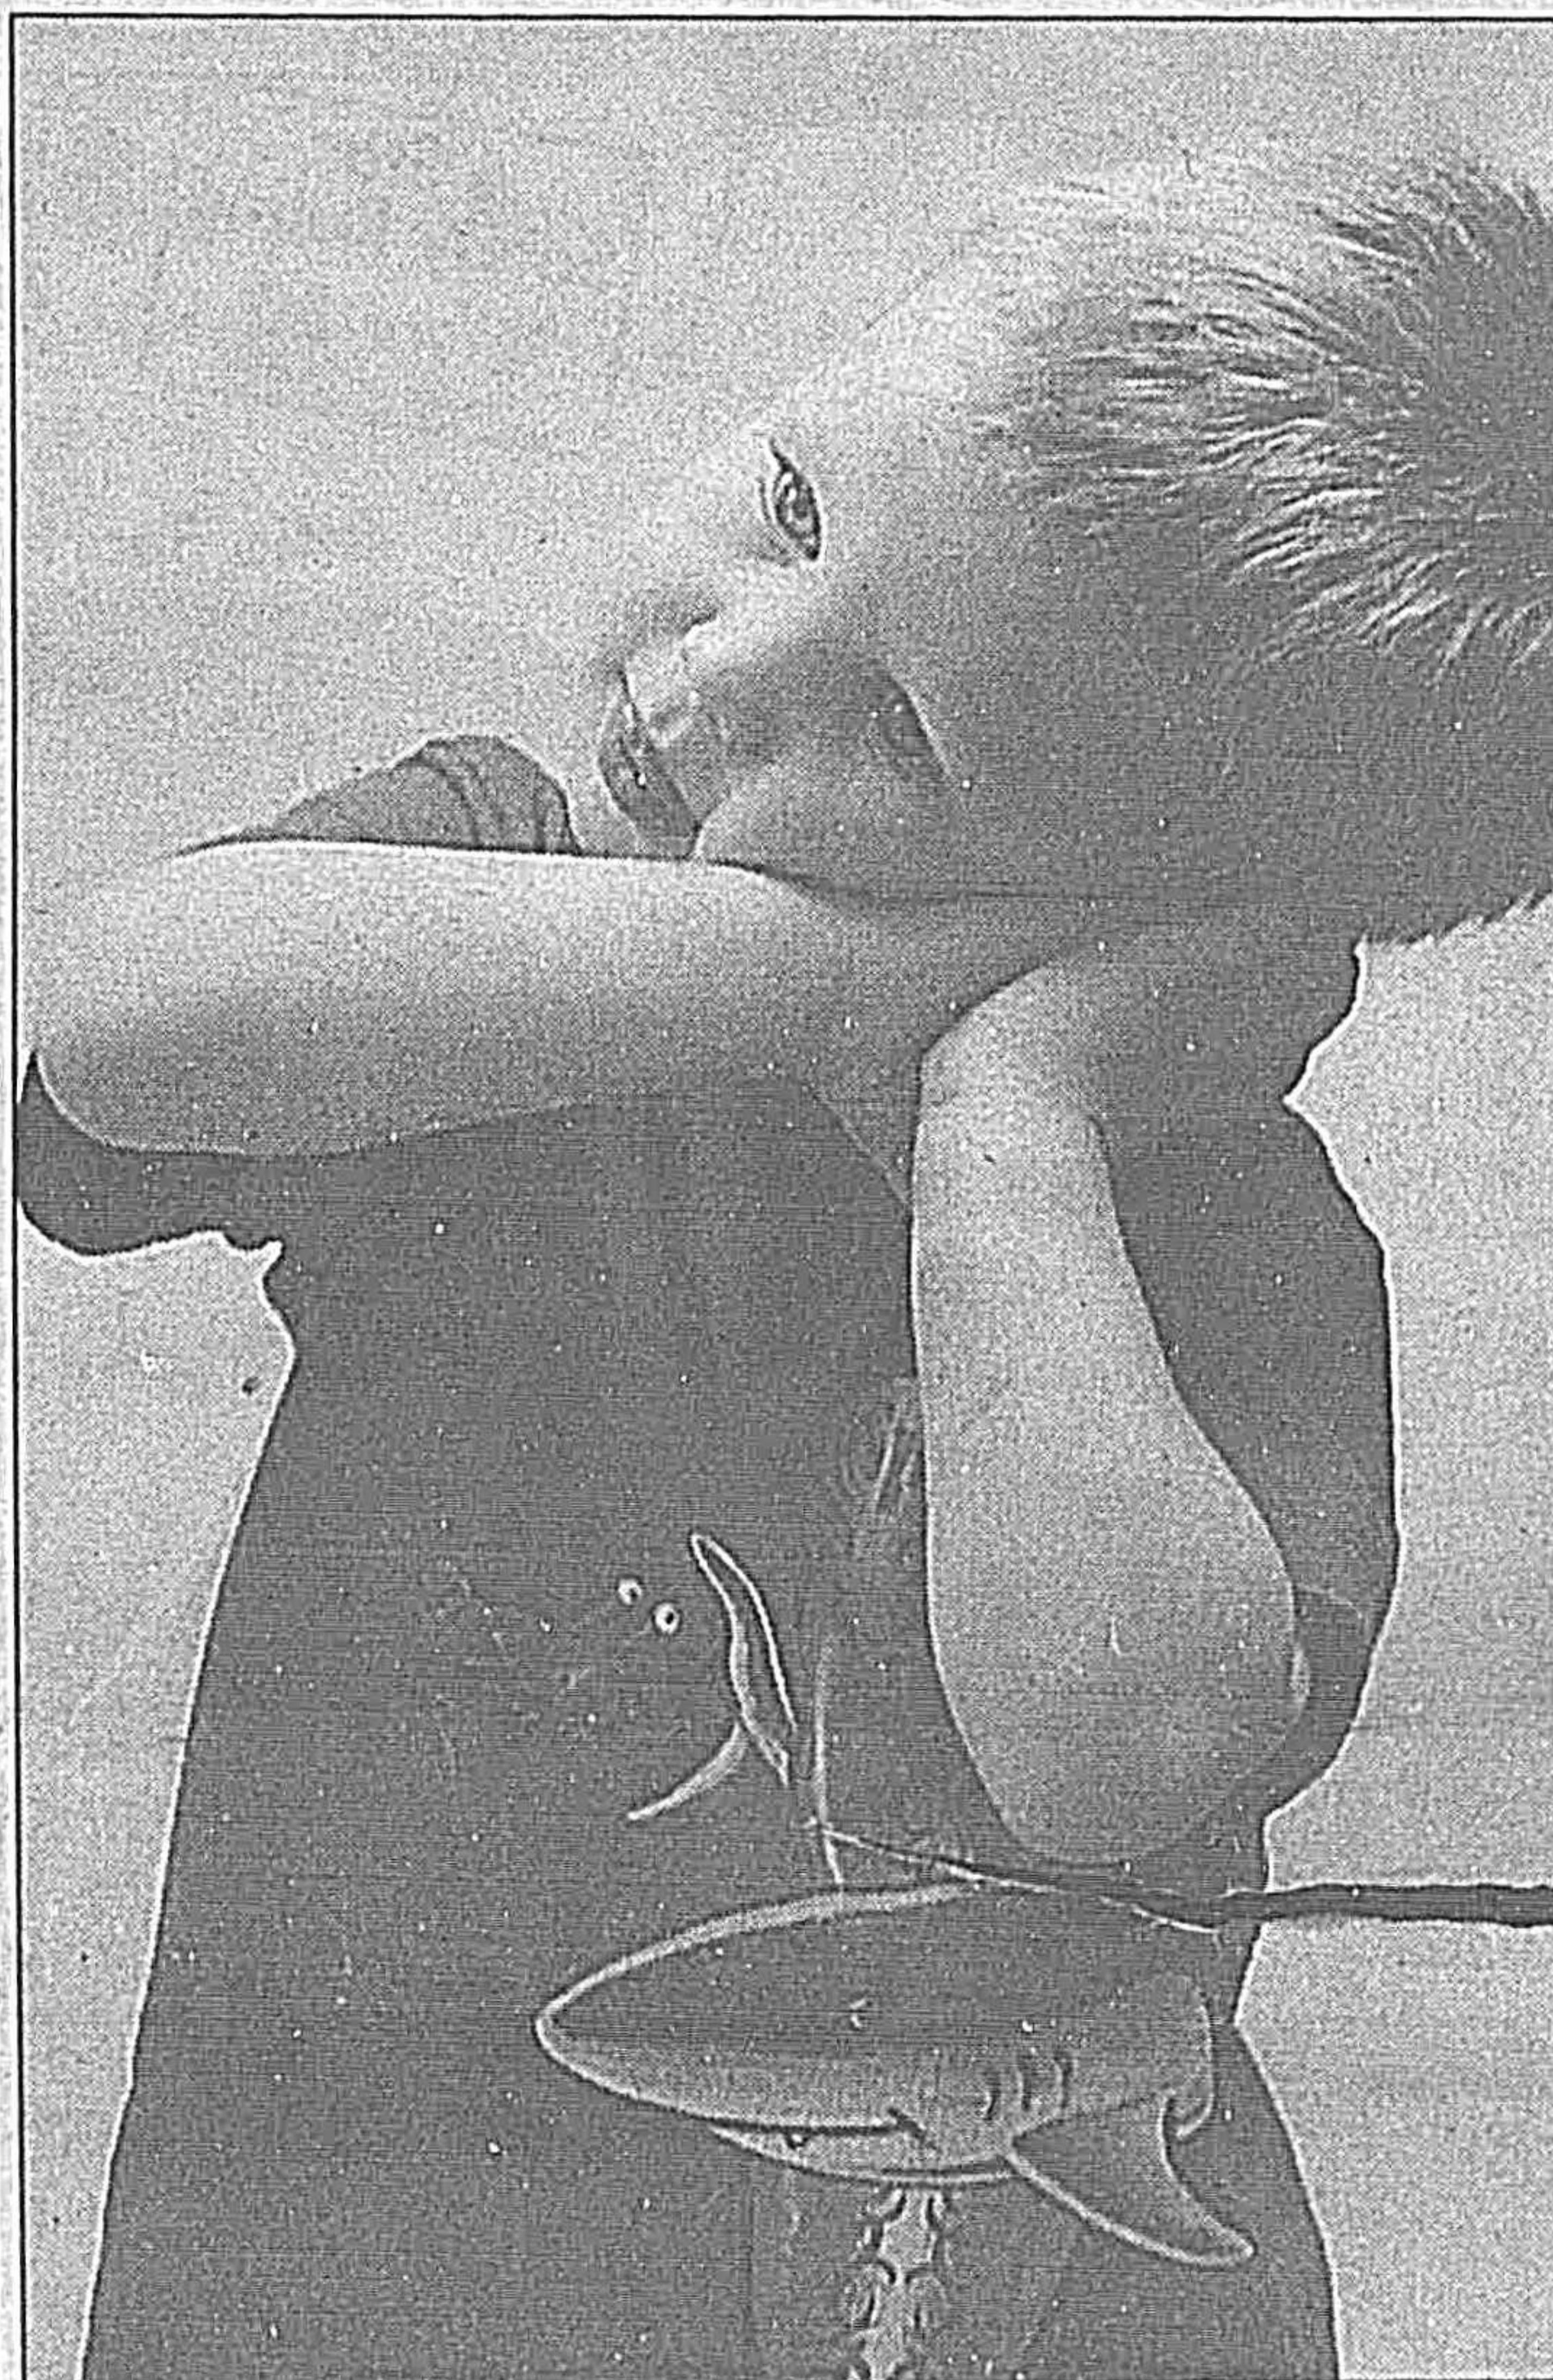

Resident Jodi Gott asked whether public comment would be reopened as the developer had changed the petition. Village attorney Don Anderson said, "The amended petition is just to reduce the size of what the board is being asked to consider. The details are the same."

Before voting to approve, commissioner Frank Johnson asked whether it was okay to make demands of Wal-Mart such as that it hire locally to the degree possible, that a bike path be laid for the use of residents and that the village should be entitled to utilize the building if Wal-Mart were to vacate it in the future and it stood empty.

Anderson said there are areas within both an annexation agreement and a development agreement where these matters can be further considered. "I expect we (the village) will enter into both of these agreements."

The recommendation was approved five to one, with commissioner Kyle LaReese casting the no vote.

Village may cover utility costs to Wal-Mart

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

"I definitely don't think we (the Village of Antioch) should pay for sewer and water," said commissioner Frank Johnson at the continuation of the public hearing for the Wal-Mart proposal.

Jim Keim, village engineer, had said it was possible that the village would expand its water and sewer services in the area. "This development would be supplied water and sewer from the village," said Keim. "The village is considering bringing sewer out to this area to expand our services."

If not, the developer would and pay the expenses with some sort of repayment agreement for the area that does not front the development.

Commissioner Bob McCarty said he was still "stuck" on the issue of utilities and the fact that developer Tim Barrett of Great Lakes Principals would still be looking to recapture $600-700,000 out of the super center's sales tax to cover the cost.

"It's about $1 million for the sewer and water. That's a significant amount of money to be paid up front," he said.

Barrett added that he would recommend 25 percent net of the sales tax until the recapture was complete. "We were never looking to take all of the sales tax dollars," he said.

Village administrator Mike Haley was quick to point out that taking a portion of the sales taxes was just "one" possibility for the developer to recuperate its costs. "I've been instructed to work with the developer and let them know this is not the preferred way to recapture," Haley added.

DUI

Wladyslaw Panszczyk, 38, of 21225 116th Avenue, Bristol, Wis., was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol on Sept. 23 at 11:39 p.m. on North Avenue at Trevor Rd.

Police witnessed Panszczyk's vehicle sway between the centerline and the fog line, finally crossing onto the shoulder and back. He reportedly turned very slowly onto Trevor Road.

The officer detected the strong odor of alcohol on Panszczyk's breath when his driver's license was requested. He failed all field sobriety tests requested of him.

Panszczyk was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Department where he was issued a DUI. He refused chemical testing and was issued an additional citation for improper lane usage.

Panszczyk was released on cash bond pending his Oct. 15 court date.

Michelle M. Miller, 40, of 425 Donin, Antioch, was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol on Sept. 23 at 9:39 a.m. on at 425 Donin.

An officer responded to a call of a subject possibly passed out behind the wheel of a car in the parking lot, and was told that the car may have rolled out of the parking space.

The keys were in the ignition and the gear selector in reverse. Miller told police her car died and she couldn't get the keys out of the ignition.

The officer detected the strong odor of alcohol on Miller's breath when her driver's license was requested. She failed all field sobriety tests requested of her.

Miller was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Department where he was issued a DUI. She refused chemical testing.

Miller was released on a personal recognizance bond pending her Oct. 15 court date.

Revoked

Jacqueline J. Nolan, 33, of 42192 5th Avenue, Antioch, was arrested for driving while revoked on Sept. 30 at 1:06 a.m. on Route 173.

Police locked her vehicle traveling 55 mph in a 40-mph zone. Nolan told police her driver's license was revoked and this was confirmed through LEADS/NCIC/SOS.

She was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Department where she was put through booking procedures and issued citations for driving while revoked, speeding and failure to dim headlights.

Nolan was released on $100 cash bond pending her Oct. 23 court date.

No valid driver's license

Justino Zepada, 37, of 397 Donin, Antioch, was arrested for driving without a valid driver's license on Sept. 30 at 11:47 a.m. at the intersection of Joren and Donin.

Police saw Zepada driving and knew previously that he had no driver's license. This information was confirmed through LEADS.

Zepada was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Department where he was put through booking procedures and issued citations for driving without a valid driver's license. He was released on personal recognizance pending his Oct. 23 court date.

LAKE VILLA

Battery, DUI

Robert B. Delaney, 31, of 38716 N. Gratton, Lake Villa, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on Sept. 22, at 6:15 p.m., while driving southbound on Deep Lake Road near Route 132. Police came to the intersection in response to a complaint of battery. The alleged victim said the suspect fled eastbound on Route 132. The suspect's vehicle was located at the White Hen Pantry on Grand Avenue at Sand Lake Road in Lindenhurst. Lindenhurst Police detained Delaney.

The victim told police he observed Delaney speeding behind him on Deep Lake Road. The victim said Delaney had "flipped" him, and the witness responded in kind. At Deep Lake Road and 132, Delaney allegedly got out of his vehicle, yelling and swearing at the victim. He then approached the car, and struck the victim in the head, then left the scene.

In custody at the LVPD, Delaney refused to take a breath test or field sobriety test. He admitted drinking five beers. He was charged with DUI, battery and disorderly conduct. He was released on a $3,000 I-bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on Oct. 18, at 9 a.m.

DUI

Randy J. Burgmeier, 27, of 218 Valley Dr., Lindenhurst, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on Sept. 27, at 3:02 a.m., on Monaville Road near the railroad tracks. A police officer observed Burgmeier's vehicle parked at the railroad crossing, with four cars behind it. The drivers were sounding their horns in an effort to get Burgmeier to move. He appeared to be asleep in the front seat. Loud music was coming from the car. The officer found the car was running, and in "drive" gear. The officer put the car in "park" and shut the engine off, to avoid the car moving onto the tracks.

The officer noticed a strong odor of alcohol. It took three shouts from the officer before the driver responded. The driver reportedly told the officer he had consumed 4-5 beers at Famous Freddie's in Fox Lake. He failed four of four field sobriety tests and a breath test yielded a result of .145 BAC. The driver, a parolee in the state of Illinois, was charged with DUI, DUI over .08 BAC and improper parking on a roadway. He was released on a $3,000 I-bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on Oct. 25, at 9 a.m.

Beth A. Stey, 23, of 18700 W. Belvidere Rd., Wildwood, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on Sept. 23, at 1:37 a.m., while driving eastbound on Route 132 near Deep Lake Road. A police officer observed another vehicle speeding, but was thwarted from following because Stey, driving a blue Ford, obstructed the officer's path. A half-mile down the road, the officer caught up with Stey, who was weaving, straddling lanes. She had alcohol on her breath, according to police. She said she had consumed one beer. She failed three of three field sobriety tests. She refused breath tests. She was charged with improper lane usage and DUI. She was released on a $1,000 I-bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on Oct. 11, at 9 a.m.

LINDENHURST

DUI

Timothy A. Miotto, 34, of 36071 N. Grand Oaks, Gurnee, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Oct. 1, at 12:51 a.m., while driving on Route 132 near Hillcrest. Police observed him driving 49 mph in a 35-mph zone. He failed five of five field sobriety tests and a breath test yielded a result of .125 BAC. He admitted having four beers at Nuttie's Bar in Lake Villa. He was charged with DUI, DUI over .08 BAC and speeding. He was released on a $3,000 I-bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on Oct. 22, at 9 a.m.

Consumption of alcohol by a minor

Jermaine L. McNeil, 20, of 225 Hobble Bush Dr., Lake Zurich, and Mikhail R. Williams, 20, of 812 N. Waukegan Rd., Waukegan, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Sept. 26, at 1:38 a.m., on Robincrest Lane near Mallard Ridge Drive. Police observed a black Suzuki heading eastbound on Route 132 crossing over the centerline. One of the registered owners was listed as having no valid driver's license. Police detected an odor of alcohol on McNeil's breath, after stopping him at Robincrest Lane. He failed field sobriety tests, and refused breath tests. Williams, one of his passengers, registered .135 BAC on a PBT. Two 15-year-old female passengers tested at .000 BAC. An open 12-pack of beer was found in the vehicle, as were traces of a substance that field-tested positive as cannabis. Both men were charged with consumption of alcohol by a minor. McNeil was also charged with improper lane usage and DUI. Both are to appear on Oct. 15 at 9 a.m. in Waukegan. McNeil is set for courtroom C-402, and Williams is to appear in C-405.

Theft from vehicles

Lindenhurst Police received three reports of items stolen from unlocked cars on St. Mary's Lane and Farmington Drive on Oct. 1. The stolen items included a purse and radar detectors. Other reports were received of vehicles on the same street rummaged through, with no items taken. The break-ins are under investigation.

FD warns of smoking hazards after apartment fire

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Minor damage in the amount of $200 was the only loss in an apartment fire caused by the "careless use of smoking materials." The fortunate outcome serves as a reminder to use care to prevent a situation that could be much worse.

"This incident demonstrates why the careless use of smoking materials is the leading cause of fire fatalities," said Chief Investigator Rich Frankson. "This woman was lucky that her family member was home and able to assist her in exiting the building."

The fire department was sent to the apartment, located on Drom Court, shortly after noon on Sept. 25. When the Engine Company arrived, members of the Antioch Police Department reported that the fire had been contained to mattress and appeared to be out.

The building had been in the process of evacuation at the time the initial caller alerted the Antioch Fire Department that smoke was coming from the rear of the building.

"Only two people were home at the time (in the entire building)," said Lt. Chris Lienhardt, information officer for the fire department. No one was hurt and there was minimal damage."

Lienhardt said the department removed the mattress and checked the room for any hidden fire using the department's thermal imaging camera. Investigation determined that the fire was started when the apartment resident fell asleep while smoking in bed.

According to Lienhardt, in 1998, there were 140,800 fires associated with smoking materials that resulted in 903 deaths, 2,453 injuries and $412 million in property damage.

He offered the following tips to prevent adding to the statistics: keep smoking materials away from anything that can burn; use large, deep, non-tip ashtrays and don't rest them on the arms of chairs or sofas; don't smoke in bed; completely douse butts with water before throwing them in with other garbage; check under upholstery and cushions to ensure nothing is smoldering after smoking; keep smoking materials away from children.

The resident was treated at the scene and released. "Had she been alone, this outcome would have been much different," said Frankson.

Homecoming provides spirit-filled week

Maybe the biggest consequence of the homecoming football game between Antioch Community High School (ACHS) and Stevenson High School is that gives both students and residents a reason to show pride.

Homecoming festivities begin the week prior with Powder Puff games on Sunday, Oct. 6. Freshmen and sophomores take the field at 1 p.m. with juniors and seniors playing immediately after. The cost to attend is $1.

Friday, Oct. 11 has been declared "Spirit Day" at the high school. Students are encouraged to wear clothing, including hats, with Sequoit colors and logos.

At 6:30 p.m. there will be an outdoor pep rally on the football followed by a bon fire at 7 p.m. The Antioch Fire Department will set, monitor and put out the fire for safety purposes.

At 10 a.m. on Saturday morning, the homecoming parade will leave from ACHS and travel north up Main Street. The downtown portion of the road will be blocked off for the parade.

The Junior Varsity team takes the field at 10:30 p.m. The Varsity headliner begins at 1 p.m.

Fall activities support high school students

It's no gamble that the annual pork chop barbecue and auction to be held by the Antioch Rotary Club on Oct. 5 will be a lively one with the theme of "Viva Las Vegas." It's also a safe bet that supporting an event that gives back to the community through college scholarships is worth supporting.

This year's event will take place at Father Hanley hall in St. Peter School with dinner served from 5-7 p.m. and the auction beginning at 7 p.m. and running until all the goodies are spoken for.

The big prize to be had this year is an all-expense paid trip to the Barbados. Other big trips include a condo in Hawaii and farm stays in both New Zealand and Australia.

The proceeds of this fundraiser typically go to the Antioch Rotary Scholarship Fund. Totals for scholarships given in any given year generally top the $20,000 mark.

In addition to trips with far-away destinations, there is plenty to bid on that will keep the winner closer to home. Some of these prizes include a trip to Galena, theme dinners and a sky box for the Green Bay Packers versus the

OUR TOWN

Detroit Lions game in Green Bay.

Additionally, each year Rep. Tim Osmond (R-Antioch) offers the opportunity for one young adult to be "Page for a Day" in the Illinois House Representatives. A silent auction will be held for some of the smaller items such as arts and crafts and one pizza a month for one year.

Tickets are $20 per person and include dinner and a raffle ticket with a winning prize of a $500 travel certificate through Travel by Design out of the proceeds of the auction. Tickets are for sale at the State Bank of The Lakes, First National Bank-Employee Owned, Osmond Insurance, as well as from any Rotarian or at the door.

St. Peter School is located on Lake Street just north of the intersection of routes 59 and 173.

The ALL (Antioch, Lindenhurst, Lake Villa) Parents Network of Antioch Community High School (ACHS) will conduct its ninth annual Peddler's Alley craft show on Oct. 5 from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. at the high school.

The proceeds from this event will go towards the post-prom event.

Angel Pound Cakes will make their debut as a new fundraiser. Samples will be available at Peddler's Alley and orders taken to provide a special dessert for Thanksgiving and the holidays.

Don't worry, these cakes don't replace the bake sale that is always held in conjunction with the craft show. Other continuing traditions include a raffle. The crafters donate one item each for the raffle prizes.

There is no admission charge for this event. The ALL Parent Network table will be located near the front door and crafters will show their wares in the commons and in the gym foyer.

If you have interesting information or anecdotes to submit for "Our Town" call staff reporter Julie Murphy at 847-223-8161, ext. 600 or e-mail, moorfie@ix.netcom.com

ACHS physics students test their accuracy calculating acceleration and velocity at their teachers' expense

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Calculating the number of students throughout history who wanted to throw eggs at their teachers' heads might be an impossible task, even for students at Antioch Community High School. What was proven quite possible is that physics students could accurately calculate acceleration and velocity.

Physics teacher Jim McKay came up with the idea to rent a lift so that students could make calculations from a variety of heights to determine at what point an egg would have to be dropped to hit a passerby directly underneath.

"It started with a very basic idea of using something like a pulley to elevate students to different heights," he said. "The idea grew from there."

McKay explained that these equations are difficult to learn. "I had to come up with a conceptual way to teach my students about acceleration and velocity," he said.

Students from both McKay's classes and coworker Ben Palmberg's classes worked in groups of four to see how many times they could hit their moving targets, McKay and Palmberg respectively.

"All you have to do is look at my helmet to tell how successful my class was," McKay added. "I was hit often."

Groups were given three opportunities to test their skills.

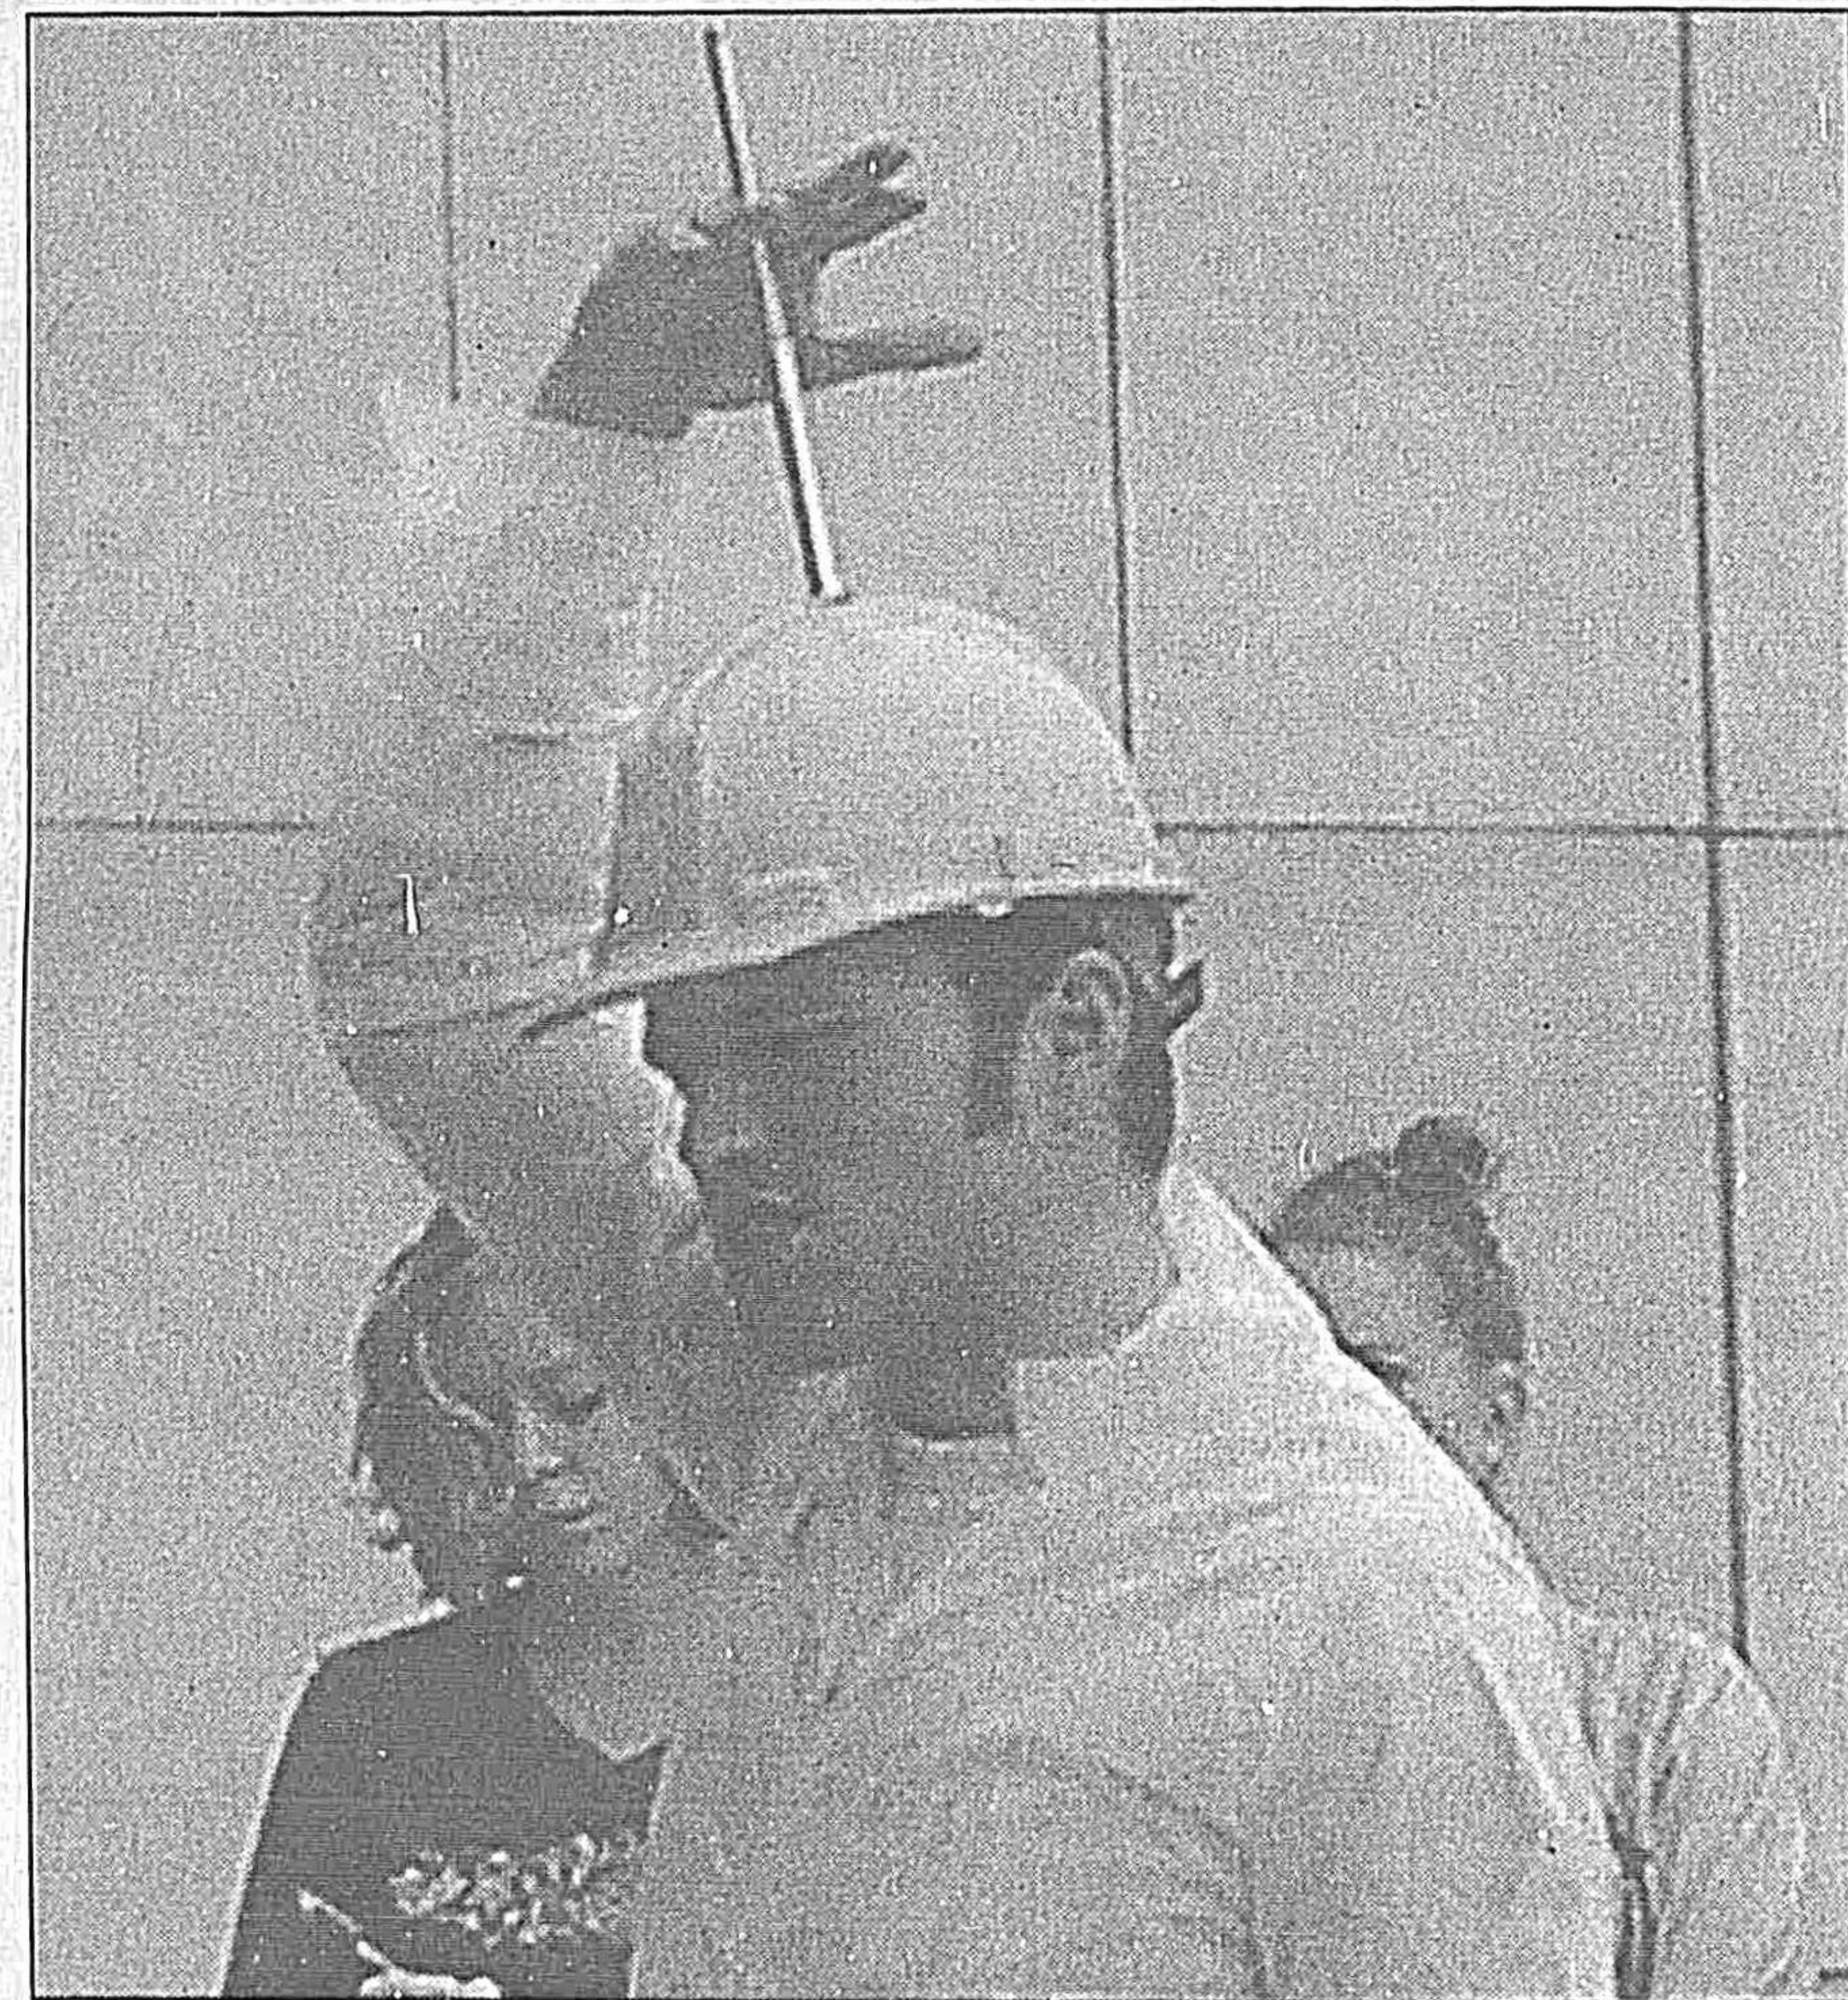

Palmberg reviewed the equation before the first group was put to the challenge. "Remember, there's a ten-inch spike at the top of helmet," he called out. "Don't forget to calculate that in."

One student would ride the lift, measuring the exact height required for the group's equation. That same student got the privilege of dropping the egg when a teammate below would call for it.

All students, whether actively participating or not, calculated out the problem.

Students were giddy with anticipation as Palmberg began his walk under the lift, though he closed his eyes when he stepped over the X and flinched at times when he was hit.

Some groups made hits with all three eggs and other groups were less successful. However, none of the groups went away from the experience with egg on their faces.

(top) Physics student Scott Coles tells the lift operator when the egg drop off point has reached the required 8 meters. (above) Palmberg reminds the students to calculate in his height, including 10-inch spike on his helmet.—Photo by Julie Murphy

Spiritual healer speaks at CLC

Many professionals within the medical community acknowledge a connection between one's thoughts and one's health. Spiritual healer Cynthia Neely will be at the College of Lake County on Oct. 13 to give a workshop on "Spirituality and Healing."

Neely

During the workshop, she will share examples of how she and others have used prayer and an understanding of the mind/body connection to improve physical and mental well being. Neely uses both the Bible and "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (1821-1910) to explain the connection that she said made profound changes in her life.

Neely, a Christian Science nurse and full-time practitioner of Christian Science, has over 15 years experience helping others find spiritual solutions to everyday problems. She has traveled throughout North America and the Caribbean speaking on women's issues, family and parenting, defeating the threats of violence and racism and overcoming addiction.

The workshop will be held at 3 p.m. in conference room C003. There is a $10 registration fee to cover the cost of materials.

For more information about the workshop or transportation, or to register for the workshop, call 847-395-1685.

Junior Woman's Club hosts opening dinner

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

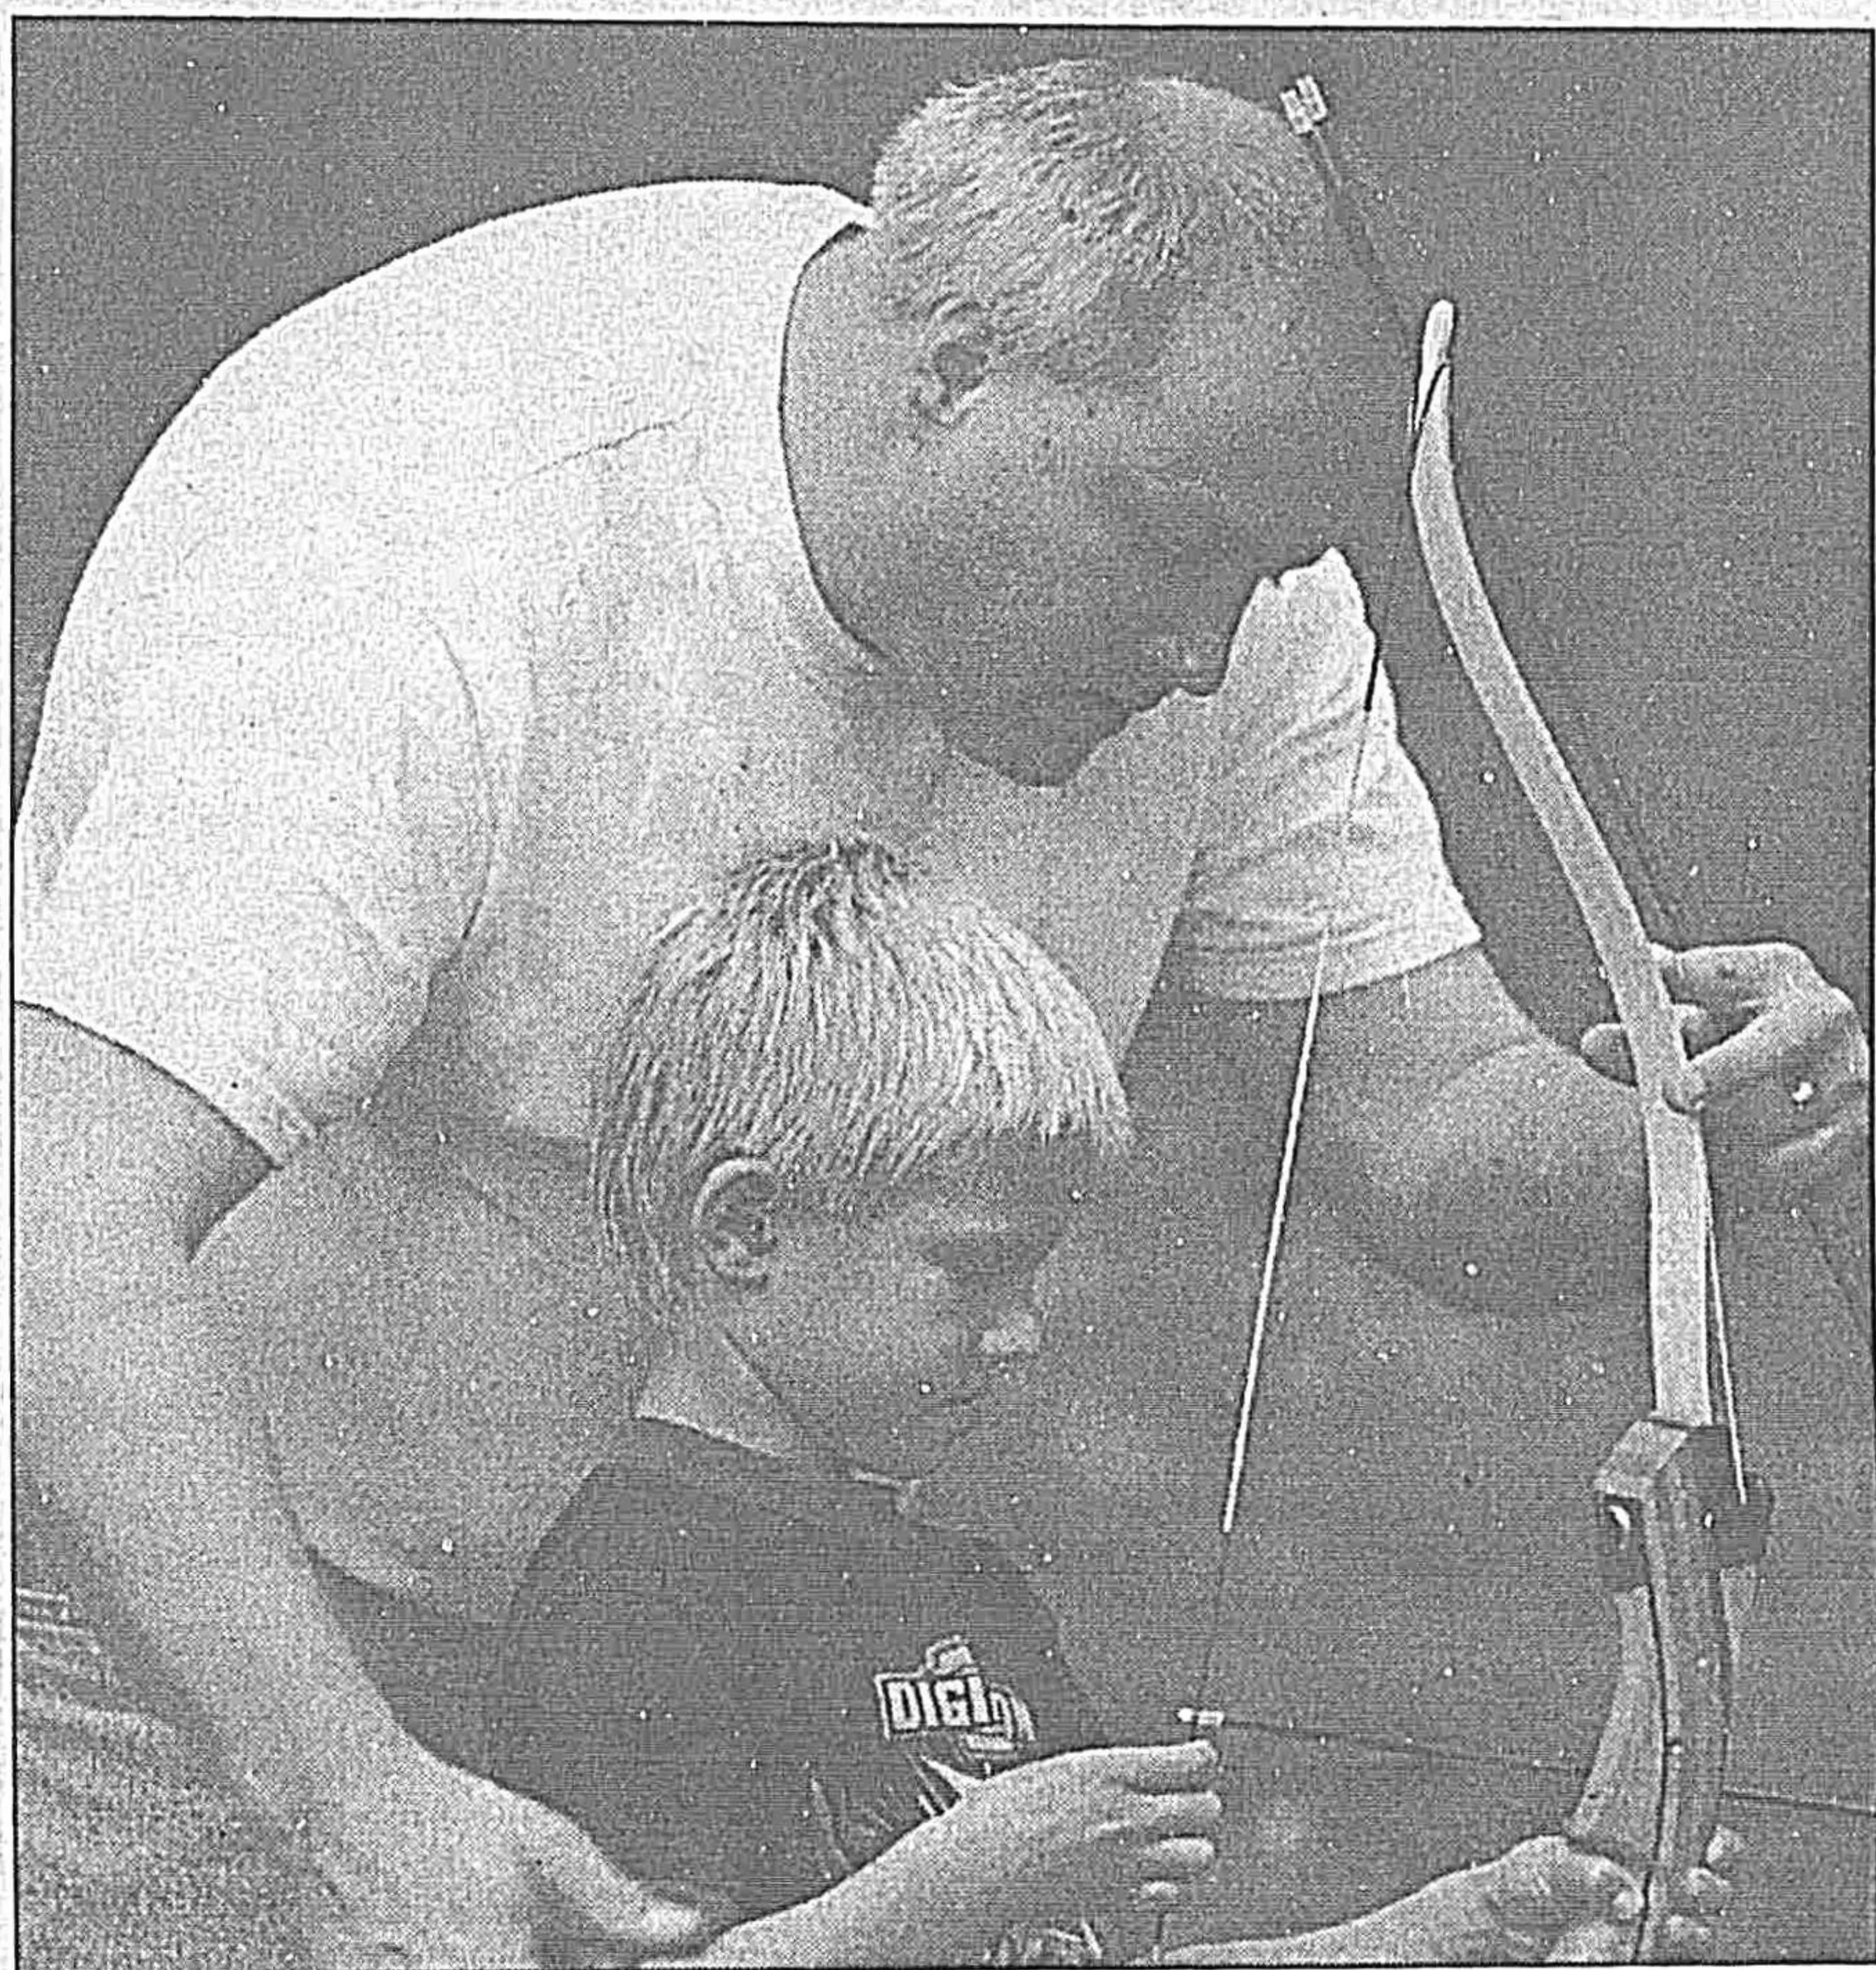

It's the beginning of the Antioch Junior Woman's Club and to celebrate, the club is hosting an opening dinner on Oct. 8 at the Double Eagle Sports Lounge.

"We do this every year as a nice way to kick off our year," said member Karen Kubin. "Guests are welcome, and it's a good way for women to find out about our club."

Dinner will be served at 7 p.m., and cash-bar cocktails at 6:30 p.m. The club's regular meeting will be held after dinner.

For $15, those interested can enjoy the company of others while dining on a buffet of baked chicken, mostacoli and cod, along with mashed potatoes and gravy, vegetable, salad and rolls. The cost of dessert, coffee, soft drinks, tax and tip is also included.

Reservations are required and can be made by calling Kubin at 847-395-3111.

'Tis the season of the harvest

Have you noticed that the leaves are beginning to change colors? This is truly a beautiful time of year as we enter the fall season. Apples and pumpkins are ready to harvest. If you're lucky you may have a few items left in your garden to reap as well. This is the season of the harvest. I consulted my Webster's dictionary to find the definition of the word "harvest." It read as follows: 1. The time of the year when matured grain, fruit, vegetables, etc. are reaped and gathered in. 2. A season's yield of grain, fruit, etc. when gathered in or ready to be gathered in; crop. 3. The gathering in of a crop. 4. The outcome or consequence of any effort or series of events.

Just as there are the seasons of spring, summer, fall, and winter, I believe we have different "seasons" in our lives as well. Spring is the baby and toddler years, the beginning of life, everything fresh, new, and exciting. Summer compares to childhood and youth, constantly growing and blossoming, bursting with excitement. Fall is likened to becoming an adult, the beginning of maturity and the beautiful colors of life. Winter is the age of wisdom, the "senior moments" of life, the glistening of the ice and snow. We need to make the most of every season in our life. I picked up a book quite a few years ago entitled "Growing Strong In The Seasons of Life" by Charles R. Swindoll. Just the title speaks of years of wisdom and experiences.

Let's get back to talking about the season we are entering, fall, the season of the harvest. As my pastor said so clearly yesterday, "we harvest what we sow." "Every seed brings forth its kind. If we sow anger we will have anger. If we sow bitterness we will have bitterness. If we sow love we will have love. If we sow kindness we will have kindness. We reap what we sow. If you sow nothing you get nothing." Pastor Abbott of Calvary Temple in Waukegan said it well. He referred to the Bible, Mark, Chapter 4; the Parable of the Sower and Galatians, Chapter 6, verses 7-9, more words of wisdom about reaping and sowing.

Are we planting seeds of kindness and love or seeds of anger and bitterness in our children, spouses, friends, and co-workers? We need to remember that what we plant into the lives of others will result in a harvest. What will your harvest be like?

Country Fair and luncheon

Ladies, you're invited to a country fair and luncheon on Thursday, Oct. 10, at the Twin Oaks Country Inn on Hwy. C in Wilmot, Wis. The country fair will consist of a silent auction, crafts, music, bake sale, and great holiday gifts. Betty Belding will be the guest speaker. Her topic is "Finding Forgiveness in an Unforgiving World." A free nursery is provided for children 10 and under upon reservation. The luncheon will be held from noon-1:30 p.m. and the cost is $11 inclusive. Reservations for the luncheon and nursery are necessary. Please call Judy at 847-546-9481 no later than Tuesday evening, Oct. 8.

Readers with information for "News-Worthy" should call Sharon Westbrook at 847-395-3079.

Golf club to be demolished

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Bigger isn't always better. The Antioch Golf Club, originally built in 1920, has had various additions to its main structure over the years and topping out at 27,000 square feet.

Sometime during the month of October, it will be demolished.

Manager Vince Juarez said, "We're downsizing drastically. There's too much space here."

He said the goal of the new building, slated for completion in June 2003, and is to have a more efficient club at 5,700 square feet. "There will be a club house with banquet facilities and a restaurant," explained Juarez. "Outside, there will be a big tent that will seat about 300 for golf outings and weddings."

Juarez added that even with 40-50 golf outings a year, there is too much unused space in the current clubhouse. "We want a building that is more efficient."

The new building will have a completely new look. Juarez said the elevation of the building will be changed dramatically and will fit in better with the surrounding area.

"We should be able to comfortably accommodate about 150 people," he said. "The new bar will seat 44 and the grill room about 100."

Juarez said he didn't know exactly in October the demolition was to occur, and noted that the construction seen adjacent to the club at the intersection of Grass Lake Road and Route 59 is the start of the new Antioch fire station.

"It will be nice to have the fire station right next door," he said.

Juarez added, "We are hoping for the construction to be completed by June 1 of next year."

Driving

an unfaltering tempo and steady rhythm, Brian Leary is known to many as "the fist of fury." His crisp control of beat and an unparalleled precision characterizes his drumming technique. Leary, who has lived in Mundelein his entire life, not only drums from his heart, but with one arm.

Vicky Marrari remembers seeing Leary for the first time when he auditioned in June to play for Free Reign, a five-member rock and blues band that she sings lead for. "When I shook his hand and saw he only had one arm, I thought, 'How am I going to tell a disabled person he can't have the job?'"

She never had to.

"I sat with my mouth open the whole time. He set up his drums in minutes. He's got an incredible attitude and knows a wide variety of music," said Marrari of Milwaukee. "I've tried to play drums and I have two arms and two feet."

After hearing roughly nine different drummers, she said Free Reign unanimously chose Leary for the job at the beginning of August.

"In one practice, he knew four hours of music. He made only one mistake in 40 songs—I made more mistakes than he did."

Beating the Odds

"It's like running the 50-yard dash," said Leary, wiping his brow after playing "Hurry Sundown," a hard-hitting song by the Outlaws. A glimmer of Rick Allen's spirit, the drummer from Def Leppard who lost his arm in a car accident in 1984 can be seen in his dedication to drum playing.

Following his dynamic performance, he sits in a sofa chair surrounded by a 12-piece Slingerland copper covered drum set he's had for 30 years along with an electronic keyboard and two 200-watt amps.

After watching him play drums, one wonders if Leary may have been born with drumsticks in his hands. "I've played all my natural life, 40 years," said the 1973 Carmel High School graduate.

When he was 11 years old, Leary's interest in percussion was sparked after hearing a marching corps in Libertyville. Before every holiday he would ask for a drum to add to his collection and practice by playing along with the radio and to record albums by the Beatles, Rolling Stones and Chicago-based band the Buckingham.

"I'm mainly self-taught, I hear and feel," said Leary who doesn't read music.

Leary's love of music was put to the test, however, at age 13 when he lost his left arm. While climbing a tree in his backyard, he accidentally grabbed onto a non-insulated power line, which burned 60 percent of his body. Doctors decided to amputate his right arm because the damage was too severe.

At the hospital, Buddy Rich, legendary jazz drummer, paid Leary a visit while he was doing a concert in the area.

"He told me, 'You will play again' and left me with a record album and his drumsticks," Leary said.

During the visitation, Rich told Leary he lost some mobility of his left arm after suffering from a minor stroke. Knowing someone else claimed he could play with one arm inspired Leary to continue drumming. "There's no reason I can't figure out how to do it and keep doing it."

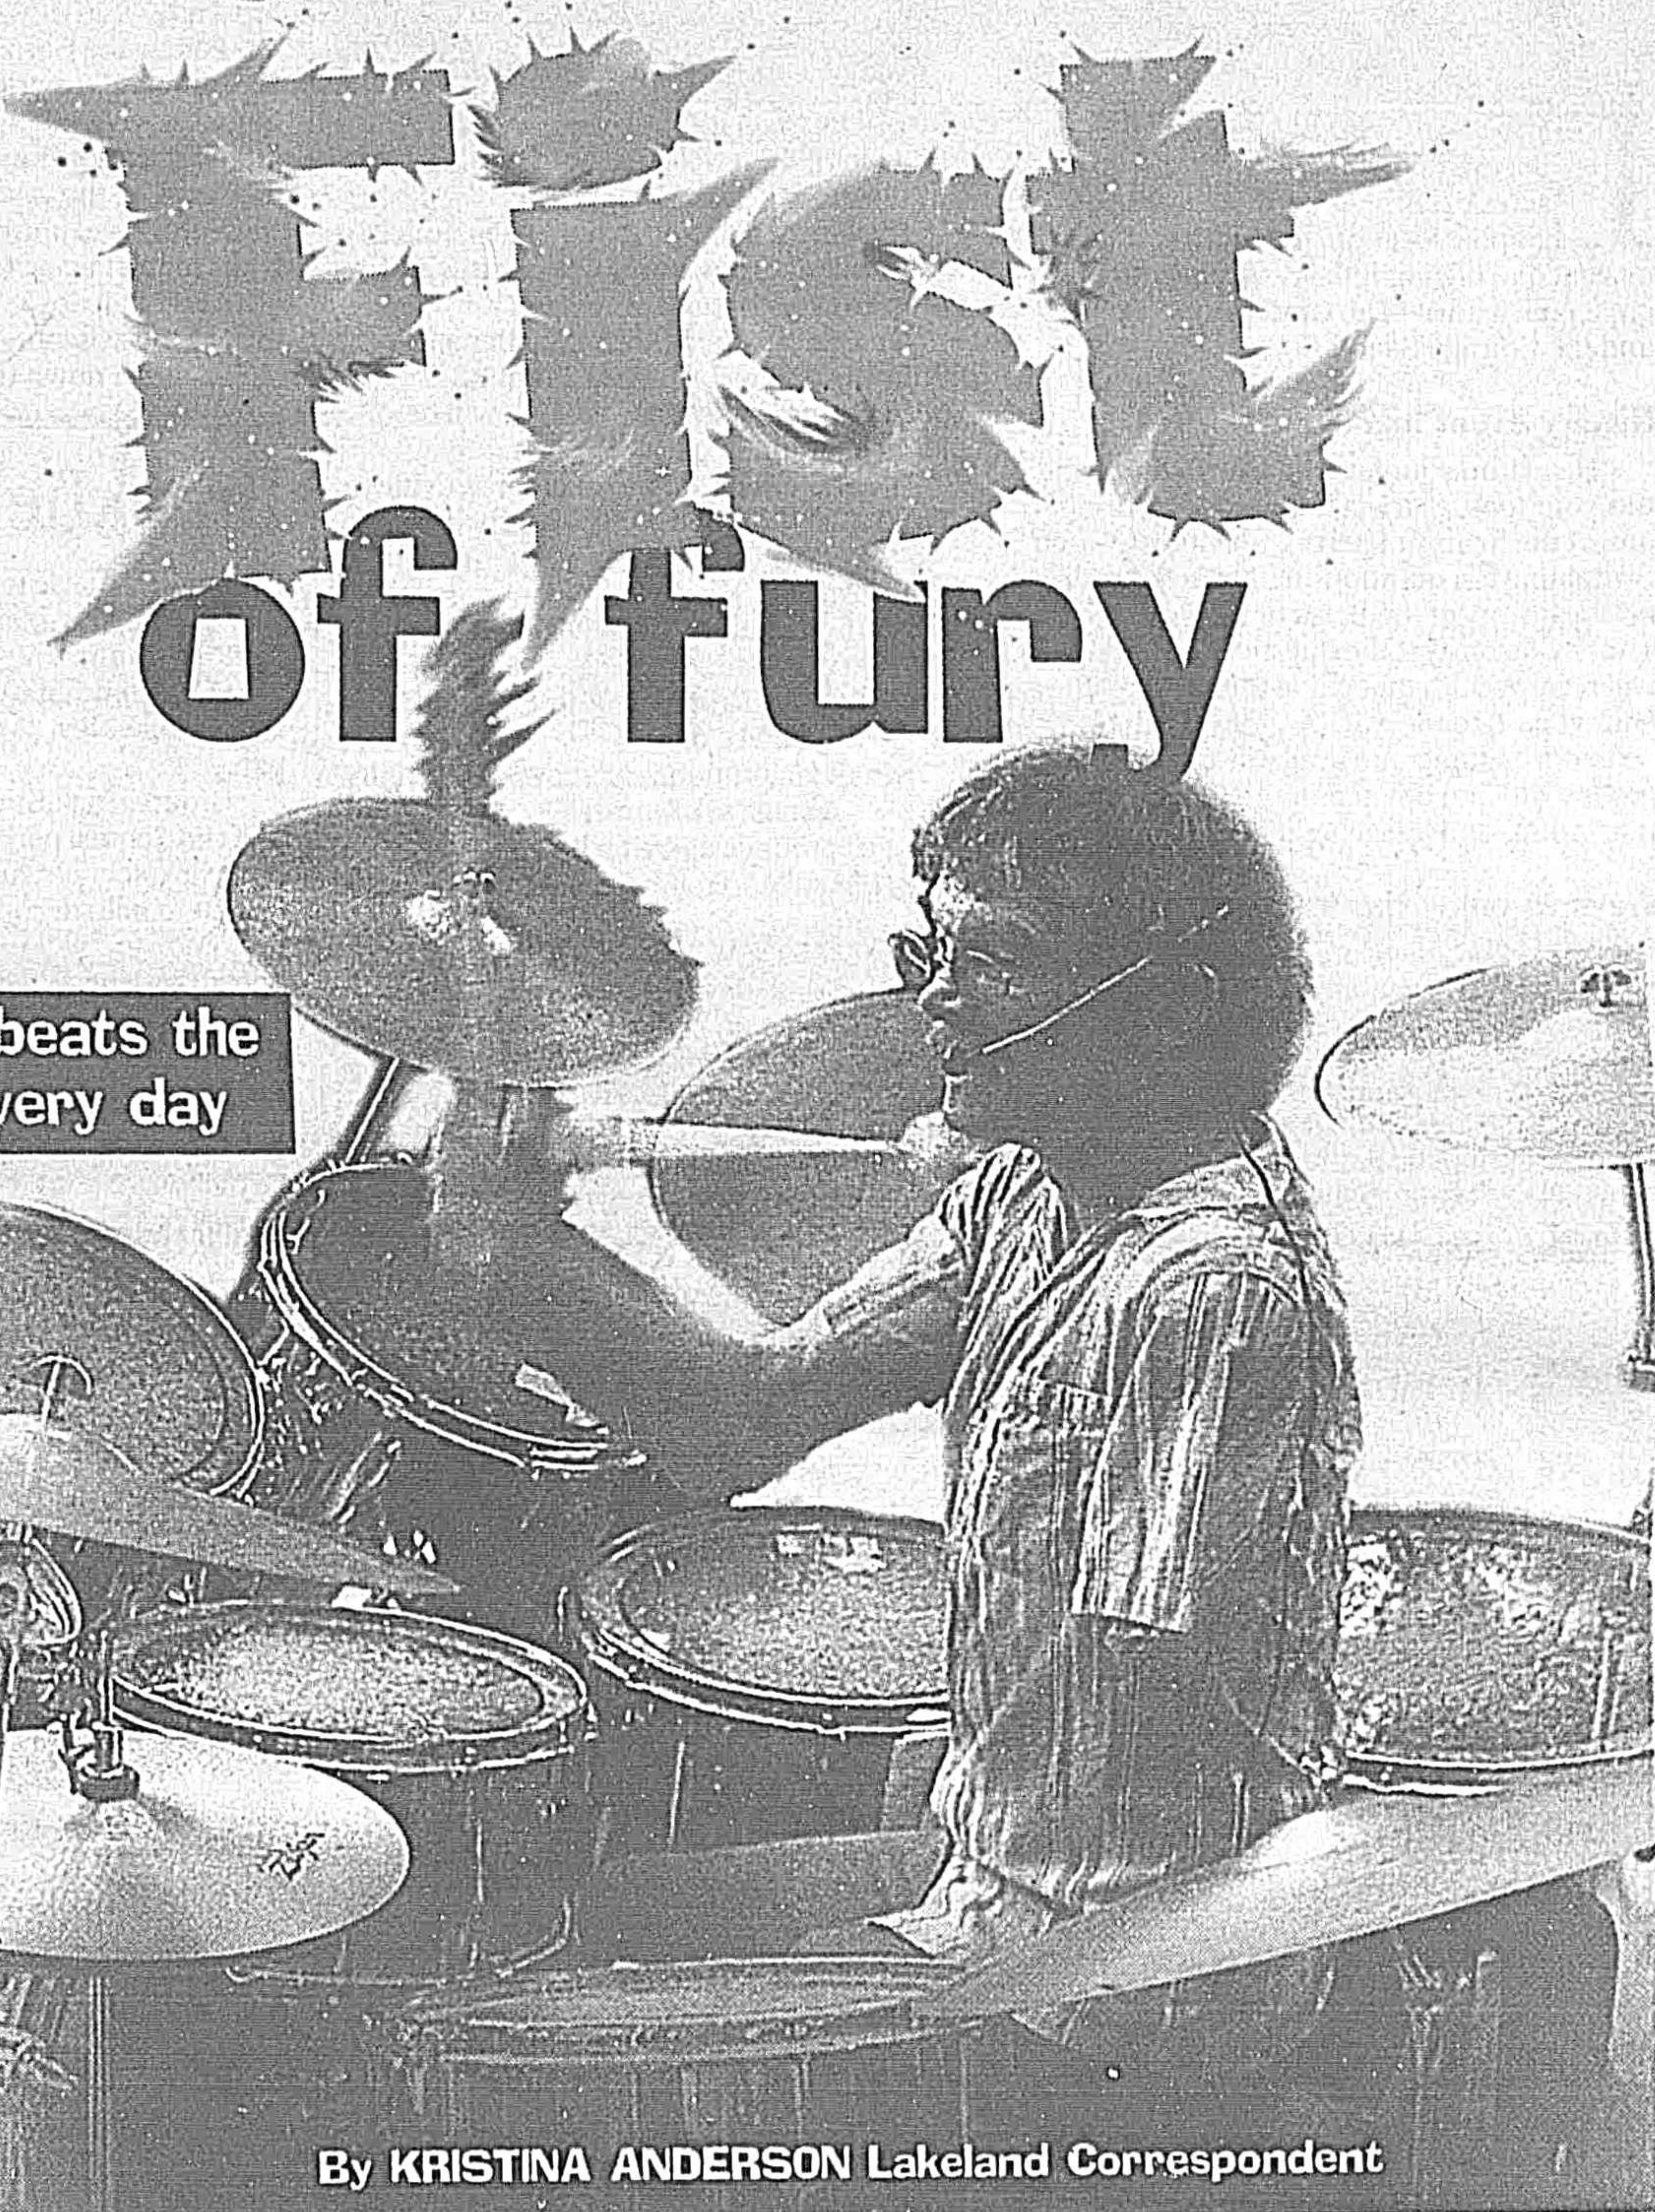

The most challenging part of relearning how to play the drums with one arm, according to Leary, was "keeping up with a similar sound."

"It takes patience to do it over again until it becomes natural," he said.

Bears vs. Packers rivalry taken to a corn field

Lake Geneva Youth Camp has opened the area's first MAiZE carved into 17 acres of corn. As a tribute to its geographic location, the maze is designed to highlight the rivalry between two great NFL teams—The Green Bay Packers and the Chicago Bears.

Rivalry event highlights

Head into your favorite team's maze and test your football trivia knowledge by using one of the Bears or Packers "Passports," each containing ten questions that quiz the user on the history of the Bears or the Packers. Those who answer the questions correctly will receive clues that guide them along the correct path to the exit. (A series of other "passports" topics are available for church groups, girl and boy scouts, 4-Hers, corporate groups and the general public.)

Ways to enjoy the MAiZE

In an effort to ensure that the MAiZE experience offers something for everyone, the public will find a variety of ways to experience the maze:

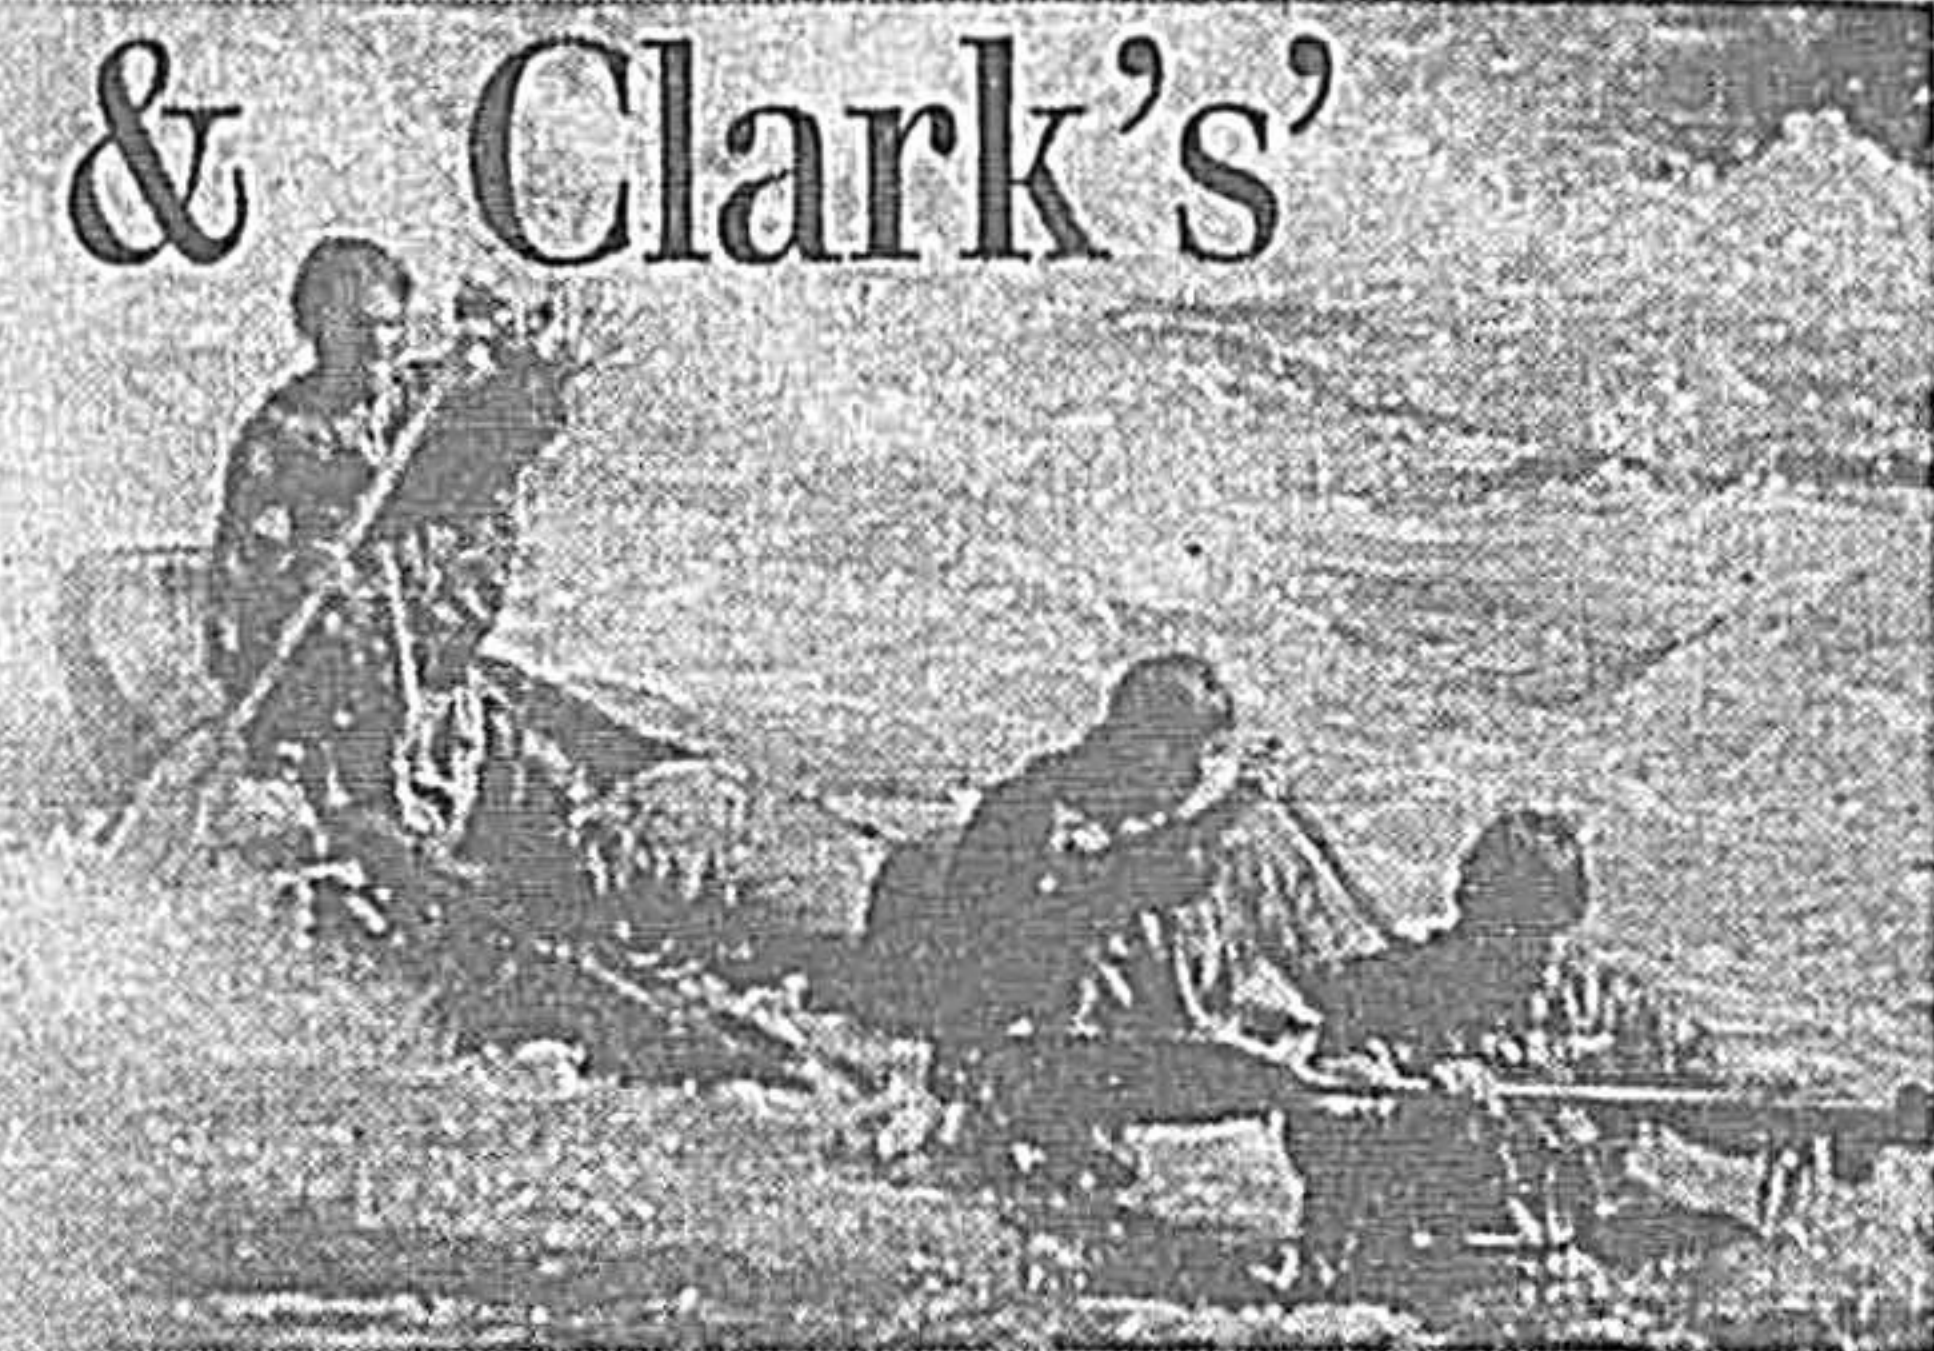

- Open both day and night (by moonlight or glowsticks), the MAiZE caters to school field trips during the day and has created an elementary education campaign that integrates education into the maze experience and helps guide students along the correct pathway.

- Customized activities have been added for birthday parties, corporate outings and group rivalries/races.
- On Oct. 31, the MAiZE will offer a fun family night as a Halloween alternative. Special games, activities and food will be planned for that night.
- We also offer a variety of other activities to make the visit more enjoyable such as:
  - A petting farm
  - Hayrides
  - A "Corn Cannon" that shoots an ear of corn over 400 feet
  - A field goal kicking contest for NFL game tickets
  - Craft fair, antique car show, community garage sale, & more!
  - Fall produce and gift shop
  - A "Football Train" ride for the kids

The MAiZE will be open through Oct. 31. Hours are Thursday and Friday nights from 4-10 p.m., Saturdays from 10 a.m.-10 p.m. and Sundays from 1-5 p.m. The location is at Fairwyn Farms, five miles east of Lake Geneva, Wis. on Highway 50. For more information or to make reservations, call 262-539-3047 or visit www.fairwynfarms.com.

Re-live 'Lewis & Clark's' great U.S. adventure on IMAX

Join one of the great adventures in U.S. history and explore the pristine American West of 1804 in "Lewis & Clark: Great Journey West," opening Friday, Oct. 4 at the Humphrey IMAX Dome Theater at the Milwaukee Public Museum.

Follow the Corps of Discovery—an 1804 expedition of American and French-Canadian river men led by captains Meriwether Lewis and William Clark—as they explore the vast American Western wilderness and journey 8,000 miles from St. Louis to the Pacific Ocean and back.

- Free-fall down a 60-foot precipice toward the Missouri River.
- Careen down the Columbia River in vessels made of hollowed-out trees.

- Experience the five massive cascades of Great Falls of the Missouri.
- Stand eye to eye with a growling grizzly bear and a barking prairie dog.
- Feel the rumble of thousands of bison across the plain.

"Lewis & Clark" was produced by National Geographic and is narrated by Jeff Bridges.

Tickets are $6.75 for adults (18-59), $5.75 for seniors (60 plus) and $5.25 for children (3-17). Children 2 and under seated on an adult's lap are free. Call 414-319-4629 for showtimes and reservations. A $1.50 service fee is charged for advance reservations.

Brookfield Zoo looking for tree trimmers

Add magic to your organization's holiday-season by sponsoring a community tree at Brookfield Zoo's Community Tree Trim, Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 23 and 24, from 10 a.m.-3 p.m.

Groups, including those from Boy and Girl Scouts, park districts, libraries, churches, schools, and clubs, are invited to help decorate trees that will line the zoo's malls with animal-safe ornaments. Trees will be on display during the annual Holiday Magic festival. Holiday Magic is held Fridays through Sundays, from Nov. 29 through Dec. 22, from 4-9 p.m.

Reservations for the Community Tree Trim will be taken on a first-come, first-served basis. The cost to sponsor a tree is $100 and includes a fully lit 5- to 6-foot tree, a sign detailing the town the tree represents along with who donated and decorated the tree, and 25 complimentary general admission passes and five complimentary parking passes to the zoo on tree trim days. The deadline for reserving a tree is Tuesday, Oct. 15. Reservation forms may be downloaded from the zoo's web site, www.BrookfieldZoo.org, or by calling 708-485-0263, ext. 320 or 358.

Annual festival is for the birds... and people, too

Dozens, in fact more than 100, whimsical, clever creations convene along the tree-lined paths throughout Lincoln Park in historic downtown St. Charles for the annual Scarecrow Festival on Oct. 11-13 this autumn.

Now celebrating its 17th year, the Scarecrow Festival has grown to become one of the favorite fall family events in the Midwest.

At the heart of the festival is the "Scarecrow Contest." Traditional denizens of the cornfields and every variation of that theme are created by individuals, families, businesses and organizations. There is no charge to display a creation.

The festival and its festivities encompass the downtown area starting at Lincoln Park, west of the Fox River and home to the scarecrow displays. This area also features the main entertainment stage under the huge tent. In and around the park, visitors can stroll down paths lined with scarecrows, enjoy free entertainment in the main tent, and sample the great food as they enjoy the festivities from the many picnic tables under the trees.

Just one short block east are the Colonial Cafés and Fifth-Third Bank lots where more adventures await: the carnival, petting zoo, the free make-a-scarecrow and other activities for the family.

And no one goes hungry at the Scarecrow Festival! Local restaurants and special food vendors offer an array of culinary delights for every palate and at every location.

What would a festival be without a carnival and especially music? Each day from morning to noon and through the evening features a great variety of entertainment and musical venues.

Adding to the fun on Saturday and Sunday are old-fashioned trolleys that shuttle visitors from remote parking sites to all the festival locations both east and west of the Fox River.

From storytellers to face painting to free make-your-own scarecrows to take home, there are activities for everyone at this annual autumn event in downtown St. Charles, just one hour west of Chicago.

More information on the Scarecrow Festival is available from the St. Charles Visitors Bureau, 1-800-777-4373, or on the web site at www.scarecrowfest.com.

'Anna Christie' a memorable season opener

Eugene O'Neill's evocative "Anna Christie," though written in 1922, carries a contemporary punch. This romantic "play of the sea" unites a desperate young woman with the seagoing father she hardly knew and opens doors she never imagined existed.

Meredith Templeton, in the lead role, is a forceful presence in the season opener directed by Cecilie Keenan at Apple Tree Theatre in Highland Park. Taken by her well-meaning widowed father when she was a child to live on a farm with relatives in Minnesota, Anna was ill-used, treated as something less than a hired hand. Sexually preyed upon at age 16 by a cousin, she fled to town to work as a nanny but eventually ended up living the life of a prostitute.

Act I play begins in an East Coast long-shoremen's bar where Chris (Charles Gerace), a hard-drinking old salt, gets a letter that his daughter is about to make an appearance. It's a touching scene in which Chris, now the captain of a coal barge, asks his live-in companion, Marthy (Maureen Gallagher), to move out for the sake of propriety.

Neither Chris nor Anna has an inkling of the kind of life each has lived. He is under the impression she was still a governess, while she thought her father no longer spent time on the water but worked as

But the reunion goes well, at least initially, and Anna, now 20, ensconced on the barge, is invigorated by the fog and freedom of the sea. "I feel clean and happy," she sighs.

Complications set in when three stranded fishermen take refuge on the barge, including Mat (good work by Aaron Christensen), a narcissistic Irishman who falls instantly in love with Anna. Her father, blaming the "Old Devil Sea," fears he will lose his newfound daughter and opposes her relationship with "the no-good sailor fellow."

An anguished Anna insists that marriage to Mat, no matter how desirable, is out of the question, especially since she prefers to keep her past a secret. A fiery brouhaha, the play's emotional summit, erupts; all is revealed, double standards get a thorough airing and destinies are decided.

Rebecca Hamlin does fine work with a simple set that effectively creates an impression of the sea. And director Keenan's exceptional cast performs flawlessly.

See "Anna Christie" through Oct. 20. Ticket information: 847-432-4335.

SPECIAL EVENT

Graceland comes to Gurnee Mills

More than 12 million Elvis Presley fans have visited Graceland to pay tribute to "The King of Rock and Roll" since the singer's death in 1977. This fall, Chicago-area residents will be able to take part in the Elvis experience as Mobile Graceland arrives as part of a 31-city tour, appearing exclusively at 22 Harrah's Casinos and 21 FYE (for your entertainment) stores.

Marking the 25th anniversary of Elvis' passing, Mobile Graceland is a museum-quality exhibit featuring authentic Presley memorabilia, much of which has never been displayed outside Memphis, that spans the superstar's unparalleled career. The exhibit will be on display at FYE in Gurnee Mills Mall on Oct. 8 from 11 a.m.-7 p.m.

The exhibit—housed in an ultra-modern 53-foot-long, 18-wheel semi-trailer—contains jewelry, clothing, instruments and other artifacts as unique as the man who owned them. The collection, which offers a glimpse of the extensive Elvis experience visitors enjoy at Graceland each year, also includes rarely seen archival photographs of the legendary recording artist and four listening and viewing stations where fans can enjoy samples of Presley's work. For information, log onto the web site www.mobilegraceland.com.

AUCTION

Fall planting

Bidding begins at noon on Oct. 5 at the 12th annual Tree and Shrub Benefit Auction. The auction is sponsored by Beeson's McHenry County Nursery and will be held at their nursery yard at 8501 White Oaks Rd., off Rte. 173 west of Harvard. Plants will go to the highest bidder over the minimum bid price. Planting and delivery service can be arranged at the auction office. For more information, call 815-338-0393.

PETS

Blessing for your pet

A documentary film crew will be on hand to film the thirteenth annual Blessing of the Animals on Oct. 6. The event honors the organization's namesake, St. Francis of Assisi, the early champion of animals. The blessing, officiated by the Reverend Dr. Warren F. Best, starts promptly at 3 p.m. rain or shine at McHenry County College grounds on Rt. 14, a mile north of Rt. 176 in Crystal Lake. For more information, call 815-455-9411.

WALKS

Bring your field guides and binoculars to the Volo Bog on Brandenburg Road, west of Highway 12 on Oct. 6 from 10 a.m.-noon, to explore the prairie during perhaps its finest season when the grasses reach 8 feet high and fall flowers are at their peak. Ages 8 through adults are welcome. Reservations are required by calling 815-344-1294.

Ray Bradbury literary walk

Join in on the fun, Oct 6 from 1-4 p.m. (rain or shine). Registration begins at 12:30 p.m. and closes at 3 p.m. at the Carnegie Library in Waukegan.

Participants can choose from walks of varying lengths (1/2 mile to 2+ miles) that highlight locations that were important in Bradbury's childhood or which are featured in his books and stories. Cost is $8 for individuals, $15 for couples and $25 for families.

Participants receive an event T-shirt and a booklet with historical photos, maps and biographical information. All proceeds will benefit the Carnegie Preservation Project and the Waukegan Downtown Association.

BENEFIT

Thank you

To register for the conference, call 800-356-6639.

MAP SHOWING THE BURNT DISTRICT IN CHICAGO,

Kicking the myth of the Chicago Fire's origin

Did Katherine O'Leary's cow really knock over a lantern and ignite the Great Chicago Fire of 1871? One hundred thirty-one years later historians still can't agree. What they can agree on, however, is that the Great Chicago Fire is one of the most famous events in American history, as well as the most formative event in the history of Chicago. On Saturday, Oct. 5 from 10 a.m.-3 p.m., the Chicago Historical Society, at Clark Street and North Avenue, is sponsoring "Family Fire Day: Great Chicago Fire Commemoration."

At "Family Fire Day," families with children of all ages can listen to fascinating personal stories of the fire, as told through performances and music; see artifacts from the fire's remains and illustrations of the city's rebirth; participate in crafts and games; learn fire safety and enjoy some favorite Chicago treats. Highlights of this commemorative day of activities and learning include an up-close look at old fire-fighting equipment, including leather water buckets, helmets, uniforms and lanterns dating back to the 1800s, and a vintage fire truck will be open from 11 a.m.-2 p.m. At the hands-on art station, open from 10 a.m.-2:30 p.m., families can create their own "Ms. O'Leary Cow" or try their hand at shaping a special Great Chicago Fire cow.

In addition to this free event, a Chicago Fire Bus Tour from 9 a.m.-1 p.m. visits landmarks and surviving buildings, including the fire-scarred stone at St. James Episcopal Cathedral, the church where the City Council meet after the fire. Admission is $25 for CHS members and $30 for general admission.

For more information, call the Chicago Historical Society at 312-642-4600 or visit on-line at www.chicagohistory.org.

HOROSCOPE

ARIES – March 21/April 20

Ok, so you'll be a little reckless, but your self-confidence is such that you're sure to come out on top even when the odds are against you. Anything is possible.

TAURUS – April 21/May 21

Pinnacle of self-control that you are, Taurus, things might be a bit more difficult this week, especially at home where everything everyone says or does seems annoying.

GEMINI – May 22/June 21

Travel and social activities will be good for you; visit new places and make new friends. If you don't have anything planned, what are you waiting for?

CANCER – June 22/July 22

Things are looking feisty in your chart this week, Cancer. A true cardinal sign, you'll fight tooth and nail for all of your possessions and everything else you believe in.

LEO – July 23/August 23

You'll go your own way and do your own thing, without doubting for moment that you'll succeed. But it won't all be easy sailing, you'll encounter a few obstacles on the way.

VIRGO – Aug 24/Sept 22

It's possible, of course, that certain people do have it in for you, and are conspiring behind your back, but more likely it's just your imagination playing tricks on you again.

LIBRA – Sept 23/Oct 23

You have strong opinions about what's going on, Libra, and may find yourself arguing with people whose opinions are very different from your own. Keep an open mind.

SCORPIO – Oct 24/Nov 22

Now's the time to get serious about your career plans, Scorpio. It will be a cinch for you to win over those you'll need on your journey to the top. You're in the home stretch.

SAGITTARIUS – Nov 23/Dec 21

The world is your oyster this week. Go anywhere, do anything—no matter how outrageous your behavior, you'll get away with it. You'll find that Aries makes a great companion for the journey.

CAPRICORN – Dec 22/Jan 20

You'll be in an aggressive mood this week, and good thing too. If you don't fight for what is rightfully yours this week, you'll lose it for good. Save the weekend for much-needed unwinding.

AQUARIUS – Jan 21/Feb 18

A feud with co-workers this week is inevitable, so don't worry about it. Every once in a while, it's a good idea to remind others that you can bite as well as bark.

PISCES – Feb 19/March 20

Better hope you've had plenty of sleep, because this is going to be a busy week. You'll be on the go from first thing in the morning until the wee hours.

DRUMMER

Rambling on

Despite the devastation of losing a limb, Leary persevered and continued playing drums throughout high school. He said his parents, Bill and Bess Leary, were patient and supportive of his musical ambitions no matter how long and loud their only son played.

"You get used to it after awhile. We didn't mind. There were all kinds of bands at our house," said Bess.

Bill, a former WWII Air Force bombardier who flew B-24 planes, said he thought the stairs to the basement were going to collapse when Brian's friends hauled his double-decker Hammond organ downstairs for practice. During Brian's growing up years, the Leary's basement transformed into a gathering place for roughly 10 bands spanning more than three decades of music making.

"You learn to read lips on the TV after awhile," said Bill. "We enjoyed those years."

Brian's first small rock band, Anvil, was formed in 1970 with a couple of friends he met at high school talent show who liked to cover popular tunes by the James Gang, Cream and Grand Funk. Drummers like Lars Ulrich of Metallica and Neil Pearte of Rush are the musicians he most admires today.

Drumming, however, isn't Leary's only forte. In his early 20s, he picked up the trumpet because he enjoyed the sound of it.

He wasn't the only one.

According to Leary, VFW Mundelein Post 7191 commander, Joe Trimble, heard that Brian played and asked him to consider per-

Above, Brian Leary practices his trumpet, which he plays for Mundelein VFW Post 7191 ceremonies, in the basement of his Mundelein home. forming at a Post picnic. Leary extended his musical talents further by volunteering to play Taps at the Post's Memorial Day services for the last three years.

"Brian is a very talented, sincere and considerate young man to volunteer his time and energy to play Taps for us at all our memorial services," Trimble said. "He once told me that playing Taps is his way to say thanks for all the veterans who served their country, and for those who did not come home."

A music maker and shaker

Audiences aren't the only ones infected with Leary's contagious playing power. Students at Buffalo Grove District 96 have also benefited from his experiences. Last year he led a seminar for jazz students and encouraged them to pursue their musical interests.

"I told them to never give up. Music brings joy to your life. If you grow with it and keep giving it a chance, you'll have it to fall back on," said Leary who works at a custodial-mechanics job when he's not playing his drums.

While Leary has been asked several times to teach music lessons, he said he'll stick to encouraging young people to fulfill their dreams.

"Eighty to 90 percent of playing comes from inside—on the moment, off the cuff. You have to be able to jump and adlib right away," he said.

One student told Leary that watching him play convinced him he wanted to continue to pursue the drums.

"Even though there's tragedy, we can find ways to carry on. You have to have a good attitude and try to be inspiring to others," said Leary who has received thank yous from students he interacted with 20 years ago.

Drumming, however, isn't the only talent Leary excels at. Last year he won a semi-professional bowling tournament and averages a 190 score.

Scottie Hicks, who owns a DJ business in Lake Zurich, became friends with Leary in the mid-80s when Leary auditioned for his band, Horizon. "He's a pleasure to be around and we used to let him do a 10-minute drum solo at every show and half the time the audience didn't know he only had one hand until he would hold up two sticks in one hand."

Both musicians also share an interest in railroad modeling—Hicks, an Santa Fe diehard, would come over and run his trains on Leary's Union Pacific layout.

"He knows no limits," Hicks said. "He took a two-handed world and turned it into a one-hand world."

Today, more than four decades since his accident, Leary's perseverance continues to amaze the people who know him best.

"You wouldn't even know he was disabled. He's accomplished so much," said Bess. "(He) taught me never to complain. You take what you have and go with it."

Bill said his son's willingness to work hard and uphold honesty is what impresses him most. "He went back down, pursued (the drums) and beat the odds."

'Recent Works' opens at CLC

The 22nd annual juried exhibition for Lake County artists will open Oct. 4 in the Robert T. Wright Community Gallery of Art at the College of Lake County. The exhibit will feature nearly 60 artworks selected from nearly 300 entries submitted by artists who live or work in Lake County. The exhibit will continue through Nov. 3.

A public reception will be held from 7-9 p.m. Oct. 4, which will include an awards presentation. Featured in the exhibit will be painting, sculpture, ceramics, photography, computer graphics and woodwork.

The exhibit is partially supported by a grant from the Illinois Arts Council, a state agency. The gallery is a project of the CLC Foundation. The exhibition hours are 9 a.m.-9 p.m. Monday through Thursday; 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday; and 1-5 p.m. Sunday. For information, call Steve Jones at 847-543-2240.

Susan Sarandon and Goldie Hawn in 'The Banger Sisters.'

Suzette (Goldie Hawn) and Lavinia (Susan Sarandon) have gone their decidedly separate ways since their groupie days of a few decades ago. It's more accurate to say that Vinnie, as she was known back then, has become Lavinia and changed her wild ways, with her marriage to a wealthy lawyer (Robin Thomas) in Phoenix. Suzette is still right where she was, flashing her silicone-enhanced breasts and Playboy-centerfold waist and thighs as she tends bar in LA. After getting fired for being an air head and guzzling rum and Coke while serving her customers, she looks through her memorabilia and decides to head for Phoenix to visit Vinnie and borrow some much-needed money.

Without enough cash to buy gas, Suzette strikes a deal at a service station with a guy fed up with riding the bus; Harry (Geoffrey Rush) buys the gas and she drives him to Phoenix. As Suzette approaches Lavinia's house, she watches as Lavinia's daughter Hannah (Erika Christensen) and her friends head off in a stretch limo on the way to their senior prom. Seeing that she does not fit into Vinnie's world, Suzette heads to Harry's hotel to hang out. Harry is a frustrated writer, who is either considering suicide or wants to kill his father with his pistol that has only one bullet.

Very conveniently, Hannah and Suzette meet in the hotel and she takes Hannah home and meets Vinnie. The two women slowly start to reconnect, and, before long, Lavinia has cut her hair and slipped into a tight-fitting outfit to replace her soccer mom clothes, which fit loosely and are in various shades of beige.

"The Banger Sisters" would be a great movie rather than just a good one if you could take it a little more seriously. The acting is outstanding.

Geoffrey Rush and Eva Amurri elevate this comedy—about a lot of serious issues—above Hollywood triteness, and that's not meant to take anything away from Sarandon, Hawn or Christensen. The message in the movie is that "Fake is losing track of yourself." The way to look at life is "Do it true." That might explain why superstar athletes never want to retire and talented musicians often die while still active performers, even though they started collecting the social security check many years ago. Heck, George Foreman says he wants to become the heavyweight champion at age 55. He might just be onto something that we all can learn.

Cinematic pizza

The 38th Chicago International Film Festival, from Oct. 4-18, invites film lovers to indulge their cinematic cravings with a sneak preview of the best in upcoming movies. Often the director and/or star of the film will be at the screening for a personal Q&A after the film. Making the drive into the city is well worth the trip. Discount parking is available at Landmark's Century Centre Cinema and The Music Box.

Opening the festival is "Evelyn," with Pierce Brosnan (a.k.a., James Bond). Based upon true events, Brosnan is a father in an inspiring story of a real-life hero and his three young children. He struggles to raise his kids alone in Ireland in 1953, even though he is devastated when his children are placed in orphanages. The effort he makes to reunite his family is spiritually uplifting.

Closing the festival is "Frida," Salma Hayek, Alfred Molina, big hit at Cannes. The John Sayles-type director for England, Leigh always offers intense and thought provoking social commentary. Oct. 9 and 10.

Blind Spot: Hitler's Secretary: After 50 years of silence, Traudl Junge looks us in the eye and candidly articulates the last days of Hitler's life. There is no WWII archival footage, simply Junge telling her story. Oct. 10 and 13.

Bowling for Columbine: Michael Moore of "Roger & Me" fame may have made the documentary that could win an Oscar as best picture. Oops, that will never happen! The folks at Cannes loved the picture and honored it with an extended standing ovation. Michael shares his views about guns in America in the same unabashed way he pontificates in his best-selling book "Stupid White Men." Oct. 5 and 7.

Brown Sugar: Magazine editor Sanaa Lathan ("Love & Basketball") in a romantic comedy with Taye Diggs ("How Stella Got Her Groove Back") which was the last time George heard women moan in the theater at the site of a man on screen, who's into the hip-hop scene. Also stars Mos Def and Queen Latifah. Oct. 5.

City of God: Drugs, guns and children mix to their logical, fatalistic conclusion on the outskirts of Rio de Janeiro. Not a documentary, though the story is a composite of real situations. Makes "Amores Perros" look like a walk in the park. Oct. 6 and 7.

"City of God"

These films have distributors and at some point will make it to a theater near you—or close enough. The true jewels are some of the excellent smaller films that, for one reason or another, live and die on the film festival circuit. To ensure you see what's at the top of your list, buy your tickets now at www.chicagofilmfestival.com or call 312-332-FILM. See you there!

"Frida"

Geoffrey Rush, Ashley Judd, Antonio Banderas and Edward Norton tell the story of Mexican painter Frida Kahlo. Frida (Hayek) faced many challenges, physically and psychologically, as the picture focuses on her difficult marriage to painter Diego Rivera, bisexuality, substance abuse and a crippling bus accident.

In between these two outstanding features are a host of films that speak to much of what is going on in the world while evoking a wide range of emotions. Some will make you laugh, whereas others will chill you to the bone. A few standouts follow. For a complete list check the web site address below.

All or Nothing: Mike Leigh ("Secrets & Lies") presents a working class couple in London trying to get their marriage back on track. A

'Process This!' updates classic Shrimp de Jonghe

Food processors have come a long way since their introduction and today are almost an indispensable kitchen tool. But how many know the secrets of using them effectively?

Jean Anderson, who was in the forefront in 1979 with her book on processor cooking, has a welcome new volume, "Process This!" (William Morrow, 2002), that is full of tips and 200 new recipes. Her detailed equivalents table tells exactly how many slices of bread will yield one cup of crumbs and how much broccoli you will need in order to get half a cup of puree.

Her recipes cut across a broad swath, from French carrot soup to cheddar scones and onion tart to frozen lemongrassmango mousse.

Shrimp de Jonghe, a Chicago classic, is a snap. Processing the herbs and bread can be done with dispatch. The only way we modified Anderson's recipe was the use of three garlic cloves instead of one.

Shrimp de Jonghe

Serves 6

1-1/2 pounds shelled and deveined raw medium shrimp
2 quarts boiling water
1 small yellow onion, peeled and quartered
1 small rib celery, halved (include leaves)
8 peppercorns
1 large bay leaf, preferably fresh
1 tsp. salt
1/2 cup (1 stick) unsalted butter, melted
1 large whole clove garlic, peeled and halved (we used three!)

3 Tbl. dry sherry or port
1/4 cup lightly packed curly parsley sprigs, washed and wrung dry in paper toweling
2 Tbl. fresh tarragon leaves, washed and wrung dry in paper toweling or 1 tea spoon dried leaf tarragon
4 slices firm-textured white bread, torn into small pieces
1 tsp. sweet paprika
1/8 tsp. ground hot red pepper (cayenne)

Preheat the oven to 375 degrees F. Lightly coat a shallow 6-cup casserole or au gratin dish with nonstick cooking spray and set aside.

Place the shrimp in a large heavy saucepan; add boiling water, onion, celery, peppercorns, bay leaf and salt. Set over moderate heat, return water to boiling, then adjust heat so that it bubbles gently. Cook the shrimp uncovered just until they turn pink, about 2 minutes. Drain at once, transfer the shrimp (and only the shrimp) to a large bowl, add 1/4 cup of the melted butter and the sherry and toss well.

Equip a food processor with the metal chopping blade, snap the motor on and drop the garlic down the feed tube. Scrape the work bowl, then pulse the garlic 2 to 3 times until finely minced.

Add the parsley and tarragon and pulse quickly 3 to 4 times until fairly finely chopped. Add the bread, paprika and cayenne, and with two 5-second chummings, reduce to moderately fine crumbs. Drizzle the remaining 1/4 cup butter on top and pulse quickly to combine.

Arrange half the shrimp in the prepared casserole, scatter half the crumb mixture evenly on top, then repeat with the remaining shrimp and crumb mixture.

Bake uncovered on the middle oven shelf until bubbly and tipped with brown, about 30 minutes. Serve at once.

LOCAL DIGEST

Peddler's Alley craft show Oct. 5

The ALL (Antioch, Lindenhurst, Lake Villa) Parents Network of Antioch Community High School (ACHS) will conduct its ninth annual Peddler's Alley craft show on Oct. 5 from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. at the high school.

New this year are "Angel Pound Cakes." Samples will be available at Peddler's Alley and orders taken to provide a special dessert for Thanksgiving and the holidays. O'Connell said arrangements could be made for either pick-up or local delivery.

Don't worry, these cakes don't replace the bake sale that is always held in conjunction with the craft show. Other continuing traditions include a raffle. The crafters donate one item each for the raffle prizes.

There is no admission charge for this event. The ALL Parent Network table will be located near the front door and crafters will show their wares in the commons and in the gym foyer.

Students benefit from pork chop dinner

It's no gamble that the annual pork chop barbecue and auction to be held by the Antioch Rotary Club on Oct. 5 will be a lively one with the theme of "Viva Las Vegas." This year's event will take place at Father Hanley hall in St. Peter School with dinner served from 5-7 p.m. and the auction beginning at 7 p.m. and running until all the goodies are spoken for.

Tickets are $20 per person and include dinner and a raffle ticket with a winning prize of a $500 travel certificate through Travel by Design out of the proceeds of the auction. Tickets are for sale at the State Bank of The Lakes, First National Bank-Employee Owned, Osmond Insurance, as well as from any Rotarian or at the door.

To donate an item, or for more information, call Iglehart at 847-395-2900.

St. Peter School is located on Lake Street just north of the intersection of routes 59 and 173.

Community Telecare looks after shut-ins

Community Telecare will call and give a daily check to those who live alone or are shut-in. The service is free and is provided by volunteers.

For those who would like this service, or know someone else who would call either 847-395-2240 or 847-395-0897.

CPR classes held

The Antioch Rescue Squad and the Antioch Fire Dept. offer CPR classes to the public on the second and fourth Wednesday of each month at 6 p.m. at the Antioch Fire Dept. located at 835 Holbek Dr.

The fee of $5-$15 per person (depending on the class needed) is payable at the time of the class. For more information or to make reservations, call the Antioch Fire Dept. at 847-395-5511.

St. Peter's supports singles

St. Peter Church has a support group, St. Peter's Singles, that supports the emotional needs of those separated, divorced or widowed. The group meets on the second Monday of the month in the church basement.

All ages and denominations are welcome to attend the meetings.

Enter the church on the east side, back entrance. For more information, call either Deacon Bob Gagnon at 847-395-3024 (e-mail at deacongag@yahoo.com) or Patti Vavrina at 847-740-0417 (e-mail dioviacon@aol.com).

Take pounds off

TOPS (take pounds off sensibly) meets every Wednesday at the Antioch Senior Center. Weigh-ins begin at 6:30 p.m., and the meetings begin at 7 p.m. For more information call 847-395-6443 or 847-395-8143.

The Antioch Senior Center is located at 817 Holbek Dr., behind the fire station.

nances five to one, with Trustee Barbara Porch voting no.

The MOU outlined commitments that must be fulfilled by all parties within 90 days to settle all of the current litigation. Failure to do so would have allowed the trial that was to have begun on June 24 to resume.

The Village of Antioch had the bulk of the conditions to be met, and held numerous special meetings and public hearing to complete its requirements.

When Jim Hermann, of Hermann and Hermann, the attorney handling the Deercrest litigation for the village, introduced the memorandum he said that all parties had to compromise to come up with this agreement, and that no party was getting exactly what it wanted. He noted that the approval of this agreement doesn't mean that it's a forgone conclusion that the Neumann Homes proposal will be approved.

Over the past 90 days, many residents expressed frustration over how quickly all the matters at hand were pushed through the process. Previously John Horan said, "This whole thing is a sham. We're giving them (Neumann Homes) carte blanche."

LAST CALL

John Phelps

Antioch youth football coach Denny Porter will shoot for his 500th career youth football victory Oct. 6.—File photo

One, oh one

No, he's not angry or helpless. Fact is, life and coaching have been pretty good to Denny Porter.

The proof is in the numbers. That list is quite long for the Antioch lightweight youth football coach. Porter currently holds the youth football coaching record for victories, according to the National Youth Football Coaches Association. The next magic number he has his sights set on is 500. That's 500 victories in the youth football ranks, a stint that started back in 1968 when Porter was coaching Palatine.

Porter, who has also served a number of years as a youth basketball coach, stayed in Palatine until 1971 before starting the youth football program in Buffalo Grove. He coached the Bills for the ensuing 22 years before heading north to Antioch.

When he started in Antioch, Porter was the assistant coach for the lightweight team, where he's been ever since. After a year as the assistant, he took over the head coaching job.

Porter will try for his 500th win when his 1-2 lightweight team travels to face the Wauconda Jr. Bulldogs Oct. 6 at 1 p.m. at Wauconda High School. Porter got his 499th victory when his team upset Lake Zurich last weekend.

What else is left for Porter, assuming he gets the magical win against Wauconda?

"I'll coach until I'm unable to serve again," he said. "It's an outlet for me. I love doing it and just want to keep providing the best youth program possible. You're never too old to learn."

As far as keys to his success, Porter said he goes to plenty of high school and collegiate games during the course of the season.

"I always like to pick up a new idea I can apply to my team, anywhere from a warm-up routine to a new play," he said. "I've also been very fortunate to have had some excellent assistant coaches helping me."

Porter broke the national record for wins in 1995, his second year with the Antioch lightweight. The old record of 434 victories had been previously held by the late Greg Foreman, a coach for Pop Warner's seventh- and eighth-grade Jr. Midget Chiefs youth football squad.

Gehrke, Sequoits hope to finish strong

By JOHN PHELPS
SPORTS EDITOR

The Antioch football players glanced over as Lake Forest players raised their helmets in victory.

And even though the Sequoits just dropped a 28-14 decision to the Scouts, something says this team isn't about to fold.

Senior linebacker Scott Gehrke is one of those guys who will make sure of it.

Gehrke has been through three difficult seasons while playing varsity ball.

It's always fun when you're winning. But with the team standing at 1-4 with four games left, teammates and coaches look to Gehrke look to their co-captain even more.

"He's a pretty tough kid," said Sequoit Head Coach Del Pechauer. "He's had a bum shoulder for the last weeks. He had to miss a couple of practices. The other guys were wondering whom do we follow? He's definitely the heart and soul. Plus, he's a leader and can play anywhere on the field."

Gehrke has seen some time on offense in the backfield. But his favorite role is hitting people and having a nose for the football, just like he had when forcing a third-quarter Lake Forest fumble.

"It's all instincts and being able to read the defense. Sometimes it's a simple thing like just having a hunch of where the play is going," said Gehrke, who also had a handful of solo tackles to go along with several assists in the game. "We're a good enough team that I think we'll come together before this is all said and done."

Plus, isn't football supposed to be fun? "Not as much when you're losing," said Gehrke. "It's my job to keep us together, to tell the guys to never quit."

Besides his prowess on the field, Pechauer was quick to point out that his starting linebacker is also one of the teams hardest hitters.

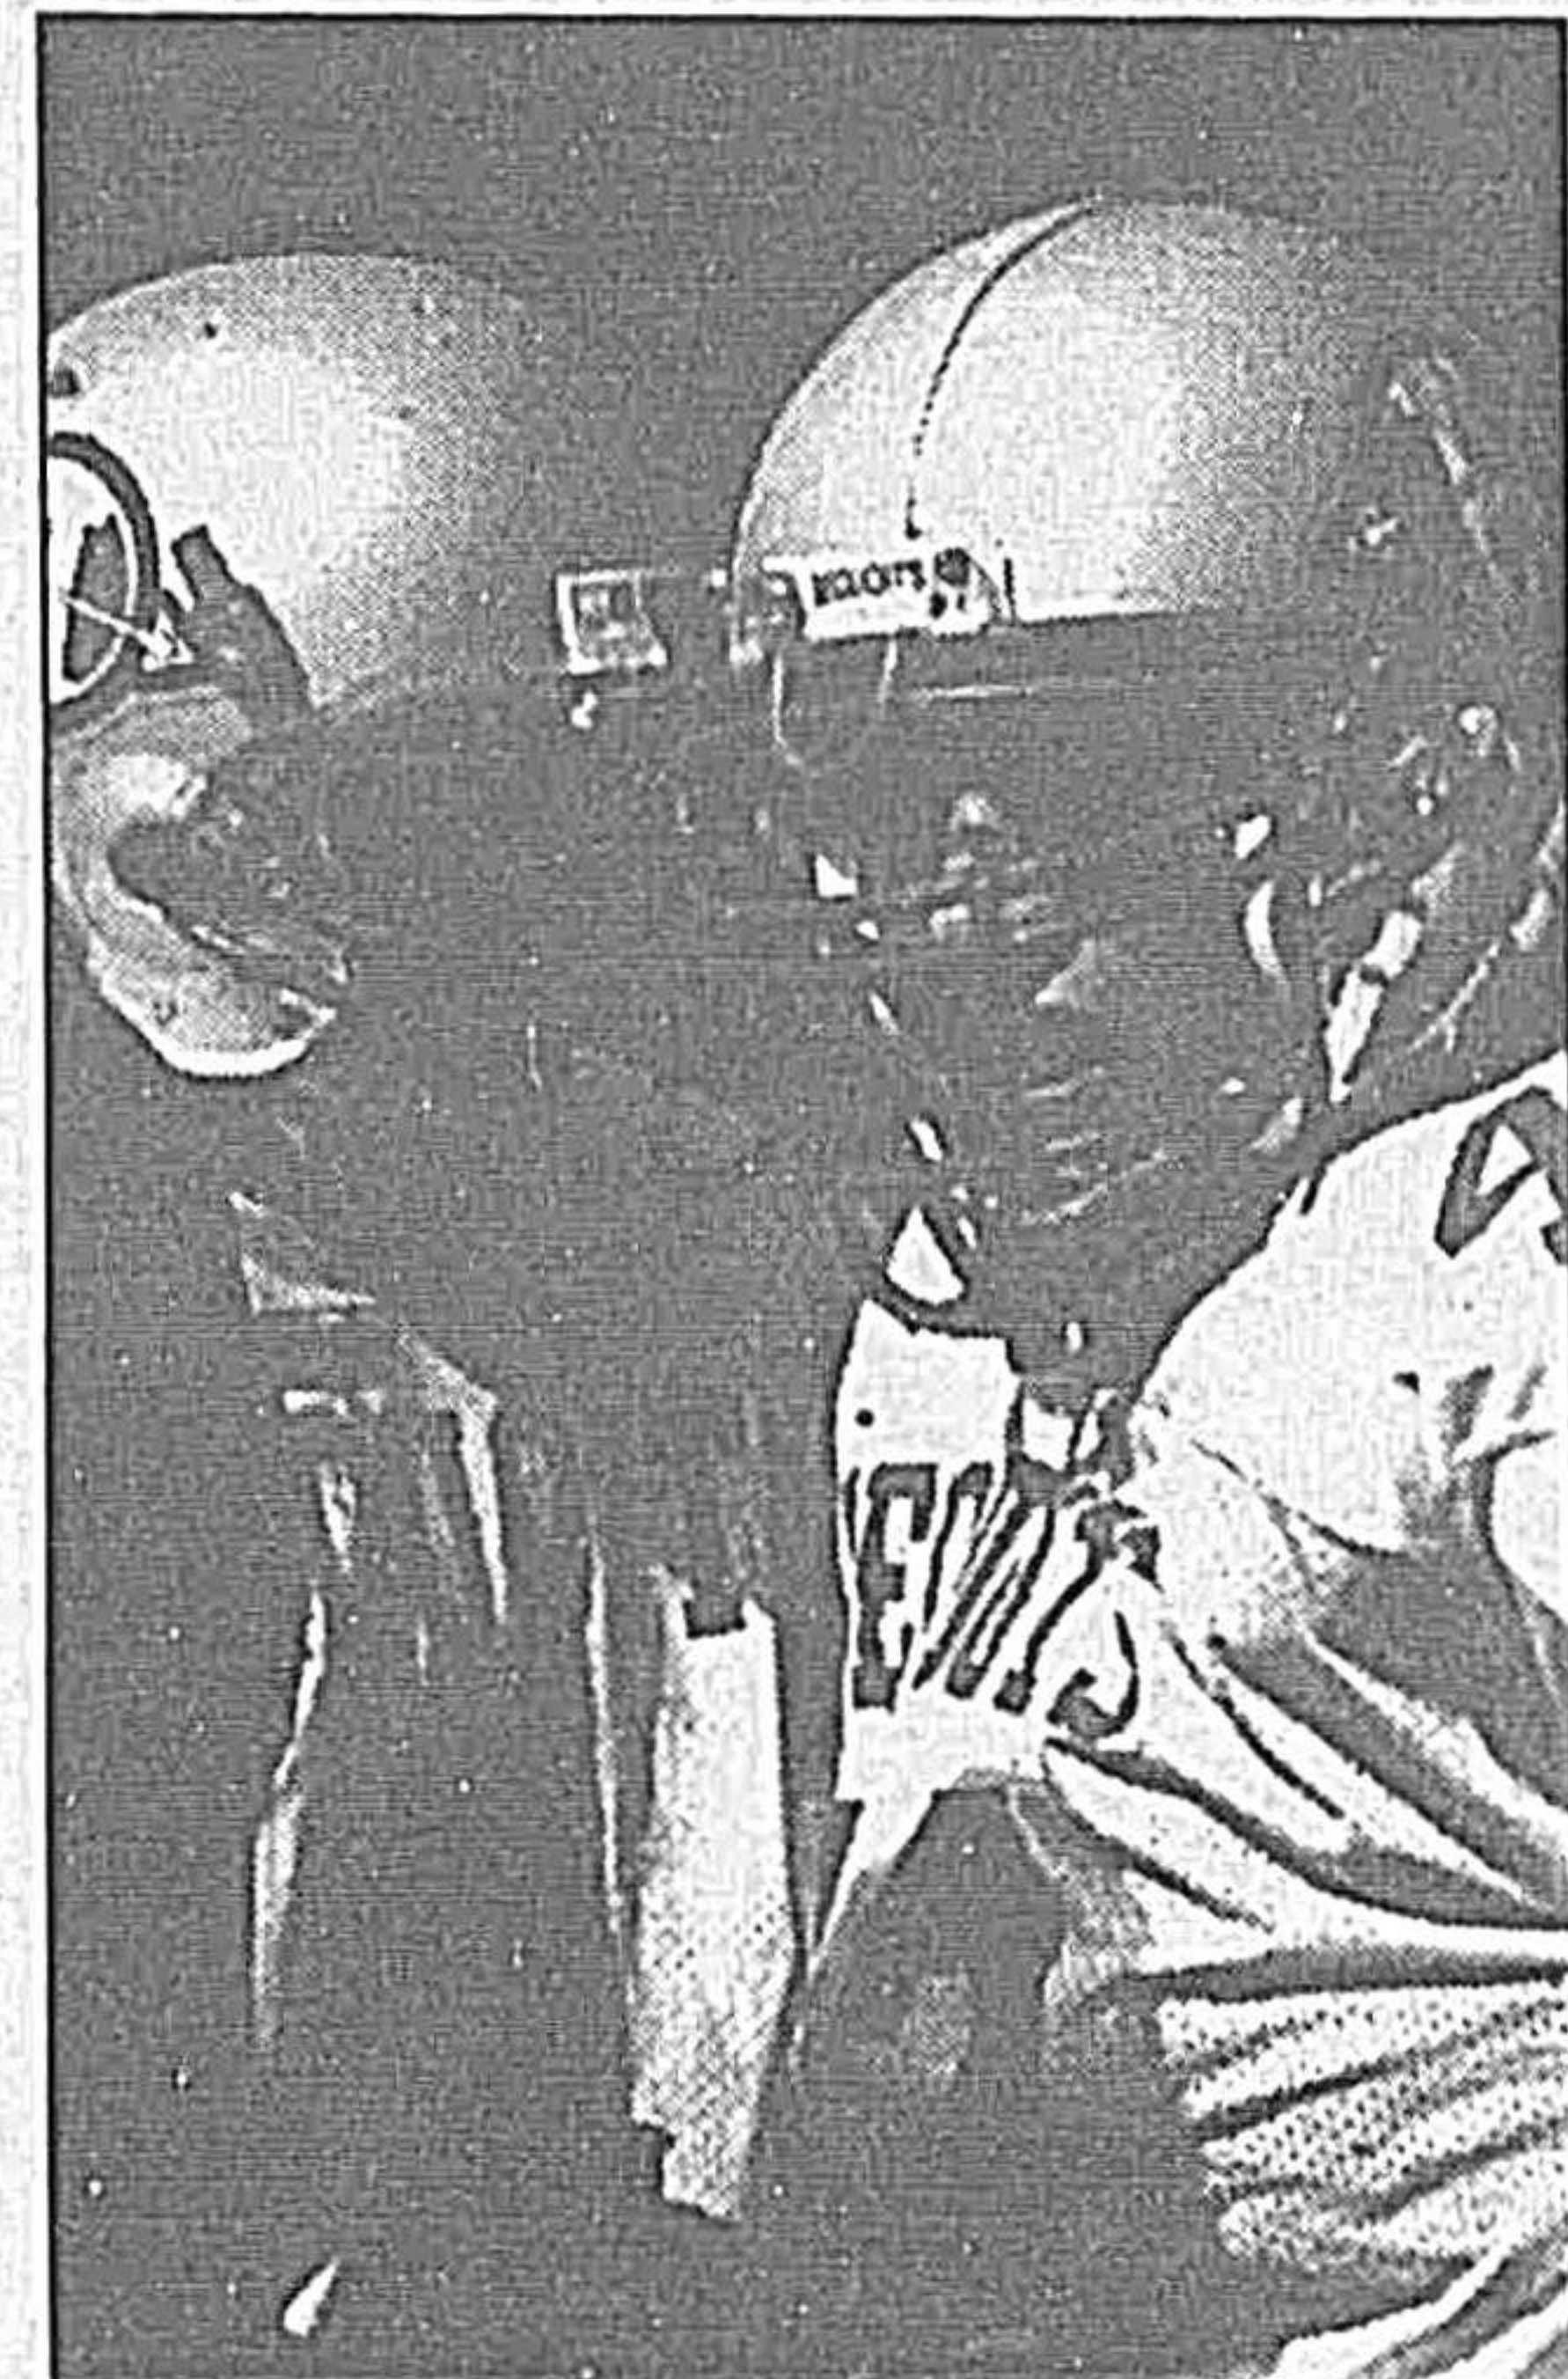

"No matter where we are in a game, he always gives it his all," the coach said. "Our defense has been playing well but they've been out on the field too long sometimes and you're going to get a little tired."

Gehrke and the Sequoits are eager to get back on the winning side.

Tough next assignment, though, when it travels to unbeaten Warren Oct. 5 for a 1 p.m. date with the Devils.

"Just give it your best and you can never be too dissatisfied," said Gehrke.

All teams should have a leader like Gehrke, one who can encourage you regardless of the won-loss record.

Despite an auspicious 1-4 start, Antioch's Scott Gehrke has remained the heart and soul of the Sequoit defense.—Photo by Steve Young

Sequoit runners look to make statement at own invite

By JOE PRUSKI
Correspondent

The cross-country programs at Antioch High School could not be heading more in the opposite direction this season.

While the girl's squad has begun to slow down with many nagging injuries, the boy's team has begun to peak. The fourth, fifth, and sixth runners have started to emerge.

The boy's team has accumulated a record of 9-1 in dual meets, with their only loss coming to Stevenson in only the third race of the season.

"As a whole we're starting to get back to the level we need to be at; we're not as strong as we were last year at this point, but we're starting to come back to that level," said Head Coach Dave Judson.

Antioch won the Leyden Invitational last weekend, beating out Willowbrook for the top spot for the event.

Antioch runner Jim Beatty finished first while Andy Nappier came in second and Mike Addison finished fifth. Chip Leffmann and David Dee also finished in the top-15 for the Sequoits.

According to Judson, Addison has come a long way since last year to help contribute to the team due to extensive training over the summer.

"I think the rest of the team I starting to realize that all the running over the summer can really help. Addison put in lots of miles over the summer, and where he was our seventh or eight runner last year, he's third this year," said Judson.

Juniors Beatty and Nappier have led the team this year, finishing first and second in nearly all the meets thus far.

"They're out there encouraging other runners to become better through the way that they go about doing things for themselves," said Judson. "I can't remember a race where Jim and Andy weren't waiting at the chute after the race to congratulate their teammates and congratulate the runners from other teams."

Antioch defeated Mundelein and Lake Forest in dual meet action earlier in the week.

Next on the agenda is the 18-team Antioch Invitational on Oct. 5. Last year Antioch finished second to Hersey, who will again participate this year.

According to Judson, although the race is important, it's also important not to overdue it with the team's final conference match coming Monday against Libertyville.

"Saturday is a stepping stone, if they run well that will be great, but I also want them to come in Monday and be ready for Libertyville," said Judson. "Monday is our big focus."

As for the girl's team, they currently have a 3-6 record in dual meets and lost to both teams on Monday.

The team also participated in the Leyden Invitational, where they finished fifth, and while team's leading runner Amanda Hammond, finished third.

Hammond along with Amanda Hetzer are the teams co-captains, however Hetzer has remained sidelined lately with an injury.

"We've got a lot of young girls, and a lot of injuries, and I really don't know why," said girl's head coach Dick Harland. "We have shin splints, stress fractures, and other injuries, it's just one of those years when everything goes wrong."

Pats on minds of Sequoit spikers

By JOE PRUSKI
Correspondent

Antioch High School girl's volleyball Head Coach Bob Schenk will face his former team Oct. 4 when Antioch travels to Stevenson in a conference match tipping off at 6 p.m.

Earlier this season, the Sequoits defeated the Patriots at the Stevenson Invitational.

"When I came back to Stevenson earlier this season the kids were real excited and it was very emotional being there and walking in the door with a lot of memories," said Schenk.

"Beating them then was really a great win for the program here, it shows we have a lot of potential to play at a higher level."

Antioch is currently sitting on a 13-9 record, just one win away from tying last year's win total. Meanwhile, the Patriots sport a 14-3 mark.

"If we play well it should be a very entertaining match. Right now they have three Div. 1 players on their team," said Schenk.

Goals going into the season were to beat some established teams, beat last year's record, and make other teams know who Antioch is, according to Schenk.

Having beaten both Stevenson and Lake

Forest this year and needing only one win in the next eight games to tie last year's mark, the team has accomplished much of what they've set out to do already.

"What I'm looking for now is consistency," said Schenk. "We have no easy games from now until the end of the season, we also have a lot of little nagging injuries from playing nine matches in seven days."

Antioch was defeated by Richmond-Burton in three sets Monday night.

"It was a very entertaining match, I had people coming up to me and telling me that it was one of the best matches they have ever seen, and I've never really had that before," said Schenk. "They just had too many hitters though, they have a lot of athletes."

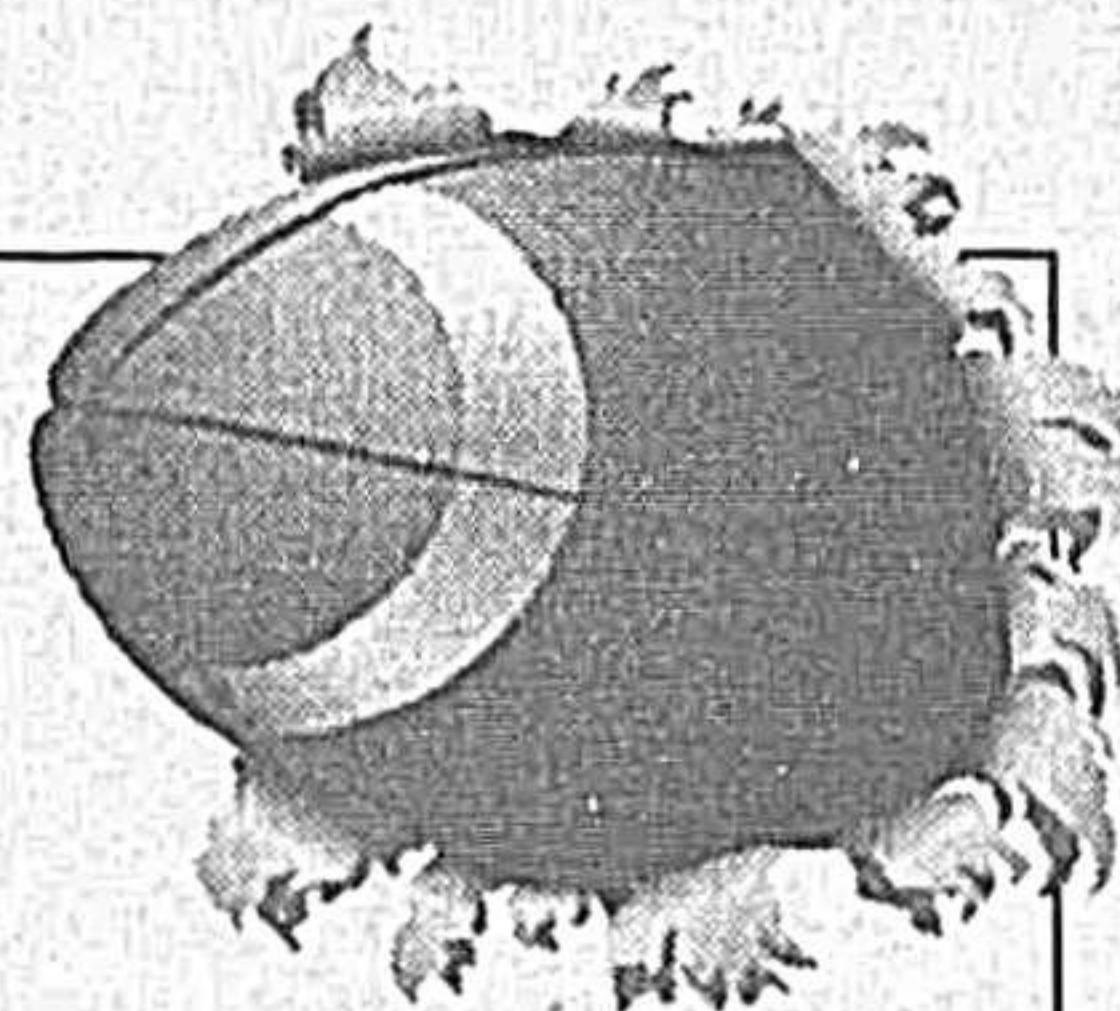

Lindsey Gruber finished with 18 kills for Antioch with the next highest total on the team three. Ashley Whistle had 19 assists.

Last weekend Antioch competed in the Warren Invitational, where they finished in fifth place.

They played both Tremper and Carmel, who were in their bracket, and lost to both. Both teams eventually played for the overall tournament championship, with Carmel winning.

Regionals next for Sequoit golfers

With regionals coming up Oct. 8 at Sheperd's Crook CG in Zion, there's no better tune-up than to compete against the strongest teams in the county.

That was the case at the Lake Forest Invitational over the weekend. The Sequoit varsity boys golf team turned in a respectable four-man score of 312, good for fifth place in the 16-team event. North Suburban rival Libertyville won the event with a 294 in a field that included past state champs such as Lake Forest, Loyola and New Trier.

Leading the way for Antioch was junior Joe Kinney, who thinks the team is in good position for a shot at qualifying for the sectionals next week.

"I think I've cured some of the mental mistakes," said Kinney, who fired a 2-over-par 74, good for a 10th-place medal. Kinney's round, which included two birdies, featured an even-par 36 on the front and a 2-over-par 38 on the back.

"I didn't finish too strong though. As a team, we just have to play our game and just let it happen. We can shoot low if we forget about the bad holes and keep our focus."

Antioch Head Coach Jeff Moxley would like nothing more than to get his guys through to sectionals, which would require a top-4 finish at Sheperd's Crook.

"You can always do better," the coach said. "We're playing well but man, there's some good teams that were here today. Most of them will be at our regional."

Andrew Curto and John Snelton carded formidable 78s. Both can do better.

"I played fair but not as good I'm capable," said Curto. "I'm hoping we peak and save our best for last."

Moxley agreed.

"We've had a really nice season," he said. "If we play our game and make a good showing (at regionals), everything else will fall into place."

Marc Woltzen posted an 82 to round out the Sequoit scoring. Also competing for Antioch but not playing what they're capable of included Doug Brasky with an 85 and Greg Lynn with an 86.

Meanwhile, Antioch's second varsity team got some good experience in shooting a 350 at the Grayslake Rams Invitational. Quinn Haley carded an 85, Ryan Brown an 87, and Jarrett Cable and Brian Clutter 89s. Grayslake finished the eight-team event with a four-man score of 318.

SPORTS DIGEST

Youth beat

Results Soccer

The Lindenhurst U12 Tornado boys soccer team of the Lindenhurst Area Soccer Club scored a 2-1 victory over the Northbrook Spartans.

Kyle Sytsma and Drew Jones scored the goals while Breck Hughes dished out one assist. Matt Beadle and Josh Larson shared time in goal. Hughes stopped four shots while Larson stopped two.

Later in the week, the Tornadoes earned a 1-1 tie with the Chicago Attack.

Jones scored the lone goal off of an assist from Hughes. Larson stopped four shots in goal while Beadle stopped two.

Tryouts

Baseball

Any 11 or 12-year-old boys interested in joining an independent 'tournament only' baseball team that will run before and in-between Antioch Youth Baseball should call Eric Nordby at 847-838-6224. By joining the 'Rebels', youths will have a chance to play in both in-house baseball as well as on the tournament team. If you are looking for more competition but still want to participate in an in-house program, the Rebels are calling your name. Limited spots are available so hurry! This team is open to all youths 11- and 12-years-old throughout the county. The Rebels' schedule for the 2003 season will include tournaments in both Wisconsin and Illinois. There is also the possibility of a sleeper tournament over Memorial Day weekend.

Please call Coach Nordby for try out times or further information.

Note: This team is not affiliated with Antioch Youth Baseball.

Tournaments

The College of Lake County baseball team is sponsoring two youth basketball tournaments: an eighth-grade tournament Dec. 20-21 and two seventh-grade tournament Jan. 4-5 and 18-19. Interested schools should contact Athletic Director Gene Hanson immediately at 847-543-2046.

Clinics

An ASEP (American Sport Education Program) Coaches Clinic will be held at the Quality Suites in Rockford on Oct. 20. Another ASEP Coaches Clinic is slated for Nov. 3 at the Holiday Inn Express in Arlington Heights.

ASEP Clinics are for anyone interested in becoming certified to coach middle or high school athletics.

To register or for further information on these or future clinics, please call Jeff Kyle at 217-586-4799.

Warren Township High School boys' basketball will be conducting a basketball pre-season clinic for players in grades 2-8. The clinic will be held on Sat., Oct. 5 and Sun., Oct. 6 from 1-2:30 p.m. at the Almond Campus gymnasium. Registration forms are available at the reception desk at both O'plaine and Almond Rd. campuses. The fee for the clinic is $20 for one or both days. Players may register at the clinic or by way of e-mail. Any questions, please call Warren varsity boys head basketball coach Chuck Ramsey at 847-599-4742.

Clubs

Hooked on Hoops, a youth basketball club, will hold its fall Wednesday sessions on Oct. 9, 16, 23 and 30 from 7-8:30 p.m. at Fremont Middle School, Fremont Center Rd., west of Mundelein. Boys and girls of all ages are welcome to attend.

The emphasis of this camp is skills development.

The fee for this session is $55. Sign-ups will be the first day of camp. Players should bring their own basketball.

For further information, please call 847-970-9300.

T'Wolves improve to 3-1

The Lake Villa Timberwolves started out the year by defeating Mundelein 36-6 on the strong running of Ted Bariamis and Andrew Highland. Bariamis dashed for over 100 yards and three touchdowns while Highland also cracked the century mark. T.J. Siwy hooked up with Nick Waudo for a 40-yard scoring strike. On defense, Danny Riedel picked off a pass and returned it 70 yard for the final score. Michael Knapmiller kicked three two-point conversions in the game.

In its second game of the season, Lake Villa suffered a 32-6 defeat to North Chicago. Bariamis rumbled for over 100 yards in the losing effort. The only Wolves score came when Siwy hooked up with James Menheer on a 40-yard scoring strike.

Lake Villa quickly got back on the winning track by defeating Fox Lake 48-7. Again, Bariamis and Highland led the way with strong efforts in the offensive backfield. Both raced for over 100 yards again, with Highland scoring four touchdowns and Bariamis two.

Siwy punched in the final tally on a quarterback sneak from the 8-yard line. Knapmiller converted on three two-point conversions to solidify the victory.

The Wolves made it two in a row with a 56-13 drubbing over Fox Lake.

Highland, Bariamis and Riedel all gained over 100 yards. Siwy was also instrumental in orchestrating the offense with his efficient passing. Highland finished with 150 yards and scored four touchdowns. Bariamis and Riedel each added 100 yards on the ground while scoring one touchdown apiece. When not scoring on the ground, the Wolves went to the air with Siwy hooking up with Menheer on scoring strikes of 50 and 20 yards.

The offensive line of Billy Battistone, Chris Kaishian, Kevin Grant, Michael Soto, Brad Meltzer, Knapmiller and Jonathan Newton opened the holes and provided excellent blocking for Siwy and the rushing attack.

Meanwhile, the defensive line of Battistone, Grant, Dominic Funari, Nick Phillips, Caleb Garascia, Alex Engel, coupled with the linebacking core of Riedel, Bariamis, Menheer and Juan Pickett have been solid on defense. Eric Halek, Tony Upchurch, Jake Jarrell and Waudo have been instrumental in the secondary.

The T'Wolves will next host McHenry in its Homecoming game Oct. 6.

Stars, Predators post wins

The United Stars U9 boys' soccer team came away with a hard-fought 1-0 victory over Winnetka Trevian. Trevian played a solid game in utilizing short passes to keep the Stars off balance for the first half. Meanwhile, the Stars were able to keep it scoreless because of a swarming defense and outstanding goalkeeping by Johnny O'Connor and Paul Nogle.

The winning goal was scored by Collin Ciamarra on a breakaway at the 35-minute mark. The Stars withstood a final onslaught from Trevian and sealed their fourth victory in as many games.

Other action Predator U11s

The Lindenhurst Predators U11 boys soccer team posted a 1-1-1 mark in three games last week.

First, the Predators defeated the Atlas Cicero 5-2. In the first half, the Predators only goal was delivered by John Androus. The Predators dominated the second half with Robert Nogle twice while Zachary Augustin and Taylor Westrate added one goal apiece. Assists were dished out by Donny Bauer, William Lebavitz, Nogle, and Andre Sippy. Keeper Danny Hourihan was credited with 3 saves.

The Predators then tied the Hoffman United Galaxy 2-2. Androus and Augustin scored the goals while assists went to Bauer and Nogle. Keeper Hourihan stopped 12 shots in the contest.

Then, despite playing a tough game, the Predators fell to Downers Grove in the Illinois Youth Soccer Fall State Cup held in Rockford. The Predators only goal of the game was scored by Androus off of an assist from William Lebavitz. Hourihan was busy in goal, stopping 12 Downers Grove shots.

Other standouts during last week's action included Joey Anthony, Georg Katres, Jack McCollum, Mitchell Post, Bradley Schmidt, Garrett Siu and Christopher Thayer.

On Fire at Chevy Cup

The Lindenhurst Fire U10 girls soccer team claimed the title at the Chevy Cup Round-Robin Divisional tournament held in Rockford.

The Fire burned the Warren United Blazers 3-0 behind the goal scoring of Sara Dreyer, Jessica Liszka and Emma Howard. Lindenhurst then posted a 2-1 victory over the Rockford Dactyls. Jessica Ring and Liszka scored the goals for the Fire. In the championship, the Fire won a hard-fought 2-1 victory over the Wauconda Purple team. Ring and Ashley Neubeck scored the goals for the Fire.

The Fire goalkeeping was tremendous throughout the tournament. Lena Mittsuuchi, Cassie Breneisen and Eleni Kaitson all shared time in goal.

Other standouts for Lindenhurst included Becky Hill, Ann Marie Brugioni, Kate Arends and Marci Grant.

In regular-season action, the Fire shutting out the Rockford Lions 1-0. The win avenged an early-season loss. The ultimate game-winning goal was scored by Ring. A stingy and solid defense was led by Arends, Liszka, Neubeck, Kaitson and Mittsuuchi.

Lindenhurst then battled the Mundelein Magic to a 0-0 deadlock. The defense was stellar and the Fire controlled possession of the ball throughout the game.

SCHOOL DIGEST

X AUGS teachers lifelong learners

Antioch Upper Grade School 6th grade Social Studies teacher David Krueger completed the Teacher Preparation Program at Yale University. The focus of Mr. Krueger's study was on teaching about the cultures of East Asia and using technology to prepare student discovery.

In related news, AUGS teacher Christopher Bryant also studied at Yale University in New Haven, CT during the Summer of 2002, and is instructing on-line night classes about Asian Studies for this prestigious university. Antioch Upper Grade School is very proud of teachers modeling our philosophy of being lifelong learners.

X Career Shadowing Day scheduled

The Antioch Rotary Club is sponsoring Career Shadowing Day in cooperation with business, education and government leaders as it has for the past several years.

On Nov. 12, juniors and seniors from Antioch Community High School will be invited to participate in the program.

Questions can be answered by John Hunt, vocational service director for the Antioch Rotary Club at 847-838-8401, or Phyllis Fay, assistant principal ACHS at 847-395-1421, ext. 7176.

1983 Classmates sought

Antioch Community High School class of 1983 is looking for classmates to organize and gather for the 20th class reunion.

A small committee is trying to get the word out by word-of-mouth and would appreciate any help it can get. Log on to www.classmates.com.

The reunion is scheduled for Aug. 9, 2003 at the Concorde Banquets in Kildeer, Ill.

Afterschool club moves

For the fall of 2002, Afterschool Club (ASC) will operate its kindergarten through sixth grade childcare program in the Lindenhurst Park Dist. Community Center.

Service will be provided to students in Antioch, Millburn and Lindenhurst. If the need exists, busing services may be provided to students in nearby schools.

For more information call 847-548-2445 or visit www.afterschoolclub.com.

Regional board to consider petition

At the regular meeting of the Lake County Regional Board of School Trustees, on Monday, Oct. 7, at 7 p.m. in Room C-003 at the College of Lake County, a petition will be considered. The petition asks for certain territory to be detached from Round Lake Unit School District 116 and annexed to Lake Villa C.C. School district 41 and Grayslake High School District 127.

Dist. 41 Special Ed preschool screening

Screening for special education programs for Lake Villa C.C. District 41 preschoolers will be held on Oct. 8, in the morning, by appointment only, at Thompson School. For more information or to make an appointment, call Sue Payne at the district office at 245-8004.

Upcoming book fairs

Hooper elementary School's book fair will be held on Oct. 9-10, from 5-8:30 p.m.

Thompson School's Scholastic Book Fair will be held on Oct. 22-24, from 5-8:30 p.m.

Martin dedication date

The date of the dedication ceremony for Olive C. Martin School has been changed from Oct. 1 to Oct. 17, at 7 p.m.

Second entrée lunch option

Lake Villa C.C. elementary schools now offer a "second entrée" option. Children can purchase a second entrée ticket for $1.25 on the morning they want a double entrée at lunch. This ticket would, for example, allow a student to buy two hot dogs at lunch instead of just the one covered by the regular lunch ticket.

For more information, call your local school office.

AMPS holds fund-raiser

AMPS (Parents AMplifying the Fine Arts at Antioch Community High School) will be holding its annual fall fund-raiser "Mr. Z's" from Oct. 3-15. This year the group will be again selling pizzas, pies, garlic bread, and other food items as well as a variety of gift items and wrap. The pick-up date is Nov. 16. All proceeds are used to help students in the art, band, choir and drama classes.

For more information, to place an order or request a brochure, please contact Bob Fletcher at 847-838-6460.

Thompson goal: dictionaries for all

Thompson Elementary School is asking local businesses to partner with the PTO in its goal of providing every student with a dictionary.

Each paperback dictionary costs $3.99. The school is asking for sponsorship at four levels: sponsoring the entire school (600 dictionaries), sponsoring a grade level (100 dictionaries), sponsoring a classroom (about 26 dictionaries) or sponsoring one or more individual students.

For more information on this program, call Michele Hawksworth at 847-265-9910.

New Generations Child Development Center

Registration is open for New Generations Childhood Development Center, located at 2425 Harbor Ridge Way in Lindenhurst. The center offers full and part-time day care for children 6 weeks-12 years of age. Coverage is available from 6 a.m.-6 p.m.

Bus service is available to and from Millburn, Oakland and Hillcrest Schools.

An accelerated pre-school program for children who missed the kindergarten cut-off date includes "Hooked on Phonics" instruction under the guidance of a certified elementary education teacher.

Electives include computers and gymnastics.

Hot lunches and snacks are included.

For more information, call 847-265-0101.

Westlake Students leap into math

As part of a math lesson on measuring, sixth grade students from Westlake Christian Academy held a frog-jumping contest. Students learned how to make origami frogs, modified them and held a jumping contest during which they would measure and confirm each other's longest distances. The students also learned that smaller frogs jump farther.

WCA High School students retreat

The high school students from Westlake Christian Academy in Grayslake spent time at Lake Lawn resort earlier this month. The trip was a time for students to relax and learn more about each other and themselves. The retreat was considered a success. Taking the job as speaker was new school chaplain Darren Carlson. Mr. Carlson challenged the high school students to know God for His sake, on His terms.

AT A GLANCE

School boundaries may be redrawn

Round Lake—Two families are petitioning the Lake County Regional Board of School Trustees for permission to detach from Round Lake Dist. 116 and annex into Lake Villa grade school Dist. 41 and Grayslake High School Dist. 127. The regional board will hear the requests at a meeting on Oct. 7 at the College of Lake County at 7 p.m.

Local boy appears on Jeopardy

Lake Villa—Mike Scott, 11, a sixth-grader at Martin Elementary School, won $18,000 on the ABC-TV show "Kids' Jeopardy." He was one of 12 out of 80 contestants chosen in auditions held in Chicago earlier this year.

Wal-Mart jumps first hurdle

Antioch—Wal-Mart has jumped its first hurdle and is one step closer to becoming a reality in Antioch as the combined planning and zoning board voted to approve a positive recommendation. To have the proposal fit within the newly amended language of the Comprehensive Plan that would allow for business along Route 173 of up to 30 acres, Great Lakes Principals (the developer) orally modified its request.

Cause of firefighter's death investigated

Wauconda—An aspiring 20-year-old Wauconda fireman-in-training, Ken Willand, of 113 S. Main St., was found dead near his apartment in downtown Wauconda last week. Willand is a 2000 graduate of Wauconda High School. He joined the recruit class, completing basic training in September, 2001. He was studying for his EMT certification at St. Therese Medical Center. The county coroner said it has ruled out homicide, but declined further comment, citing a Wauconda Police Department investigation. Autopsy results will not be known for a couple of weeks with an inquest to follow, she said.

Like oil and water, residents who live near the ComEd site at 2800 Northwestern Ave., in Waukegan, say a proposed auto recycling facility doesn't mix with the area.

Auto Parts City, now at 3570 Grand Ave. in Gurnee has outgrown its 8-acre, outdated site and wants to relocate a 16-acre property in Waukegan.

"There's a front office building that we will lease to another business. There is already a 15,000 square foot building on the site we could use for our dismantling and fluid draining operations," said Larry

Del Re, Fagan trade shots over breakfast

By JEFF ZACHARY
Staff Reporter

The Lake County Power Breakfast at Midlane Golf Resort lived up to its name as Sheriff Gary Del Re and his Democratic opponent Chuck Fagan verbally wrestled over who should be the most powerful lawman around.

When asked about priorities, Del Re said, "We live in very challenging times, certainly homeland security is a top priority. Second, I would like to suggest that child safety is a key issue. The availability of drugs continues to concern me a great deal and the proliferation of gangs is a concern. We have to do all that we can to dismantle gang activity. And lastly the avail-

AT A GLANCE

Carmel gets 3rd Blue Ribbon award

Mundelein—Carmel High School has done it again. For the third time, Carmel has been selected by the U.S. Department of Education as a Blue Ribbon School. Only one tenth of 1 percent of schools have been selected three times. Carmel is the only Catholic high school in Illinois to receive the Blue Ribbon Award this year.

School budget ok'd, but two more resign

Round Lake—For the third year in a row School District 116 will have a balanced budget. A new state financial authority panel, which took over the district's finances in August, approved a $48.3 million budget that was already approved by the school board. Deanna Ruiz and Gordon Rogers have become the fourth and fifth District 116 school board members to resign this year.

Police nip dog fighting operation

Wadsworth—An animal control officer and a Lake County Sheriff's officer, responding to a call about a dog running loose along Route 41, unexpectedly discovered what is believed to be a training facility for fighting dogs. The alleged training facility is located in unincorporated Wadsworth, on the 16700 block of Wadsworth Road. An outdoor arena was located at the site that may have been used for dogfights. Arthur Mitsias, 59 and Jason Mitsias, 27, are free on bail after being charged with two counts of cruel treatment to animals. The charges are misdemeanors and punishable by up to one year in jail and a $2,500 fine.

Students, parents speak out

Grayslake—Several dozen students and a large number of parents filled the student cafeteria to make their views heard to the high school board. While parents urged community members to look to the future and support the upcoming education fund referendum, the students made their plea to save extra and co-curricular activities.

Bean has posted several position papers on her site focusing on restoring public confidence in the stock market, protecting small investors, and developing a homeland security plan.

Republicans

Cohn coming

Kris Cohn, Secretary of State candidate, will be at Lambs Farm in Libertyville for a buffet dinner on Oct. 10, from 5:30-8:30 p.m. Cohn will be joined by planned keynote speaker U.S. Rep. Mark Kirk (R-Fort Sheridan) and other local candidates and officials. The $20 per person event ($6 kids) is sponsored by the Libertyville Twp. Republican Club. Call 847-336-2990 for more information.

County Republicans unite

Antioch, Grant, and Lake Villa townships joined forces for a Unity Meeting kicking off the fall campaign.

Committeemen from these townships gathered at the new Grant Twp. hall to come together in a unified effort to support local, county and statewide republican candidates. The committeeman heard (via conference call) from gubernatorial candidate Jim Ryan, Attorney General candidate Joe Birkett, and Secretary of State candidate Kristine O'Rourke Cohn. After a difficult primary season the committeemen found common ground and unified their focus. "We decided two key items tonight", said Jim Farrell, a Grant Twp. committeeman. "Number one is that our candidate for governor will now be known by our group as Jim and Jim only! We are tired of Democrats playing a name game to confuse voters about which Ryan they running against. And number two is that though Chicago is a great world-class city, the capital of Illinois is Springfield not Chicago!"

Republicans believe that the Democrats are trying to centralize too much power in the hands of a few Chicago based candidates. Grant Twp. committeeman Gordon Kiesgen agreed. "It was great to hear from our candidates, they are a strong ticket and we can surprise people in November. It is great to see Republicans coming together," he said.

Republican Garcia's aim: breaking Democratic lock

By WILLIAM H. SCHROEDER
Publisher

Republican leaders are looking to a dynamic businesswoman with a solid record of community involvement to break a Democratic lock on Lake County Board representation in Waukegan.

They have slated Delia H. "Dee" Garcia to run in newly drawn District 9, a district with a predominately Hispanic population, in the Nov. 5 election.

Garcia quickly dispels any impression that she was selected only on the basis of her surname.

Employed as a mortgage lending specialist, Garcia was successful in business as a teenager, operating her own beauty salon in her native Texas as a teenager. She has resided in Waukegan for 15 years.

"Yes, I realize that if I'm successful in November, I'll be making local history as the first Hispanic to ever serve on the Lake County Board," she commented forthrightly.

"But I also realize that winning the election will depend on my ideas for the County Board. I want to represent the whole community."

Garcia's Democratic opponent will be Mary Cunningham, an African-American, who defeated two men for the nomination. Political observers said Cunningham's victory rested on a split vote of Hispanic primary voters.

Garcia

Garcia, the mother of a 21-year-old son serving in the Marines, said leaders of both political parties sought her as a candidate on the basis of her leadership and involvement in a variety of school, church, business, civic and Latino activities. Business commitments a year ago, however, prevented her from committing to a primary campaign.

"Many years ago," she explained with a broad smile, "I decided I would like to become involved in politics when I reached age 40. Now I'm 41 so I was ready to talk about the future," added Garcia, whose husband, Napoleon is an accomplished painter and singer, who once was ranked nationally as a hair design professional.

Democrats, Garcia declared, had strings attached to being a candidate. "The Republicans wanted me to run as I am, a person working for community betterment and helping people." The GOP did not have a primary candidate in District 9, located generally on the south side of Waukegan and ethnically diverse.

Garcia chuckles about raising eyebrows when telling about how she and her husband of 23 years raised 14 children. "Not my own. We decided early in our marriage to help children in need. Babies. Older children. Teenagers. Technically, we weren't foster parents. It was a case of looking after kids who had no one else to care for them at the time."

County voters can preview ballots online

Area voters may now visit the county clerk's web page to preview Election Day ballots. County Clerk Willard Helander said specimen ballots are available by logging on to www.co.lake.il.us/cntyclk and clicking on "What's on my ballot for the November 5, 2002 General Election?"

The web site also features a brief video on voting the optical scan ballot, an example of the new red, white and blue voter card and how it sets forth the units of government serving each voter. Absentee ballot qualifications are listed as well as an on-line request form for an Application for Absentee Ballot. As in past elections, the site includes directions to and photographs of each polling place in Lake County.

Cave homes becoming chic

By STEVE SKINNER
Staff Reporter

Nowadays, when the question arises, "have you been living in a cave?" more and more people have been answering yes. A new trend in home manufacturing is making cave dwelling a reality, and not just for spelunkers.

Davis Caves of Armstrong, Illinois began building earth-sheltered homes in 1976. Since then, Davis has built 400 homes across the country. "The main advantage is energy efficiency," said Ruthanne Davis. Earth sheltered homes offer year round energy savings of 50 to 80 percent compared to above ground homes. Additionally, earth-sheltered homes offer tremendous savings on maintenance costs, but of course going up on the roof to cut the grass may take some getting used to.

According to Davis, the energy crisis of the 1970's resulted in skyrocketing heating and cooling expenses. This in turn helped fuel the creation of Davis Caves. The earth-sheltered concept can be expanded to many types of buildings.

"The average temperature inside one of our homes is 58 degrees without any heat. That will vary by 7 to 10 degrees between winter and summer," said Davis.

"You can heat a 2,000 square-foot home with a cord and a half of wood," she said.

If the outside temperature were 10 degrees below zero, in order to heat a conventional aboveground home to 70 degrees, you would have to raise the temperature of the home 80 degrees. In a Davis Caves home, the temperature would only have to be raised by 12 degrees.

The Davis homes are begun with a shell (walls and ceiling) of poured-in-place, heavily reinforced concrete 15 inches thick. The top of the shell and three of the four sides are then covered with 3 to 8 feet of earth.

The earth covered, heavily reinforced concrete construction also provides a high degree of safety from storms, tornadoes and fire.

Maintenance is reduced because there are no gutters to clean no roof shingles to replace and no re-painting to be done. The interior concrete ceilings and walls easily lend themselves to a smooth or plastered finish.

The interiors of the homes can be finished in whatever décor and materials a homeowner er desires. "From the inside, our homes look like any other traditional home," said Davis.

A model of a "cave home."

The creative floor plans offered by Davis also take advantage of passive solar heating with the generous usage of windows. Additionally, Davis is making more use of skylights and the combination of the two help wash every room with sunlight.

"Ideally we like to face the window section of the home to the south and a little east. But it really depends on the piece of property we are building on. With the use of skylights, facing south is not as important anymore," said Davis.

Davis Caves utilizes an air circulation system, which incorporates fresh air into the home easing concerns regarding radon gas.

Because the shell structure is in direct contact with the earth, moisture can reach the structure. Bentonite is used to seal and repel any water that may wind up reaching the structure.

Additional precautions are taken by installing drain tiles on, around and beneath the structure, to carry away any water that may reach the structure.

After the shell is built, and the drain tiles installed, the structure is sealed and insulated prior to being covered with earth. The precise use and placement of insulation controls the heat and cooling transfer process. The insulation utilized is critical to the efficiency of the heating and cooling process.

Davis said the average cost for a Davis Cave is between $110,000 and $115,000. Davis Caves offers a 90-page plan book and each home is crafted by utilizing only the finest of materials available. They also offer custom home planning. For more information, visit their web site at www.daviscaves.com, or call 309-392-2574.

CLC board agrees to land sale

The College of Lake County board of trustees voted Tuesday to sell a parcel of land, no larger than 2 acres, for use by the Grayslake Fire Protection District to place a station on the east side of the rail road tracks which bisect Grayslake.

The land is to be sold at a rate of $82,750 per acre, figured to the nearest tenth of an acre. The resolution passed by the board also called for the Village of Grayslake and the Fire Protection District to assume all maintenance costs, as well as the any road alteration costs associated with the property.

"Now we will finish the negotiations for the property itself," Grayslake Fire Chief Don Mobley said. "If everything falls into place we could be breaking ground as early as next spring."

Mobley said the plan for the building is still in the development process, but research done since the decision was made to build a station has given the department an idea of what they will require.

Mobley said he was confident about what the board's decision would be regarding the sale.

"We were pretty confident. I think we had a sense that this was something the board, as a whole, wanted to do," Mobley said.

However, there was some disagreement on the board.

Trustees Robert Anderson and Barbara Oilschlager were against the sale of land.

Anderson was glad the vote was being made so the board could move on.

"I'm pleased that, as a board, we have come to a compromise of sorts," Anderson said.

He added while he felt the idea of a fire station on the east side of the tracks was a good idea, he did not think college land was the best place for one.

"Another factor that has made this vote difficult is I want to be loyal to this board, but I also have to be true to myself, and true to those other individuals who have come forward to say this is a bad idea."—By Drew Granger

EDITORIAL

Find successors to two departing leaders

This week we begin our review and comment on candidates and issues in the Nov. 5 general election. Twenty-three Lake County Board seats are to be filled. Districts 1 through 12 are covered this week. County Board commentary will be concluded next week.

Even though 14 incumbents are running and have a good chance of being reelected, the Lake County Board will be a much different looking body after the fall election votes are counted. Mandatory redistricting will account for some new faces. Voluntary retirement took a toll. In at least one case, electors refused to renominate a sitting representative.

Two County Board leaders will be replaced. Al Westerman, originally elected to help rein in uncontrolled growth, became an outstanding president of the Lake County Forest Preserve District. County Board members automatically serve as forest commissioners. Westerman chose not to run for reelection. After 12 years of fighting for open space preservation, adoption of sensible and workable building regulations for unincorporated areas and slowing the rare of development to a manageable pace, Larry Leafblad was defeated in an upset by an opponent skillfully managed with a single issue strategy to exploit the public's disgust over traffic congestion.

Two candidates have stepped forward to carry on the work of Westerman and Leafblad, whose strong voices will be sorely missed. They are Steve Carlson, a Republican, and Dennis Murphy, a Democrat. In our opinion, both can be relied upon to carry on the work of Westerman and Leafblad, forging policies to protect the environment and encourage 'smart growth.' They are endorsed by Lakeland Newspapers.

District 1 (Antioch)—Incumbent Republican Judy L. Martini is endorsed over Scott Wold, a young Democrat who ran in the primary mostly to make sure his party had a candidate. Martini has proved to be a reliable voice for sensible growth and she provided welcome leadership in two hotly contested issues, eliminating abuses of recreational vehicle parks, and resolving a complicated and costly land use case in Antioch Township involving the county, the Forest Preserve District, the Village of Antioch and developers.

District 2 (Wadsworth)—Randall E. Whitmore, Republican and a successful small businessman, is pitted against Democrat Mark Stricklin, who has experience in grassroots government as a village official. We like Whitmore because of his balanced views on growth and development and because the County Board sorely needs someone to express the views of an employer and business owner. Whitmore endorsed.

District 3 (Lake Villa-Lindenhurst)—Long-time representative Suzi Schmidt, a Republican, has come into her own both as the first female chair and a consistent force for good government and protection of the environment, particularly water resources and wildlife. As the spokesperson for the county, Schmidt also has displayed rare leadership in delicate relations with the City of Waukegan. Her administration has been marked by cooperation and implementation of the long awaited Unified Development Ordinance, the county's roadmap for orderly development. She richly deserves to be returned as a representative. We hope Schmidt will be retained for a second term as chair when the board reorganizes. Schmidt is unopposed.

District 4 (Zion)—Incumbent Republican Brent C. Paxton has been recognized for holding the line on salaries and innovative thinking on reducing the size of the County Board. The GOP regards him as an up and coming leader. He is unopposed.

District 5 (Grant and Wauconda townships)—Republican Bonnie Thomson Carter works hard for her constituents and consistently is on the right side of environment and development issues. She has gained respect of all board members and experience heading up first the Law and Judicial Committee, and then the Public Service Committee with oversight responsibilities in the areas of transportation, water, waste disposal and RTA matters. There is no Democratic candidate.

District 6 (Grayslake, Third Lake, Round Lake Park, Highland Lake)—Although he has served as a township trustee, Republican Don Bauer, elected on a platform of building Route 53, seems ill prepared for the complex issues facing the County Board, which has no involvement in Route 53. Democrat Dennis Murphy, who ran unsuccessfully against Leafblad four years ago, is in agreement with the County Board majority focusing on better planning, managing growth and keeping the Forest Preserve District moving forward. He is well prepared to serve and we heartily endorse his election.

District 7 (Grandwood Park)—Republican Steve Carlson has worked tirelessly for community betterment and in doing so has become better acquainted with county operations than Democrat Marc Brogan. Besides a better knowledge of grassroots government, Carlson has the capacity and drive for County Board leadership in the future, which will be a bonus for his district.

District 8 (Waukegan)—Republican nominee Shirley Friedlander has tackled the issue of location of the new work release facility which has put her at odds with the county, but is an indication that she will be independent and have the courage to take stands on controversial issues. Friedlander, a successful businesswoman and former Chamber of Commerce executive, is endorsed over incumbent Democrat Robert Sabonjian, who has involved himself mostly with social issues while representing his district.

District 9 (Waukegan)—Deliah "Dee" Garcia, slated by Republicans, is endorsed over Democrat Mary Ross Cunningham, who derailed party plans for a Hispanic representative in a new district designed to have a super Hispanic majority. With a small business and banking background, Garcia is well equipped to deal with both county and city issues where she has earned a deserved reputation for promoting economic development and youth betterment.

District 10 (Fremont Township, Mundelein)—Incumbent Republican Diana O'Kelly has earned reelection. O'Kelly is a strong voice for conservation, preservation and controlled growth. She has no opposition.

District 11 (Grayslake)—Incumbent Republican Sandy Cole's stature on the County Board has been enhanced by intelligent and professional leadership of the Finance Committee. She is steady and reliable, offering considered viewpoints on contested land use and development issues. Cole has been a credit to the County Board and is endorsed over Democrat Gayle J. Cinke, who is offering Park Board experience, but no reason to change representation.

District 12 (Waukegan)—Incumbent Democrat Angelo D. Kyle has brought national recognition to Lake County with his involvement and quality leadership on national county government organizations. He is a veteran member of the County Board and has earned reelection. There is no Republican opposition.

VIEWPOINT

Peaker operators hoodwink Zion?

Residents of Libertyville, Round Lake and Island Lake saved themselves a major headache when they opposed establishment of peaker power generating plants in their communities.

Zion, where Lake County's only peaker plant was approved, is experiencing difficulties where operations began in June with two turbines. The Texas consortium that owns and operates the plants violated the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) rules that smokestacks be 105 feet tall by shortchanging them 30 feet.

The taller stacks would protect air quality. The shorter stacks constitute potential health hazards, according to the Lake County Conservation Alliance. The Lake County watchdog group also charged that noise from the plant, soon to be expanded to three turbines, is violating nighttime noise standards and keeping neighbors awake.

Zion officials also feel misled that only three instead of five turbines will be built which reduces revenue to the city. Plant spokesmen reported that the energy industry is facing reduced needs because of the slowdown in the economy. Calpine, the parent company, currently has contracts with two utilities to produce energy.

Plans are dormant for a peaker site at Volo where residents soundly rejected a generating site in a referendum.

Remember Maine

ing if County Board aspirant Ann Maine is going to herald "Remember the Maine." A Lincolnshire trustee, conservationist and college professor, Maine hopes her credentials fit the upscale district that includes Riverwoods, Bannockburn, Mettawa, Green Oaks and eastern Libertyville. The area has been represented on the board by Martha Marks, an author.

Safety second

At the risk of being labeled anti-safety, College of Lake County trustees Barbara Oilschlager and Robert Anderson stood their ground and voted against selling college land for a fire station designed to reduce response time and provide facilities for fire service classes. The measure carried 5-2. Oilschlager and Anderson insisted the sale of land for non-educational purposes was bad policy. Faculty Senate members and a CLC planning group also were cool to proposed station that will be next door to the Grayslake campus and the future multi-university.

COMMENTARY

Colonial towns can handle budgets

By Charles L. Joly

When King George told the colonists how to market their goods and he sent special tax collectors, townsmen dumped his tea into the Boston Bay. When he sent troops to take their cannons from Concord, they fought for freedom.

Concord and neighboring townships are small (15,000 people). If population increases, Concord could change from a town to a city with representatives. Massachusetts cities cannot contain townships).

Apart from federal and state regulations, New England towns do all—all local services: police, fire, roads, water and sewer, a unified school district, parks, public health, libraries, records local court and all the rest—all local services.

Town administrators cannot tax or spend a penny until they give full account of past expenditures, propose the next budget, and receive the people's vote for the next year's budget. Many attend these annual

Oklahoma governor bumped for Geo

Cooler heads prevailed in Republican leadership ranks to head off a potentially messy situation over a visit to Lake County by Oklahoma Gov. Frank Keating.

Planners of the visit by Keating, a rising national GOP figure, asked State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) to reschedule her annual fund raiser Wednesday, Oct. 23, to make way for a Keating dinner speech.

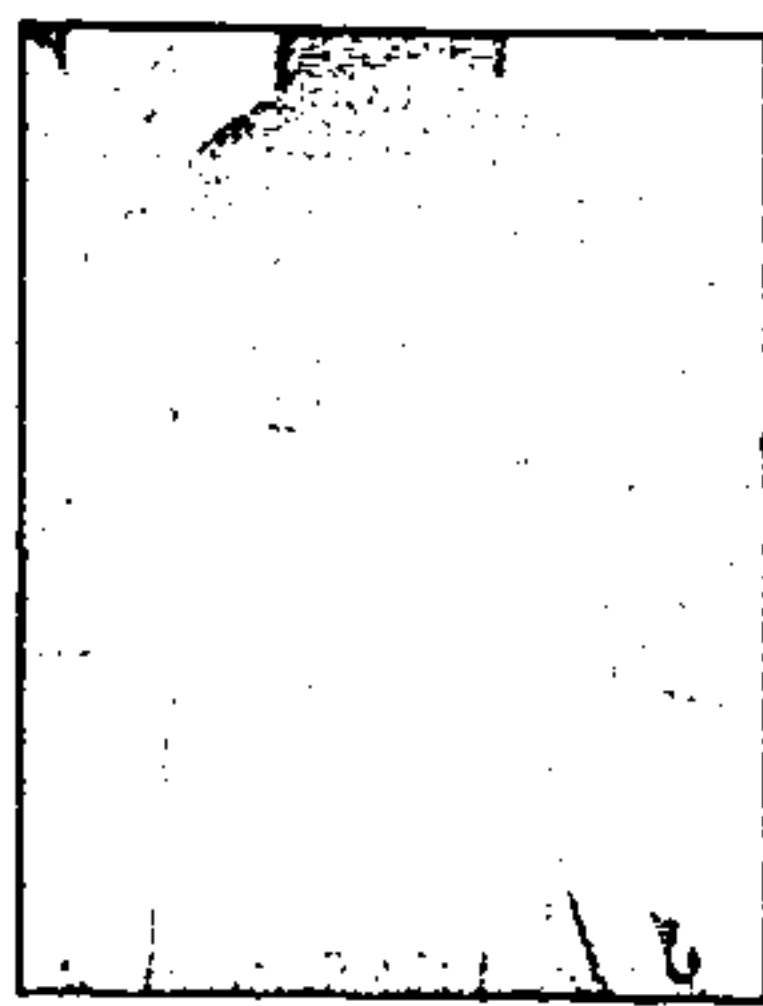

Geo-Karis reacted to the request with indignation to put it mildly. The long-time Republican leader regarded the request as an insult since her event, scheduled for the Country Squire, already had been announced in the party newsletter besides being planned nearly a year in advance.

Not wishing to incur the state senator's wrath, schedulers revamped the timing of Keating's visit for a luncheon speech the same day. Antonette Simonian, executive director of the Lake County Republican Federation, confirmed the Geo-Karis imposition. "Adeline is our 'Grand Dame.' She should come first," remarked Simonian.

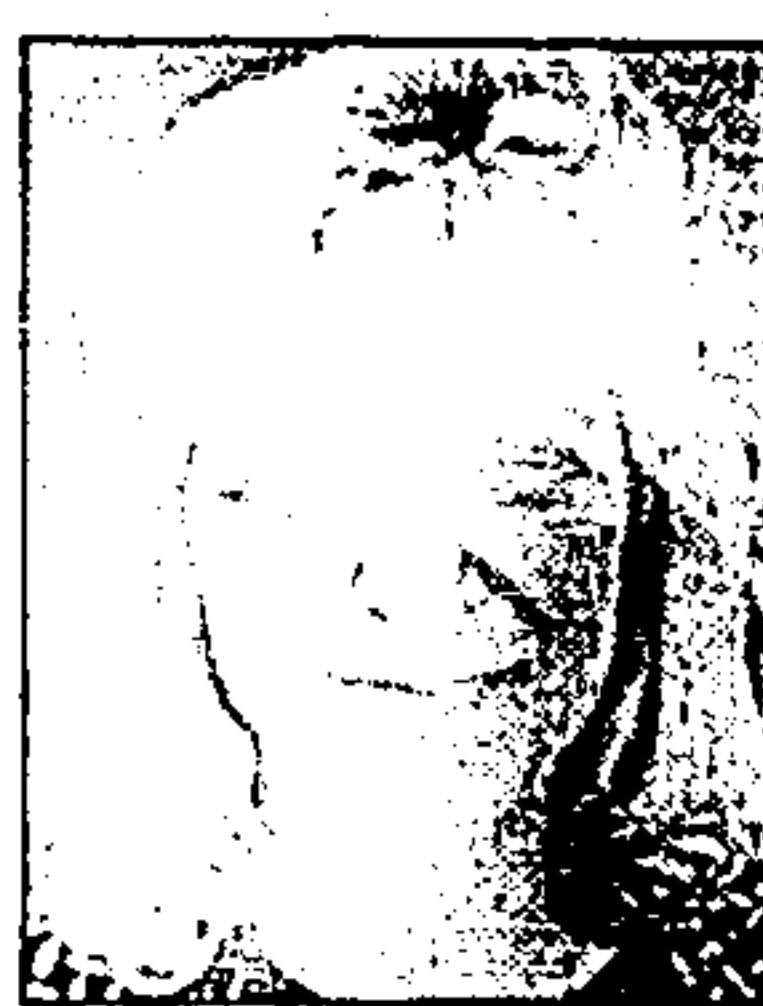

Even Sen. Geo-Karis was pleased with the outcome. "Republicans can hear Gov. Keating speak at lunch and then come to my reception at 5:30 p.m. That's fine with me," she declared.

Clavey facts

After reading the article about Pat Clavey by Sheriff Del Re, it hurt. I have known Pat Clavey for many years and know he is well respected by his church and community. Pat is past president of the Gurnee Lions which helps raise money for the blind. He is past commander of the Gurnee American Legion and was also chaplain for several years. He is a life member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Lake Villa Post. He is also a member of the First Marine Division Association and a life member of the Korean War Association. Pat Clavey has for the last 35 years had a golf outing raising thousands of dollars for children with cancer and assorted diseases.

Antioch the loser

Finally reality hit Antioch Trustees Scott Pierce and Bob Caulfield.

Just as the final vote to approve every request Neumann Homes has made, they discovered Antioch Schools, the village and the future homeowners will be hurt financially by establishing the Special Service Area ordinances.

Thanks to a realtors comments and a District 34 school board meeting, there is now great concern over what Antioch is losing.

Unfortunately, most decisions have already been made and our village board does not have the backbone to take back control of our community.

The Neumann attorneys will meet behind closed doors and coerce our trustees to vote in "good faith" (trust them?) even with no definite answers.

SAD for Antioch. We have no government control.

Kirk committed

As a local teacher, I have been extremely impressed with Congressman Mark Kirk's efforts on behalf of Illinois school children. Voters should be aware that he has been endorsed by the Illinois Education Association and the National Education Association because of his commitment to excellence in public schools. As election day approaches, it is comforting to know that the voting record of our incumbent congressman reflects our community's commitment to effective. Excellent schools.

By supporting the bi-partisan No Child Left Behind Act, an additional $437 million will be available to schools through increased federal funding, while encouraging greater accountability and assessment. Congressman Kirk has been recognized by various local education organizations as a strong supporter of special education. He voted for and co-sponsored legislation that will force the federal government to fully fund its special education obligation to local school systems. Until this legislation becomes law, he will continue to work to ensure a $1 billion increase for federal support for special education this year.

Congressman Kirk formed an Education Advisory committee comprised of educators, administrators, advocates, parents, academics, and students in order to stay apprised of national and local educational issues. In addition, he has convened a Student Advisory Board that is made up of the Junior Class President from each high school in the 10th Congress District, so that he can learn directly about the challenges they are facing.

Congressman Kirk believes that all students have a right to a safe and drug-free school. Therefore, he has convened a Drug Taskforce comprised of enforcement, treatment, and prevention professionals, as well as community leaders, to focus on this issue. He has also worked to raise awareness and educate students about the growing danger of club drugs by holding town hall meetings on the subject at schools and through community forums.

Lincoln, Reagan and two generals

Historians rate Abraham Lincoln as one of the truly great men of all time, perhaps even the greatest person in United States history.

Here in his home state of Illinois we hold him in such esteem that it's hard to believe one of his generals in the Civil War said of him:

"The president is nothing more than a well-meaning baboon, the original gorilla."

That was from George McClellan, the charismatic and designated dynamo Lincoln put in charge of the Union forces only to be constantly disappointed by him. McClellan had a penchant for inactivity, a tendency to hold back his troops instead of sending them to fight.

My sources are the 1990 television series, "The Civil War," by Geoffrey C. Ward, which recently has been re-aired on public TV. Also, reading the series' huge companion book which has been gathering dust on our shelves.

It was a horrible war; 600,000 Americans died in it. In conducting a bitter war Lincoln never became bitter himself, showing a nobility of character that had and still has worldwide appeal.

In many cases relatives were killing relatives. One southern private wrote: "There are blackberries in the fields so our boys and the Yanks made a bargain not to fire at each other. They went out in the field, leaving one man on each post with the arms, and gathered berries together and talked over the fight. They traded tobacco and coffee and newspapers as peacefully and kindly as if they had not been engaged for seven days in butchering one another."

A hundred years after Lincoln came another president from Illinois, Ronald Reagan, also a hit with historians. He was back in the news last week when former first lady Nancy Reagan said in an interview that her 91-year-old husband, in the advanced stages of Alzheimer's disease, may not even recognize her anymore.

The nation's 40th president has been seen in public only rarely since his poignant 1994 letter announcing to the world that he had the memory-sapping disease. "I only wish I could spare Nancy from this painful experience," he said.

Retired U.S. Army general Colin Powell was the main speaker at Reagan's 85th birthday party six years ago. The touching event was televised and I happened to tape it.

More than 400 guests toasted "The Gipper" at the Reagans' favorite restaurant in Beverly Hills, Calif. Reagan, by then uncomfortable in large crowds, chose not to attend but behind the dais was a 12-foot photo of him in his prime, toasting the audience with that familiar impish smile of his.

Celebrities attending included Bob Hope, Red Skelton, Tim Conway, Bob Newhart, and Charlton Heston. Johnny Mathis sang favorite Reagan songs.

Gen. Powell told a very touching story about how Reagan went far out of his way to chat with young soldiers who were thrilled to meet him.

Nancy Reagan elegantly thanked everyone and then turned to the big photo of that famous face and said, "I would like to propose a toast to my fella, my love."

state-national affairs.

Think of our desire to make a difference in government. In our times of budget crisis, when revenue is short, when government services are being cut, and when people are being laid off, public discussion and participation are needed. Distant, complex, overlapping governmental offices frustrate our attempt to understand government, to vote intelligently, to participate in it and to know what we pay for services. We withdraw, we stand aside and we stew in silence.

My Illinois township is filled with four village governments! It contains four independent school districts! We have two independent waste and water departments! Our police and fire departments, highways and roads, libraries, parks, garbage control, etc., are administered by federal, state, county, village, township, special districts and by privatized agencies. All these have boards, meetings and separate budgets. Administrators admit their records are hidden away and some obfuscated intentionally to prevent public understanding and participation! It has become unusual and odd, indeed, for a citizen to walk into a public office to inquire about its work or the budget. Our sprawling County Board with widespread buildings and almost $400 million budget has no meeting hall to seat a large group. There is virtually no way for citizens to know the cost of these numerous, overlapping agencies.

How are the original towns of the American Revolution doing these days - those lean and mean New England towns that brought Direct Democracy to the world?

Although they have next to no agricultural land, no coal, oil, or minerals to speak of, other than wood and stone, they are strong competitors for us - we big spenders who have deficits in the billions. They know their budget, they vote yes or no or amend next year's costs, they flood their schools with support, and they are leaders in many areas of American progress.

Editor's note: Charles Joly is a fan of New England town government. Retired, he resides in Ingleside. He's ready to share information on direct democracy by calling him at 815-385-7567.

meetings; they cast their vote and many volunteer vigorously to administer their American Direct Democracy. They receive wonderful services from their government and they pay a fraction of what we pay!

In colonial days, when spring roads were bogs, when there were no phones, no telegraph, no radio, and pony express got through if there were bridges, the governors made county districts to extend state services. Because they participated in local work, counties were given heavy hands to dig into the town treasury. (The towns assess and they collect taxes and hold local taxes!). With time, people found that they could build and repair their towns more efficiently with less cost. Today, the counties no longer exist. State departments handle circuit courts, corrections work, universities, state-federal highways and other

Mundelein Park and Recreation District reapplies for SRACLCL membership

By ELIZABETH GUARD
Staff Reporter

The Mundelein Parks and Recreation District sent a letter to the Special Recreation Association of Central Lake County (SRACLCL) requesting that their membership be reinstated at SRACLCL's Sept. 25th board meeting.

The park district's board voted to withdraw from the association at the end of July this year. After a re-vote by board members and parents with children in the association, the park district decided to formally reapply for membership.

The Mundelein Park and Recreation District originally wanted to withdraw from the association because it was unhappy with the funding. The district also thought by breaking away from the association it could encourage more community membership.

The park district's board changed its tune when parents of children in the association came forward with several complaints. Parents did not want their children to be taken out of the association because of the long-term relationships they had made with other children in the association. Parents were also upset because they wanted their children in an ongoing program; they did not want to wait for the park district to get something off the ground.

The Mundelein Park and Recreation District's letter said the board wished to reinstate membership under the following conditions: That the Mundelein Park and Recreation District continue to monitor and scrutinize the SRACLCL budget and expenditures for cost effectiveness to justify continued membership; that the Mundelein Park and Recreation District establish a working committee of no more than five SRACLCL families to work toward increased participation by Mundelein residents in SRACLCL programs and assist Mundelein Park and Recreation District in the development of a tentative alternate program and budget to better determine the feasibility of what could be done by the Mundelein Park and Recreation District independent of SRACLCL.

SRACLCL live!

The Special Recreation Association of Central Lake County (SRACLCL) has several exciting events coming up.

On Oct. 2, SRACLCL was featured on a live television show. The show, "North Shore Live," is filmed in Highland Park, and therefore will not be immediately available in the area. However, the taped show will be given to AT&T Cable and then be shown in the Grayslake, Libertyville, Mundelein, Vernon Hills area. SRACLCL is constantly working to get the word out on what they do, which is provide recreation for special needs children in central Lake County.

The Special Olympics kickoff took place Sept. 26, giving parents of special needs children all the information needed about the Special Olympics, and giving children the chance to try out different Special Olympics games. Special Olympics basketball will take place from October through February. Several new games, such as bocce ball, have been added to the Special Olympics this year.

SRACLCL will also be sponsoring its annual "Fall Fantasy," which is a dinner and dance event that is comparable to a prom. SRACLCL will also have a "Happy New Year's Dance," but on Dec. 27.

For more information on the Special Recreation Association of Central Lake County or any of its programs, contact the office at 847-816-4866.—By Elizabeth Guard

RECYCLER

Brosten, 52, who co-owns Auto Parts City with his brother Jay, 44. "We wanted to build a building for the fluid draining operation, which should be under a roof, but the village of Gurnee won't give us a permit," said Brosten.

Auto City is one of the only facilities in Lake County capable of handling old or abandoned autos. "We handle over 1,200 cars per month and we are basically one of the only facilities to drain fluid," said Brosten.

Of those 1,200 cars, approximately 300 to 400 come from Waukegan every month, with the remaining 700 to 800 that come from across the county. Brosten commented that it would be quite costly for the citizens of Waukegan if his operation were to close, because the nearest shredder facilities are in Chicago or Milwaukee. "He said there would be a lot of abandoned cars around Waukegan if it were not for his

Residents who live near the ComEd site have voiced objections about traffic and oil and fluid contaminating the ground water. One resident complained the noise of the crusher would keep his dogs up all night. "Our hours of operation will be between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. and we operate an electric crusher that is within the noise standards. It cannot be heard more than 200-feet away," Brosten said.

Jordan Madorsky said the truck traffic would be far less than is generated by ComEd. Jay Brosten said that all of the trucks would only be able to come to the site from the north, off of Yorkhouse Road. There are no homes between Yorkhouse and the entry to the proposed site.

The Brostens would like residents concerned to know they have experience in building a modern auto recycling facility. The Ford Motor Company bought Hy-Way Auto Parts, in Wadsworth, from the Brostens. Ford put the facility through rigorous, Phase II, environmental testing before agreeing to purchase the state-of-the-art facility, but has asked Jay and Larry to stay on and manage the operation.

"I'm a big environmentalist myself and we want to drain and recycle to the best of our ability," said Brosten. The Greenleaf property is only feet away from the Des Plaines River, and abuts Lake County Forest Preserve property. "This is the same situation they are talking about at the Northwestern property," said Jordan Madorsky, an information manager for Greenleaf.

"If there was a problem with this facility being this close to the river, we would have known about it," said Jay Brosten. Brosten said the forest preserve wants to buy the site. "That will take $60,000 in yearly tax revenue off of the rolls," said Larry.

The Brostens have hired consultant Michael James, of James Environmental Management Inc., to assist with the design of the new facility and to work with the Lake County Health Department regarding a complaint that was just filed. Mike Kuhn, of the health department said a letter was sent to the Brostens and that they have 15 days to respond.

James said he has already spoken with Kuhn about the proposal to test the site. James is a nationally recognized expert on environmental issues and management of auto recycling facilities who helped the Brostens design the Greenleaf facility.

The new facility in Waukegan will have a detention pond, with a skim basin to capture and separate any oil from stormwater runoff. "There will be far less contamination in runoff and the water will be degrees of magnitude cleaner than what comes off from a K Mart or Wal-Mart parking lot," said James. "I give Larry and Jay kudos for trying to do the right thing. They have told me right along, not to cut corners and do it properly," said James.

outside the department.

"I believe in promoting from within," said Fagan. "We have a wealth of talent in the department."

However, Del Re took issue with Fagan, "Under my administration there have been more promotions in the history of the sheriff's office. And that includes people with the rank of sergeant and above. In addition to that, I have promoted more minorities and more females than any other previous sheriff."

Fagan said that if elected, he would reopen the county parking lot, that the sheriff has closed due to security reasons, so people would have closer access to the court house and not have to park so far away. He then took a playful dig at Del Re, "Apparently my opponent must of got a call from al Qaida because during the three days of 'scoop the loop' people were able to park in the garage, but it was closed right back down after that."

"We have restricted parking to police cars only because it enhances the presence of safety. "These are dangerous times we are living in," said Del Re. "I don't believe that this is the time to switch horses in the middle of a stream. This is not a time for on the job training. As Sheriff I will continue to fight the epidemic of drugs and violence that continue to plague our children. I'll continue to work hard to protect senior citizens from financial exploitation and physical abuse."

Fagan began his closing statement with another swipe at the Sheriff. "I'm not going to read from a script because I talk from the heart," said Fagan. "I've got 28 years of proven leadership to offer the citizens of Lake County. I've managed every department within Lake County, and again, I am a proven leader. I've worked with the states attorney office, I've worked with the county board, I've worked with the citizens of Lake County and I think my distinguished career speaks for itself."

CONDELL MEDICAL CENTER

Free Weight Management Orientation Program

On Wednesdays in October at 7 p.m., Free Weight Management Orientation Program at Centre Club, 200 W. Golf Rd., Libertyville; 5 p.m. at Centre Club, 1405 Hunt Club Rd., Gurnee or by appointment. Information is offered about the following Medical Center Health Institute programs: NutriQuest, a liquid protein fasting program for individuals 20 percent or more over their ideal body weight; Lean for Life, an 8-week adult diet and exercise program; Biometrics, a computerized meal plan and personal training for exercise; Outlook combines individually prescribed meal plans with supplemented meals to ensure long-term weight management; Lean for Life Jr., a healthy eating and exercise program structured for adolescents ages 13-17, along with one parent; Body Talk, a weight management support group; Nutritional Counseling, one-to-one for individual needs; and Weight Masters, a follow-up group for graduates of Lean for Life. Reservations requested. Call Libertyville (847) 990-5750 or Gurnee (847) 855-0700, ext. 4770.

Lean for life

This group weight management program, led by a Registered Dietician, offers you an opportunity to improve your lifestyle habits. You will learn the positive health benefits of weight reduction, sound nutrition, and regular exercise. We will monitor your progress through daily food and exercise logs, weekly weigh-ins and - most importantly - teach you to be a self-manager to maintain your healthy habits. Through 8 weekly group meetings, you are provided with the information and support to make positive lifestyle changes. The program was designed by a team of experts including a Registered Dietician, an Exercise Physiologist and a Health Behavior Counselor. The group setting will help to provide the motivation to consistently make good choices in the foods you eat and the proper exercise to reach your goals. The use of Centre Club facilities and equipment is limited according to program specifications set forth by the Lean for Life staff. This program is offered three times a year at each club. Call (847) 362-2905, ext. 5770 (Libertyville) or (847) 362-2905, ext. 4770 (Gurnee).

Looking Up

The "Looking Up" Bereavement Support Group is an ongoing program sponsored by Condell Medical Center Hospice and meets the first and third Wednesday of each month. This session is held in the living room of the Condell Day Center for Intergenerational Care and is open to the public for listening, talking and sharing feelings. Call (847) 816-8848.

Bringing the swan out of the not so ugly duckling

Hi Dr. Singer,

I have a daughter who is 12 years old. To say she is not in the "A" group is an understatement. She is a loner who wants very much to be popular. She is very cute but is packaging herself wrong and she does not know how to come back at comments other kids make in a clever way. Rather, she runs away and licks her wounds. After school she sits and watches t.v. She does want this to change. She has told me she wants to change things but does not know where to start. I was fairly popular in school and it hurts me to see her missing out on

PARENT'S PLACE

so much. How can I help her best? F.N.

Hi F.N.,
This is ringing familiar bells for me. You just described me in 7th grade. The bad news is she is probably going through some definite pain. The good news is, she can come out of it and shine if she does the right things. I am living proof of that. My best friends during 7th grade were Larry, Moe, and Curly and Tom and Jerry. I kid you not! It is a complete bummer to go to school each day and face kids who are so mean to you and not be able to give a clever come back.

Since you didn't give me a lot of detail about your daughter's "packaging," to go on here, I will tell you what I did and whatever applies to her, you can use. First, and most importantly, I could not jump in the proverbial "pool" until I was ready to. In other words, talk to her about these ideas, but don't give her a timeline. Don't force her to go in and do this stuff until she is very ready. If it is too fast, it can backfire and guess who she will blame? Your best intentions can become a hardship if it isn't timed right. When she is ready, there are 3 primary areas that need to be paid attention to. These are hair, clothes and comebacks. When I was in 7th grade, I wasn't very good at even washing my hair enough, let alone styling it right. Of course back in those days, if you didn't wash your hair 3 times a day, you were "gross." I will never forget how great that 1st stylish haircut was that I got. It was like the start of a whole new me! Clothing needed to be coordinated and "in." Of course, my clothes were never coordinated and were about as "out" as you could get. When kids would say mean things to me, my "comeback barometer" would not engage until about 3 minutes after the comment would have been fresh. It was disastrous.

Now, I have to assume that at least some of this is happening to your daughter. Usually, those are the areas that tend to make a kid shy away from interaction with other kids. So, as I said, when she is ready, approach her about changing her hair style, hygiene habits, and wardrobe, if she is willing to.

Comebacks and things to say to other kids are a little more tricky. My motto is practice makes perfect. When I would miss a comeback, I would think later on about what I would have liked to say and then I would practice it in my mirror with different looks on my face until I got the one I wanted. Then I would practice that over and over again. Remember, practice makes perfect even with comebacks. The more comfortable a person is with the process of giving clever little quips back to comments, the easier it will naturally come out. It worked for me rather quickly. Low and behold, I found myself answering back quickly and efficiently and all of a sudden, these kids started to know that not only was I on top of what they were saying, but I could deliver the comeback effortlessly. Make sure to make clear for your daughter that we are not talking here about antagonizing people. There is a big difference between a cute, clever comeback that will get her respected by other kids and an aggressive, antagonistic remark. You can also role play situations with her. Again, the more practice, the better she will be at it.

Also, the above suggestions are to be seen as a start. Hair, clothes and comebacks do not make relationships. She needs to take a genuine interest in the people she wants to be involved with. There is a general rule of thumb when it comes to relationships. People like it when other people are interested in their interests. If she goes into it wanting everyone to like her, she must be interested in those other people and their interests. Even if they are not necessarily her taste (this, of course, only applies to legal activities!)

Like anything important, it will take some time and work, but it will pay off in confidence and fun for her. Like I said before, I am living proof of the same story. After some practice, I grew up to be a Doctor who has the confidence to do speaking engagements in front of rooms of 100 people and more. If someone would have told me in 7th grade, that I would be doing that as an adult, I never would have believed them. Well, here I am. Practice works. If done correctly, it can work for her too. If you need more tips and practice help in person, call again and we can meet.

FANTASY FOOTBALL MONTHLY

(Touchdowns Only!!!)

RESEARCH DOES NOT ALWAYS EQUAL WINS

All entries are now in for the October contest. Thank you to those who entered, those who did not can still send in their team for the November showdown. A word to the wise...check injuries and bye-weeks before you make your November picks. If you entered in October you are still eligible to enter in November as well.

By the way, all the research in the world cannot guarantee you a great fantasy football team. I learned this the hard way. Despite making some very good mid-round picks (in a league which I have been in for nearly 10 years), my "super-stars" are killing me.

With the numbers 2-6 picks in my draft I took: 2) Eric Moulds 3) Tiki Barber 4) Thomas Jones 5) Michael Vick 6) Jeremy Shockey. Moulds is now a top-three receiver. Barber, who is my back up at tailback, is averaging more than 50 yards rushing and 50 yards receiving (bonus points!). Jones was averaging 100 yards a game rushing headed into last Sunday. Michael Vick was the last starting quarterback picked in my league, but I knew he had top five potential, which he is now clearly showing. And Jeremy Shockey is giving me a handful of points every week at tight end, despite being a rookie.

You would think that I would have a pretty good team, but alas my record after four weeks is 1-3. That is because of my first two picks.

Ahman Green of the Green Bay Packers came into the draft as the second ranked overall fantasy player. Not just at running back, but in ALL of football. After four weeks, Ahman still had not scored a touchdown and has left me hurting each and every week. He may still turn it around after a small injury, but I may be out of the playoff race by then.

Randy Moss was my second pick. Enough said there. The "Randy-ratio" was supposed to give Moss 2000 yards receiving and 18 touchdowns this season. Instead, I have one 100-yard game and only two touchdowns. This week alone he got arrested and dropped three passes in the end zone. As Randy goes, so does my team. I'm nervous.

So this shows that although championships are won in the middle rounds of a fantasy draft...making the playoffs depends on your top two.

Ladders and tables and chairs were just some of the props that kept a wrestling audience at the edge of their seats and cheering on a Saturday night.

"I just came to see the show. It was something that we could afford to see with the kids," said Sheri Flodstrom of Lombard. They said they liked it when the good wrestler-bad guy theme was played out.

Her friend, Terry Durkert, agreed that Midwest Championship Wrestling at the College of Lake County fun and something to be checked out.

Baily Mannix has been in wrestling for four years.

"I am going to college to become an English teacher. I teach at Shepherd High School and my students love it (the wrestling). They mark for me at my matches. It takes a great athlete. I am in the gym six days a week, doing training the right way. Zenner runs a great training school," Mannix said.

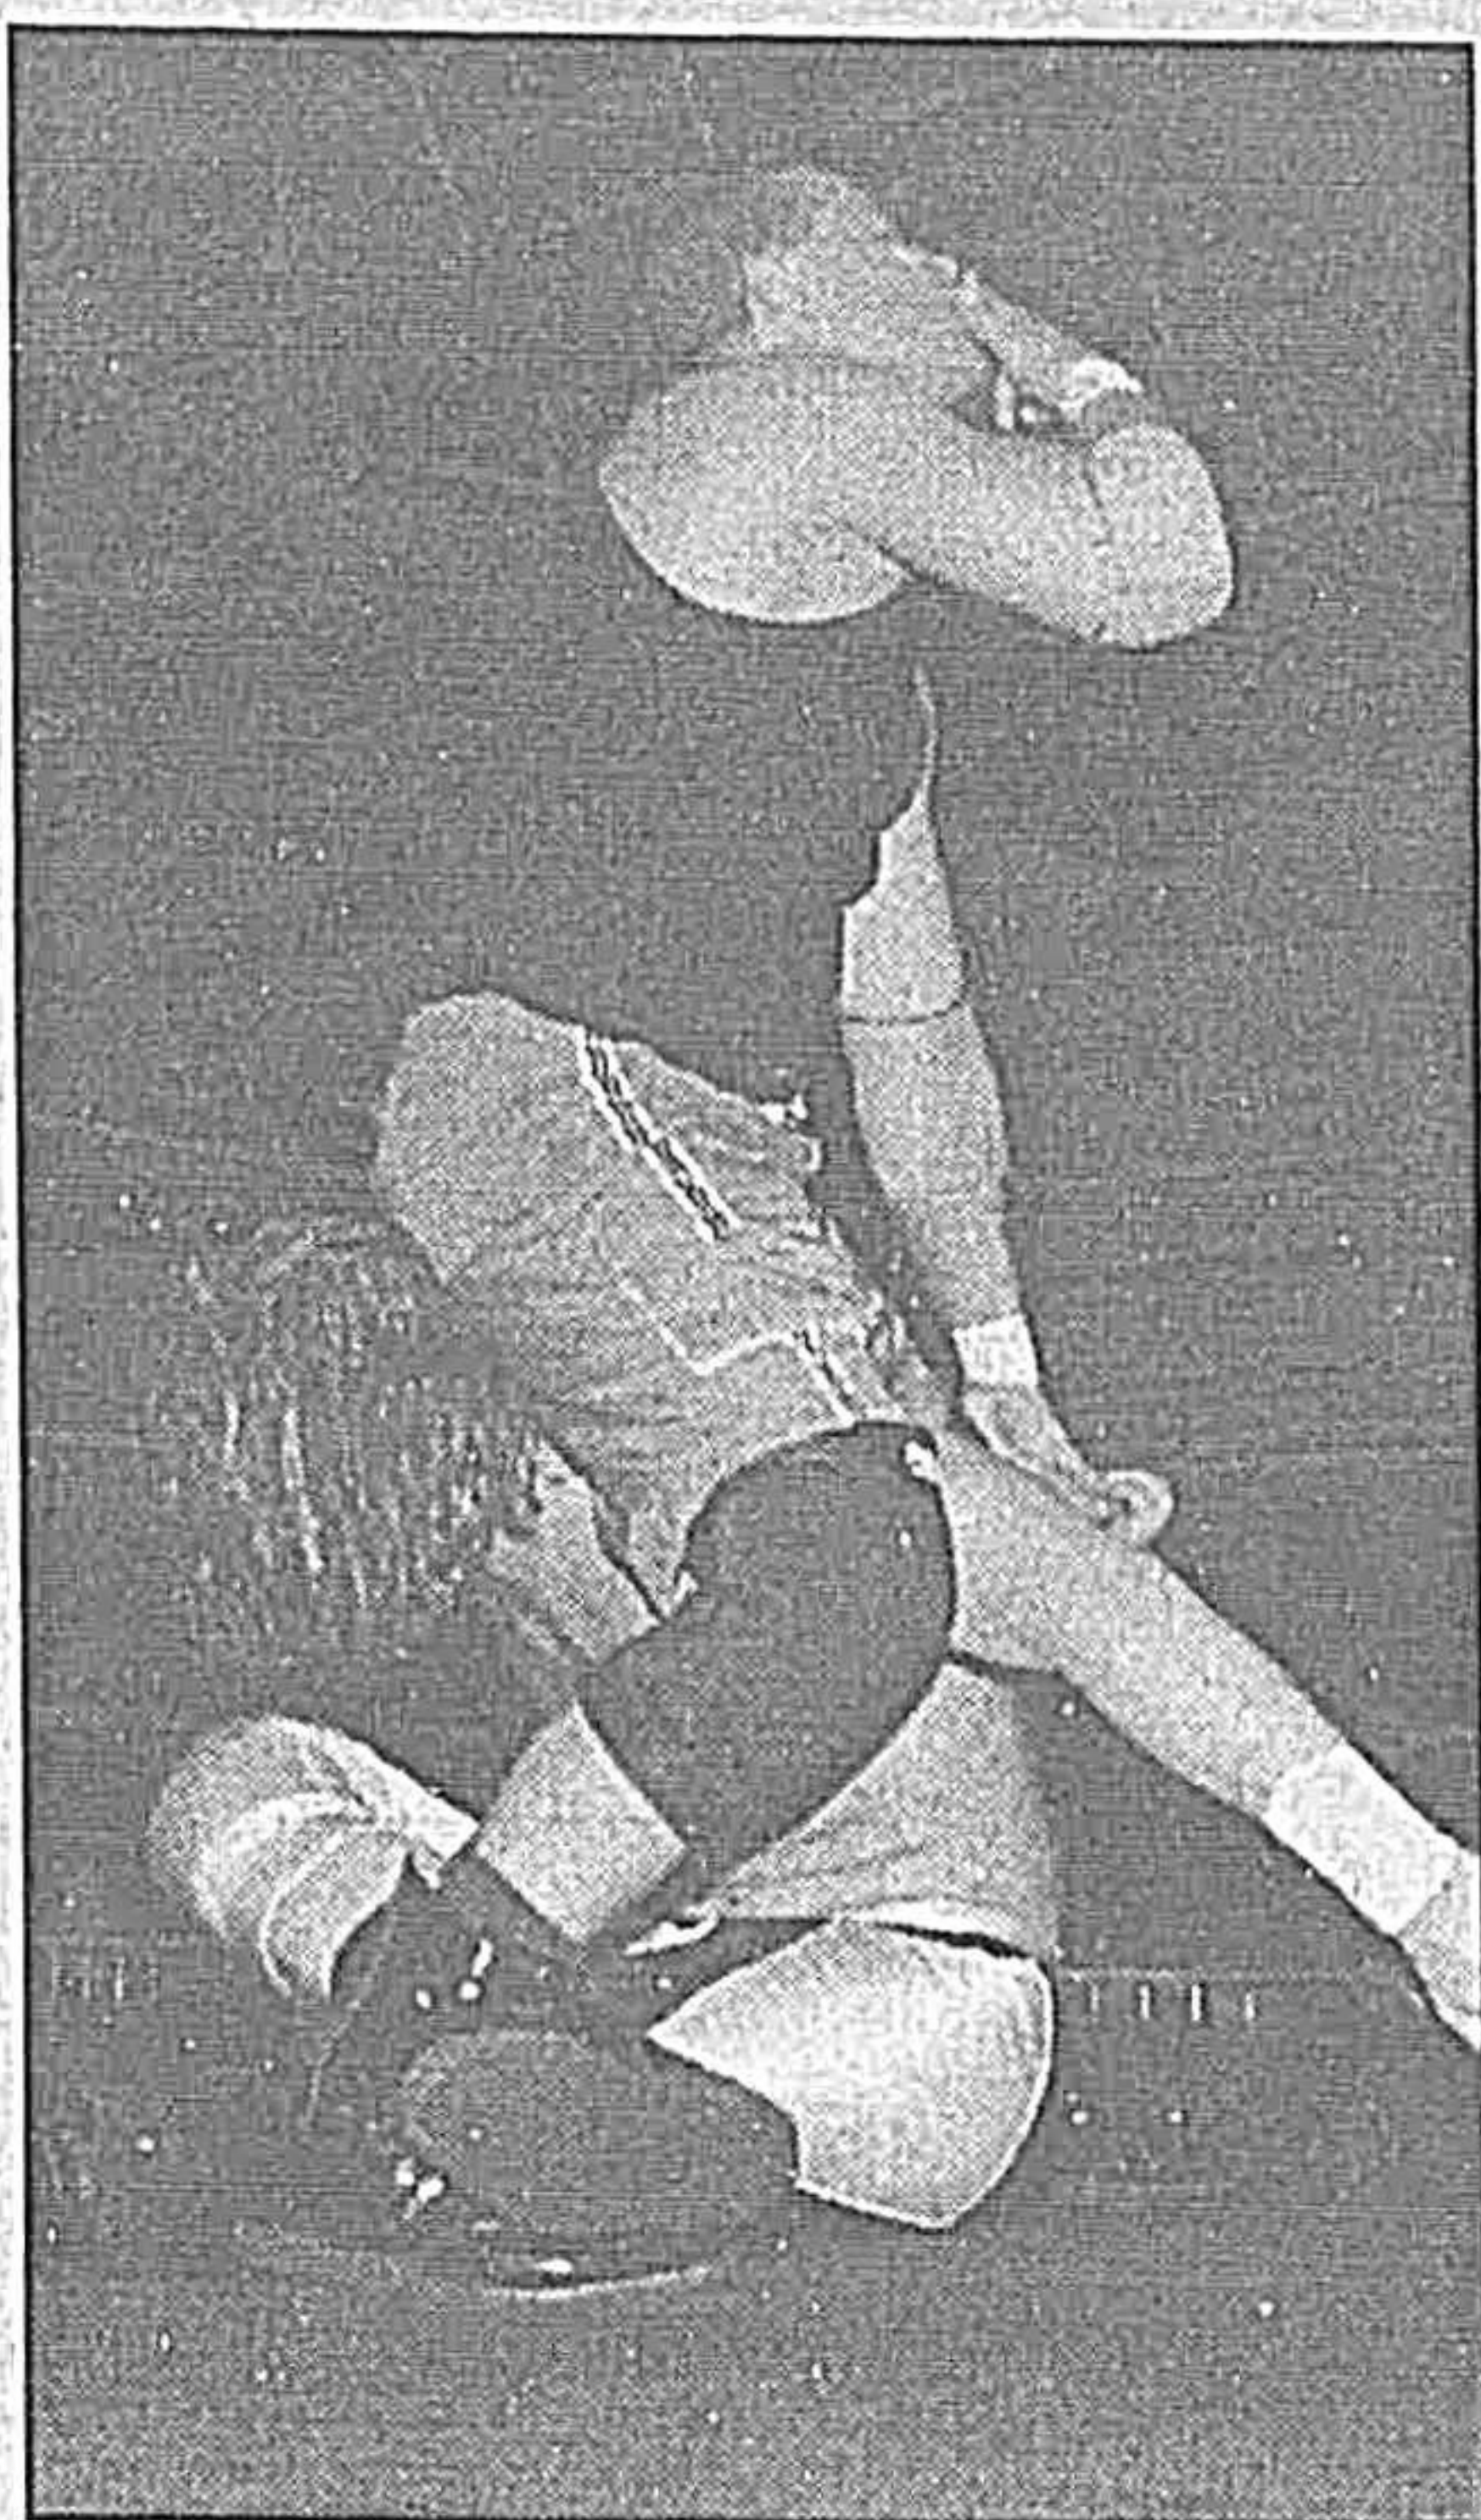

Mannix, who teams with Dan Scott in "Explicit Content" and won the tag team title over SATs, said he is willing to give wrestling another four years or so. "I have a lot of people that I admire who come into the ring and put their bodies on the line. Working with SATs was awesome," Mannix said.

"I can remember watching wrestling since I was 7. I remember Hulk Hogan and Andre the Giant," said Jeremy Witte of Buffalo Grove, who sat in one of the closer-up seats to the action.

A night of body slams, forces to the chops, and flying wrestlers who sometimes spent more time chasing each other outside the ring than inside was to be had in Grayslake.

The likes of Danny Dominion, The SAT's tag team, Eric Priest, aka "the Underwear Model" all entertained the crowd. The event was organized by promoted Brian Zenner, who operates a training school for wrestlers.

"We have people here from ages 9-60," Zenner said.

"It's the support of the crowd," said Joey Maxima of SAT, a Brooklyn based tag team.

For the record, Dominion was crowned the new individual champion.

The professional wrestling is co-sponsored by the CLC athletic department. It will return Oct. 26 with a 7:30 p.m. bell time. Scheduled to appear include: MCW Champ Eric Priest, Chris Chetti, Classic Cold Cabanna, Sexy Ace Steele and Dominion. Tickets are $15. ## COLLEGE OF LAKE COUNTY

SPORTS ROUNDUP

Women's soccer

The College of Lake County women's soccer team played their final week of conference games this week. A date with Elgin Oct. 3 will decide the Skyway Conference title.

Both teams head into the clash with identical 10-2-2 marks on the year. Earlier this season CLC tied Elgin 2-2, in what head Coach Dave Beck believes was a wake up call for his young team.

A win Thursday would mean the team's third consecutive Skyway Conference title.

"I'm pretty confident that the game against Elgin was a wake up call for us," he said. "We we're leading 2-0 and then we fell asleep and let them get back into it."

This weekend CLC will travel to Michigan, to compete in the Schoolcraft Tournament, with two top-20 nationally ranked teams.

"Truthfully, we're playing right with anyone. I think the two schools we play this weekend we have a good chance at beating," said Beck.

CLC lost only their second game of the year last weekend, a 1-0 decision to nationally ranked Harper College in Palatine.

Harper scored the games lone goal with only five minutes left in the contest.

"We played well considering we were playing the 11th-ranked team in the nation," said Beck.

Beck was especially happy with the team's performance seeing that the team's leading scorer, freshman Nikki Stefani, did not play because of a deep muscle bruise in her thigh. She is expected to return to the lineup this week. Stefani is currently sitting at 13 goals and five assists for the year.

According to Beck, the sophomore leadership on this freshman-dominated team has been outstanding.

"The sophomores have taken the freshman under their wings and really pushed them along this season," he said.

This year's five sophomores are Joelle Thompson, Molly Hicks, Becky Grinnell, Kelly Netzel and Katie Stonecypher.

Freshman making major contributions, especially the last few weeks include midfielder Dawn Vickers, and Jennifer Mueller and Megan Lorang on the defensive side of the field.

In addition, goalkeeper Katie Mical has had an outstanding run thus far, giving up just eight goals in 11 matches, giving her a goals per game average of under one.

Hicks was named Athlete of the Week for the week ending Sept. 29. As Co-captain and anchor of the defense, Hicks has been extremely efficient all year long.

Men's golf

The College of Lake County golf team concluded their conference season last week finishing third in the Skyway Conference.

CLC accumulated 18 points in conference play, behind Elgin with 19 and Moraine Valley with 22.

"I thought we were the second best team in the conference, but there were a couple of cases where we didn't do very well," said Coach Larry Leon. "We didn't defend our home course very well, and we finished fourth at Moraine Valley the following day."

With poor conditions for their home conference match at White Deer Run, the team finished third. The next day CLC placed fourth at the Skyway meet hosted by Moraine Valley.

Although the team finished third, four Lancer golfers finished in the top-10 in conference standing and were named to the all-conference team.

Kurt Kubicek finished third in the conference with a 78.5 average for 18 holes. Alex Hofeldt finished sixth with a 79.5 average. Derek Hartmann came in ninth with a 79.8 average and Shawn Decker finished 10th in the Skyway Conference with an average of 80.

Next on the agenda are regionals, which will be played at Prairie View Golf Course in Byron on Oct. 5-6.

The team has already played the course once before and will play a practice round in preparation.

"We're all capable of shooting in the 70's. The team has had a chance to play the course twice, so they should know it (the course) fairly well," said Leon.

Of the 15 teams competing in the regional, the lowest score will qualify for the national competition held in Phoenix in May of 2003. In addition, the 10 lowest individual scores will also qualify for nationals.

According to Leon, the winning team usually finishes around 300, while qualifying individuals shoot in the mid-70s.

Last year, Kubicek qualified for the national competition with a 79 in the first round and an 84 in the second.

Athletes of the Week

Men's Soccer

Playing the right side on defense, men's soccer player Jose Castro stopped several scoring opportunities against Prairie State. On offense, he also distributed the ball beautifully while playing safe and risk-free soccer.

Women's Soccer

Molly Hicks earned the honor this week. The sophomore co-captain anchored the defense and has been extremely efficient all year. Her play was a big factor in a 2-2 tie with Elgin, a 3-0 victory over Moraine Valley and a 1-0 loss to national power Harper. Her efforts put the Lancers into a tie for the Skyway Conference lead.

AREA FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Denham, Bees put sting into North Chicago

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

Whenever North Chicago running back Torris Childs touched the ball, the Zion players had the look as if they wished he was still suited up in a Zee-Bee uniform.

Point well taken. Childs, a junior who transferred to North Chicago from Zion this year, did impress his former faithful (and teammates) in dashing for 130 yards on 16 carries.

Of course, Zion would welcome back the All-conference tailback in a heartbeat. But this team is doing just fine without him.

One big reason—they have a star running back of their own—Marcus Denham.

"This is your game," said one of the Zion coaches to Denham during a timeout and the Bees driving for the eventual game-winning score that resulted in a wild 30-26 comeback from behind victory over the arch-rival Warhawks.

Denham, exhausted and playing much of the second half with nagging cramps in his legs, certainly didn't disappoint. He only upstaged his counterpart, Childs, by rumbling for 208 yards on 22 carries. Trailing 26-16 with 10:29 left in the game, Demetreus Boyd picked off a Chris Calhoun pass. Three plays later, Denham dashed in from 17 yards to cut the deficit to 26-23 with 5:32 left.

"Marcus played this game like he really wanted it," said Bees Head Coach Gary Bereiter. "Give all of our guys credit. Trailing 18-9 at the half, they didn't throw in the towel. We kind of wish we still had Torris (Childs). But we have Marcus Denham instead, which is pretty darn good too."

After Denham's score, Zion caught North Chicago totally off guard when Rickey Martinez recovered the ensuing on-sides kick.

"We definitely had some things going our way," added Bereiter. "But our guys just buckled down and played strong in the second half, just like they've been all season."

Things did go Zion's way. Case in point—after going in motion, wide receiver Alex Morrison slipped and fell to the turf. But still, he was able to get up and get behind the defender, enabling him to haul in a 31-yard strike from quarterback Kyle Grimes for what turned out to be the game-winner with 3:52 remaining in regulation.

"That was pretty wild," said Bereiter. "He was supposed to streak down the sidelines but fell down and still got up and got ahead of the secondary."

North Chicago and Childs had one last possession for a game-winning score. Actually two.

But two passes with under two minutes left slipped through the fingertips of Warhawk receiver Josh Franklin. Zion's Nick Peroutka had deflected a pass attempt, setting up what turned out to be a fourth-and-seven situation on what turned out to be North Chicago's final offensive play.

"This was a huge win for us," said Bereiter. "North Chicago and Zion have a great rivalry."

Grimes finished the game 7-for-19 for 134 yards, including scoring strikes to MacArthur White (2 catches, 70 yards) and Morrison (2 catches, 56 yards).

Quentin Braswell (5 carries, 24 yards) scored the second Zion touchdown while Ben Larcholey was credited with a safety on a botched snap that sailed over the Warhawk punter in the second quarter.

Also on defense, Jimel Denham, Marcus' brother, deflected a second quarter pass while Mike DeGrazio, and Marcus Denham recovered fumbles.

Mr. Robinson's neighborhood

Good teams find a way to win. And while it might be in the middle of the soft of its schedule, so to speak, sustaining momentum is always important, especially with the playoffs about a month away.

The Carmel Corsairs have found that momentum time and time again. The offense was stagnant and took 24 minutes of football to get going in a season-opening victory over Loyola.

Well, Carmel got another good gutcheck last week when it fell behind 13-0 at halftime at home against Notre Dame. But again, these guys woke up in the second half en route to a 21-13 victory over the Dons. Carmel, the top-ranked team in the state in Class 6A, improved to 5-0 overall and 5-0 in the Catholic Metro White Conference.

The flashy Josh Robinson has been a pleasant surprise, especially in the last two weeks. Against the Dons, the senior rumbled for 137 yards on just 11 carries, most of that coming in the second half. Running mate Brandon Ziemann complemented him with 117 yards on 22 carries. His night included what turned out to be the game-winning score, a 2-yard plunge with 3:29 left in the game.

Before that, it was Robinson's show.

On the third play from scrimmage to open the second half, Robinson dashed 57 yards down the sideline to cut the deficit to 13-7. That score ignited the offense. And defense as well, holding Notre Dame to just three first down and 65 yards of offense during the second 24 minutes.

Carmel travels to Lane Stadium to face Gordon Tech Oct. 5 at 11 a.m. That will be followed by a home date with Benet Academy Oct. 11: These are two teams Carmel has had their way with in the past.

Vernon Hills outlasts Grant

"We just had too many mistakes," Grant coach Mark Barczak lamented.

Grant fell to 3-2 overall and 0-1 in the NSC Prairie with a 21-6 loss at home to Vernon Hills. Next up for Grant is a key rivalry game with Round Lake away Oct. 4. Game time for the neighborhood bragging rights and playoff hopes clash is 7:30 p.m.

The Panthers feature the one-back offense of QB Scott Yingling and several talented wide receivers. A sophomore, Yingling is coming off a 238-yard, 20-for-42 passing game effort against Wauconda. Many Grant players took in that contest.

"Vernon Hills is a solid football team, but it was only 7-0 at the half," Barczak said.

The Cougars' (3-1, 1-0) first half score came on a 41-yard pass from Noah Borden to Keith Heerdegen in the second quarter.

Vernon Hills scored on a 10-yard run by Ryan Ellis for a 14-0 lead and extended it to 21-0 on a Kevin Rehadin 30-yard interception return.

Nick Fain scored Grant's only TD on a 28-yard pass from John Gier.

Cats bomb Stevenson

Backup running back John Haas continues to impress Wildcat fans. In arguably one of the biggest games of the year, it was Haas and the Cats who put a 48-21 hurtin' on visiting Stevenson. Haas finished with 189 yards on 13 carries and scored three touchdowns.

Haa's running helped do what Cats Head Coach Randy Kucyewski had hoped for—control the clock and keep the Pats offense off the field.

Haas' running mate Kevin Fontana did some damage as well, dashing for 158 yards on 32 carries and two scores. Dan DeRose also got into the action, snaring a 9-yard scoring strike from Chris Jansen.

Dave Regel also kicked two field goals, the first from 22 yards and the second from 36.

For the game, Libertyville gained 400 yards of total offense.

McHenry 42, Grayslake 3

Banged up on defense, it showed as the Rams lost their second consecutive game, a 42-3 decision to Fox Valley power McHenry.

The Rams opened the contest with their best drive of the evening, down to the Warrior 12-yard line. They had to settle for a Chad Kruger 30-yard field goal. After that, it was all McHenry, which piled up over 400 yards of offense to just 100 for Grayslake.

Ryan Glynn was the Rams' leading rusher with 31 tough yards on six carries.

The Rams (2-3, 2-3) have another tough assignment this week when they travel to Lake Zurich Oct. 4 for another FVC contest. Kick-off is slated for 7:45 p.m. It will be a homecoming of sorts for Rams Head Coach Vito Andriola, who used to coach at Lake Zurich. Hopefully, a Ram victory will also accompany it.

Chalk one up for Buhs

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

Rules infractions. Making sure every team captain has the team's money turned in for the week. Endless computer work, not to mention the ongoing recruiting of players and teams for the league. Such is the life of an American Poolplayers Association league operator.

It's okay though. J.R. Buhs is used to pool. It's been in his blood for years, dating back to his days of playing for the APA initially in Rantoul (Ill.) and then South Dakota.

Buhs and his wife Lisa currently live in Pleasant Prairie, Wis. When not at home or at work, Buhs keeps busy with his APA franchise in Kenosha.

"I really like the APA. I think it's the fairest and biggest league in America. There are a lot of taverns in Kenosha and I thought the interest would be there as far as playing competitive pool was concerned. I called the league office (in St. Louis) and told them I wanted to start a franchise. That's how it all started."

It's been two years now since Buhs initiated a 9-ball league under the APA. He started his franchise with four teams playing out of Papa Gus in Salem, Wis.

Kenosha was added to the list a year later. Buhs started with six 9-ball teams playing out of The Barn, located at 2114 52nd St. in Kenosha.

From there, the number of teams stayed pretty steady. The fall session that followed, Buhs saw his league grow to eight teams playing on Tuesday while four competed on Thursday, all out of The Barn. Buhs also had four teams playing on Sunday's out of Cruisers off Sheridan Rd. in Beach Park.

"I was really excited after that first session (in Kenosha)," said Buhs. "A couple of teams fell off because of personal reasons or people having to work. But there always seemed to be another team that would jump in."

Hence, that's why some teams started playing on Thursday.

The spring session, which ran approximately from Jan. until May, saw the franchise grow to 30 teams overall, much to Buhs' delight.

As for that spring session, 10 teams played out of the Barn and two out of Hollywood Spirits, also in Kenosha, on Tuesday night. There were six teams on Thurs. and eight Sunday teams playing out of Cruisers. There was also a six-team, 8-ball league playing out of The Barn on Tuesday and Thursday.

The 2002 summer session was again steady, with teams playing out of The Barn on Tues. and Thurs. and four out of Cruisers on Sunday.

"The summer is a little slower, generally speaking," said Buhs. "Everyone wants to be outside. But I think the base is there. I'm confident that I'll have enough teams every session as to keep the league going. After the summer session, people would come up eager to know when the next session would start."

Kenosha's Don Wickersheim particularly likes the camaraderie of the APA.

League Operator J.R. Buhs and his wife Lisa have been the driving forces in starting and keeping the American Poolplayers Association 9-ball and 8-ball leagues going in Kenosha. —File photo

"My roommate played pool with and knew J.R. We called him and came over the check things out," said Wickersheim, who has been playing in the APA for just under a year now. "I'm used to playing straight pool, so getting used to the 'slop' counting, it took a little while. But it's been great. Our team, Band-Aid, took first during the spring session. We also took first on the Sunday 8-ball league playing out of The Main Event over the summer."

Camaraderie is just one of the many things that make playing in the APA a worthwhile experience for the amateur poolplayer.

Buhs' leagues just finished the summer session. Last week started the new fall session. Both 9-ball and 8-ball are going on Tuesday and Thursday out of The Barn.

Buhs said that he's trying something new as well this fall.

"I'm going to try and start a 'double-jeopardy' travel league on Sunday," said Buhs. "That's where teams will play both 8-ball and 9-ball against each other on the same day. Our tentative starting date is Oct. 20."

Any teams or individuals interested in playing for Buhs can contact him at 262-697-7867.

At the end of each session, there are two weeks of playoffs involving the top-3 teams, plus one wild card selected at random by Buhs. Ultimately, the top-2 teams earn trophies while the champion of that session gets a berth in the regional qualifier with the rights to go the Las Vegas in August on the line. If a team makes it to Vegas, monetary rewards are endless, not to mention the experience. The APA assists the top team with some of the expenses. The cost to play is $5 per player on each league night.

Winker Memorial race Oct. 5-6

By PAUL KUYAWA
Wilmot Correspondent

Get ready for something different at Wilmot Speedway when the first annual Al Winker Memorial race pushes off on Oct. 5-6. The two-day show will feature several different items on the menu: fully inverted heat races with a minimum of $3,000 to win on Sunday; a live band and pig roast; and, Brad Doty will be on hand to sign autographs do commentary and meet with the fans. All the guests and competitors are in for a real treat.

The race format will be something to that of the Knoxville Nationals. A point system will be used for the Saturday night's races to determine the Sunday lineup.

Saturday's show will also feature a full show for the Sprint Cars, IMCA Modifieds and Hobby Stocks. Sprint car heat races will be fully inverted on Saturday, like at Knoxville. The drivers will be award points so it is of the most importance for all sprint car drivers to not only qualify well it will also will force them to race their hardest in the heat races. All main events in the sprint car division will be lined up based on points.

Sunday's race will also offer a new twist. There will be qualifying dashes to determine the main event starting lineup. The dashes will be known as the 'Ride the Rail' dashes, a nickname that the late Al Winker used. The finishing order in the RTR Dashes will set the line up for all main events.

"I think with this type of format it will make every driver give it there all during all qualifying races," said Promoter Marie Winker. "This should make for some terrific racing on the third-mile Wilmot oval. Couple this with the fact that Sunday's A-main pays $3,000 to win and $300 to start, it should bring in a full field of local drivers plus some drivers from different racing associations and different areas of the Midwest."

Former World of Outlaw Superstar and TNN commentator Brad Doty will be at Wilmot to sign autographs, promote his book, Still Wide Open, and visit with the guests attending the race. Following the Saturday night program, there will be a pig roast and the band Boys and Toys will play for everyone's enjoyment.

On Saturday, spectator gates will open at 3 p.m. and the pit gates will open at 1. Time trials will begin at 4 with racing to follow.

On Sunday, the grandstand gates will open at 2 p.m. with the pit gates opening at noon. Racing will then begin at 3.

Winker Motorsports will bring the curtain down on the 2002 season with its inaugural Awards Banquet. The banquet will be held at the South Hills Country Club, located in Racine, WI on Highway I-94. Again, for information and tickets contact Winker Motorsports at 262-694-0656.

Debra Marie Ganek (nee Jennings)

Completed her earthly journey, Saturday, Sept. 28, 2002 at a youthful 48 years of age. A hobbyist astronomer, Northern Illinois weather spotter, she is now an eternal part of the infinite heavens she so loved and admired. Born in Chicago, on March 25, 1954, she is the middle child and youngest daughter of Jackson Theodore Jennings and Freda Maxine (nee Hudnall) Jennings of Summersville, W. Va. Raised in Lake Zurich, she is a 1967 tornado survivor and a high school cheerleader and 1972 graduate at Lake Zurich High School. Professionally she was a pharmaceutical technician.

In addition to her loving parents, Debi is survived by her husband of 20 years, Gary Thaddeus Ganek of Ingleside, and his daughter, Bridget (Eric J.) Dauphin of Mt. Carroll; grandchildren, Lindsay Elizabeth and Lauren Jae Dauphin. Debi's 97-year-old grandmother, Mary Gertrude (nee Epperly) Jennings of Cunard, W.Va., an older brother, Charles Keith (Nancy Clare (nee Brown) Jennings of Indian Creek and their children, Keith David and Allison Clare; one older sister, Regina Lee (nee Jennings) (Lee) Small, and her children, Jim Cline, Tracey Heather (nee Cline) Themer and Sarah Nicole Castillo, all of Harvard; two younger brothers, Jackson Theodore Jennings III of Fox Lake and Joseph Lawrence Jennings and his children, Kaylea Marie and Tyler Joseph, all of Fox Lake. She will also be missed by several aunts, uncles, cousins and countless friends.

Memorial visitation was held Oct. 3 from 6-9 p.m. at The Symonds Lakes Funeral Home & Crematory, 111 W. Belvidere Rd., in Grayslake. (A Father's Thoughts)

Within this maze of right and wrong, of good and ill, of pain and son, the unseen guides of heaven tread, to lead the souls who will be lead. Unknown to us these guides will stand, to turn our feet and take our hand, to lead us on the upward road, to cheer our hearts and lift our load.

Dorothy Keene Allen

Age 93, a longtime Libertyville philanthropist, died of congestive heart failure in Condell Medical Center on Tuesday, Sept. 17, 2002. She was born in Chicago and attended Francis Parker School before living with her mother in Manhattan, where she earned high school and junior college degrees from Briarcliffe Junior College. The spirited and athletic young woman returned to the Chicago area to live with her grandparents in their Libertyville farm estate. During that time she nurtured her love of the arts, studying oil painting and sculpture at the American Academy of Art in Chicago. She also developed a lifelong relationship with her grandparents' farm, known to family members for decades as "The Place." It was there that she raised her children and, after her grandparents died, managed the farm and its 30 acres.

"The Place was a huge part of who she was," said her son, Frank. "She was the spirit that held it together." It was on the farm and in the country, as Libertyville was known then, that she developed a love of nature and the environment. In 1979, she purchased a 100-foot windmill to generate electricity for the farm because she thought the power company's rates were too high. And for years, Mrs. Allen supported through donations and was a board member at the Condell Medical Center; which her grandmother helped found in 1925. "She was a woman who put money where her beliefs were," said her attorney, Charles D. Fox IV. "She was the most principled woman I ever met. She had strong beliefs on what was right and wrong and didn't hesitate to tell you very gently and firmly."

In addition to her son, she is survived by a daughter, Tamzen A. Talman; two other sons, Bruce and Kim; eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. A memorial service will be held on Sunday, Oct. 20, from 3-5 p.m. at the Wenban Funeral Home, 320 E. Vine Ave., in Lake Forest.

County now 2 parcels away from complete river trail

Lake County's Forest Preserves Land Preservation and Acquisition Committee approved purchase of a 1.5-acre parcel along the Des Plaines River Trail in Vernon Township for $200,706.

The acquisition is contingent on approval by the Forest Preserve Finance and Administrative Committee and the county board on Oct. 8. If approved, this new purchase will mark the 22nd acquisition made using funds from the successful, voter-approved November 2000 referendum, and increase the total acres of Forest Preserves in Lake County to 24,340 acres.

The 1.5-acre trail corridor parcel is located on the west side of the river across from the Ryerson Conservation Area and is part of the planned extension of the Des Plaines River Trail. It is part of an effort undertaken by the Forest Preserve District in 1997 to acquire 15 parcels, ranging in size from 0.1 to 3.7 acres to provide a route for the Des Plaines River Trail. So far, all but two of the parcels have been secured for the trail.

The purchase provides a route for the planned Greenway and extends the southern section of the Des Plaines River Trail, the backbone of a planned countywide network of over 100 miles of regional trails. The 7,727-acre DPR Greenway, a band of Forest Preserves that stretches from the Illinois-Wisconsin state line to Cook County, preserves 88 percent of the rivers' banks and currently includes 29 miles of the planned 33-mile multi-purpose DPR Trail.

*Free animal ads suggest that there is something wrong with the animal, or that it has no value.

*Some people who respond to these free animal ads are imposters and are only concerned about making a profit and not the animal's welfare.

*Charging a fee to a potential pet owner confirms the responsibility of pet ownership for an entire lifetime of that pet. For more information, please contact the Humane Society.

Address Resume Problems Carefully

By Scott T. Fleischmann

Just as the IRS looks for specific problems on tax returns, good recruiters look for problems on a resume. Poor grammar, misspelled words, periods of unemployment are some of the problems that are most often identified.

Lucky candidates will have a chance to address those problems with a recruiter. Those who are not quite as fortunate will be eliminated from the qualification process without ever knowing the reason. Let's explore those problems and how to prevent them.

Grammatical Errors. The first step in eliminating this problem is to get a word processor that has a good grammar checker. However, these tools will not eliminate the problem. They will pick up most obvious errors but subtle error, that can change meaning, may be overlooked. Therefore, make sure that you read your resume several times for these errors.

Another option is to have a friend read it to make sure that it makes sense to them. Ask them to read a small section and then explain it to you in their own words. If they accurately describe your intent, you can be sure that it is accurate. Since they did not write the document, they are more likely to be looking at it without making assumptions that you might make because you know the circumstances.

Spelling Errors. The solutions to this problem is much like the grammatical errors. Get a word processor with a good spell checker, re-read your work for errors, and have someone else read it. However, this problem has a unique twist. Correctly spelled words are overlooked even if they are not the correct word. As an example, I once saw a resume from someone who claimed to have supervised a moist manufacturing facility. When we discussed that task we found that "moist" should have been "joist."

Employment Gaps. This problem is best handled proactively. Use a cover letter to explain the circumstances but do not use excuses. If you lost your job in a downsizing, say that. Employment professionals understand that downsizing is a part of life in 21st century America. But then tell them how you handled that situation. "I decided to use this opportunity to explore a possible consulting career." "I decided to use this time to find the job that best matched my skills." Or, "I chose to work part time in retail to support myself, while working full time on my job search" are all possible answers. The goal is to give them the accurate information on how you handled a difficult situation with a positive attitude.

Unfinished Coursework. Again, this is best handled truthfully in the cover letter. Explain the circumstances that caused you to leave that work unfinished. If you have plans to complete it, state those plans.

Ultimately, the best advice is to have an employment professional review your resume. If you have a friend who is a recruiter, ask him or her to review it for you. If not, ask friends and family if they know someone who can help you. A resume writing service can also help, but they charge for their services.

PRINCE
Hello Everyone! My name is Prince (I'm the one on the left) and I guess my name might give you an idea of how I am treated by Mom and Dad Hamil. Mom rescued me from a shelter eight years ago this month, and she does not really know my age. Boy, did I find great parents! You might see me walking about town, on a leash of course, with Mom or Dad pulling a red wagon behind. This is for when I just cannot walk anymore, or at least that is what they think! I am definitely looking forward to cooler weather. Happy Autumn.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice of Proposed Changes In Scheduled Rates

Illinois-American Water Company has filed with the Illinois Commerce Commission proposed changes in its rates and charges for general water service, general wastewater service, public fire protection service, and private fire protection service, in all districts served by the Company.

These changes involve an adjustment in the rates charged for metered water service, wastewater service, public fire protection service, and private fire protection service.

A copy of the proposed schedules may be inspected by any interested party at any of our Illinois-American offices.

Customers should be advised that the Commission may alter or amend the rates or conditions of service after hearings held pursuant to 83 IL Admin Code 200 and may increase or decrease individual rates in amounts other than those requested by the Company.

Illinois Commerce Commission procedures for intervention are contained in its Rules of Practice and include the timely filing of a verified petition to intervene with the Chief Clerk of the Commission and service of the petition upon this corporation, to the Commission's Administrative Law Judge, staff witnesses, and all other parties. This petition must contain the information required by the Rules of Practice.

If you are interested in this matter, you may obtain additional information either directly from Illinois-American Water Company, 300 N. Water Works Road, Belleville, IL 62223, or by addressing the Chief Clerk of the Illinois Commerce Commission, 527 East Capitol Avenue, Springfield, Illinois 62701.

TURF & TREE

noying phone calls.

Jim has been in the lawn care business for 25 years. He started working with his dad in DuPage County for a company called Liqui-Grain, which recently was bought out by Scotts. Jim then moved out to Antioch, where he was for four years. He remained there until business grew, and more space was needed.

Now located in Wadsworth, he has plenty of room for future growth. Turf & Tree serves clients all over Lake County including Lake Villa, Antioch, Gurnee and Grayslake.

Jim and his staff of four employees are all licensed for pesticide use and Jim is a certified arborist as well. When caring for the lawn, it is easy to neglect the trees. But they contribute so much to the overall landscape that it is well worth it to take care of them. Jim can point out areas where a tree might be in trouble and provide services to help correct any problems. Of course, prevention is the best medicine, and Jim can help in that area as well.

In addition to residential work, Turf & Tree does commercial projects. Some of those projects include work for the Village of Lake Zurich, the City of Chicago and O'Hare Airport.

While Jim and his team do not mow or do additional planting, they will help the homeowner maintain and beautify what is already there, and help keep those pesky dandelions from invading the lawn in spring. For more information on services offered by Turf & Tree, call 847-731-2035.

Jim Hoder and his wife Karen of Turf & Tree M.D., Inc. offers services similar to larger lawn care companies but with more personalized service.

Inspect heating systems before winter

How can you be sure your furnace is operating at peak efficiency and providing maximum comfort?

The only way to be certain is to have it checked this fall by a certified, licensed heating, ventilation and air conditioning (HVAC) technician.

While choosing "the right" contractor may take some time and effort, it could pay big dividends this winter when your furnace will be put to the ultimate test. Here are some tips that could help guide you in selecting a contractor.

Most states require licensing, but not all states require certification, so be sure that any contractor you contact can document that he's a certified HVAC technician. Ask the dealer if the technician is NATE (North American Technician Excellence) certified.

NATE certification requires testing for knowledge and proficiency.

- Inquire about his training and experience and his membership in contractor associations. Also verify his reputation with the local Better Business Bureau. They should know if there are homeowner complaints about his work.

- Request references. Former customers should be eager to give you a candid report card on the contractor's work.

- Ask the contractor if he carries liability and worker's compensation insurance. This insurance will protect you in the event he accidentally damages your system or sustains an injury on the job.

- If possible, select a contractor who has been factory-trained to work on your brand heating system.

A room for all SEASONS

These days we all want to feel part of nature whenever possible, so it is no wonder that the Victorian conservatory is enjoying a revival. We love the way this glass-enclosed space connects us with the outdoors and lets us enjoy our gardens year-round.

It is easy to understand the attraction of spring's drifts of daffodils, midsummer's blooms and autumn's changing leaves, but homeowners are often surprised that the conservatory is such a wonderful observation post during the winter months.

"Once you own one of these glassed-in environments, you discover that even inclement weather is wonderful," explains Alan Stein, architectural director of Tanglewood Conservatories. "Our clients often say they never realized how beautiful a wintery garden is until they added a conservatory to their homes. Tree branches and trunks, shrubs, grasses, arbors and urns all acquire an otherworldly beauty when covered by snow or ice."

Energy Efficiency

Some homeowners love dining in a conservatory lit by candles and moonlight, says Stein, while others find it utterly glamorous for parties. Still, most people simply like it as a place to get together as a family or relax.

But can a glass room truly be comfortable year-round?

The answer is yes, whether you live in southern California or New Hampshire. Glass is specified for top energy efficiency, and the tile or stone floors commonly used in conservatories are excellent for both radiant and passive solar heating. In hot climates, ceiling fans, window blinds, skylights that open and exterior roof sunscreens will prevent excessive heat build-up, and just like the tile and stone floors work to conserve heat in cold climates, they will store cool night breezes and air conditioning in hot climates.

"Looking at the intricate fretwork of glass

Here Comes The Sun —Conservatories designed as four-season rooms are popular. Once intended to protect tender plants, they are now people places and used as retreats, family rooms, party sites, guest suites, and even home offices.

and elaborate architectural details characteristic of conservatories, it is difficult to think of them as anything but a beautiful confection," remarks Stein. "But in the hands of a good architect and conservatory specialists, they can absolutely increase a home's energy efficiency. This is a talent that's more appreciated than ever. People are looking for ways to decrease the nation's dependency on foreign oil, and this is a step in the right direction."

Location, Location

The location of the conservatory has a lot to do with its energy efficiency. Stein, who often makes as many as a dozen visits to a site before a project is finished, points out that a southern exposure is best for capturing the most daylight, but it may be too hot in warm regions. The additional cooling needed could be costly. An eastern exposure will ease cooling needs by providing sun in the morning and shade the rest of the day, but clearly this is not a good idea for anybody who wants to retreat to the conservatory for after-work enjoyment.

Western exposure, on the other hand, will bring in afternoon sun, and in many parts of the country this will be so harsh that it must be shaded. Northern exposure will provide low levels of light and partial shade most of the day. In northern states, this might cause a room to be too cool and damp, but it would be a good idea for southern regions.

Locating a conservatory on an east-west axis in cool regions will provide the highest amount of passive solar heating benefits.

"It is an art locating a conservatory," says Stein. "It has to complement the home, provide a great view of the grounds, suit the family's lifestyle, and be as practical as it is beautiful."

FUTURE PLANS

the Tatton

Simple, yet statuesque, the Tatton (B2204) is two stories of open living area. This beautiful ranch-styled home has numerous windows across the front, which accent the covered porch. The Tatton has 1,186 square feet on the first level that is open and ideal for a large family. The second floor has 1,055 square feet for the bedrooms.

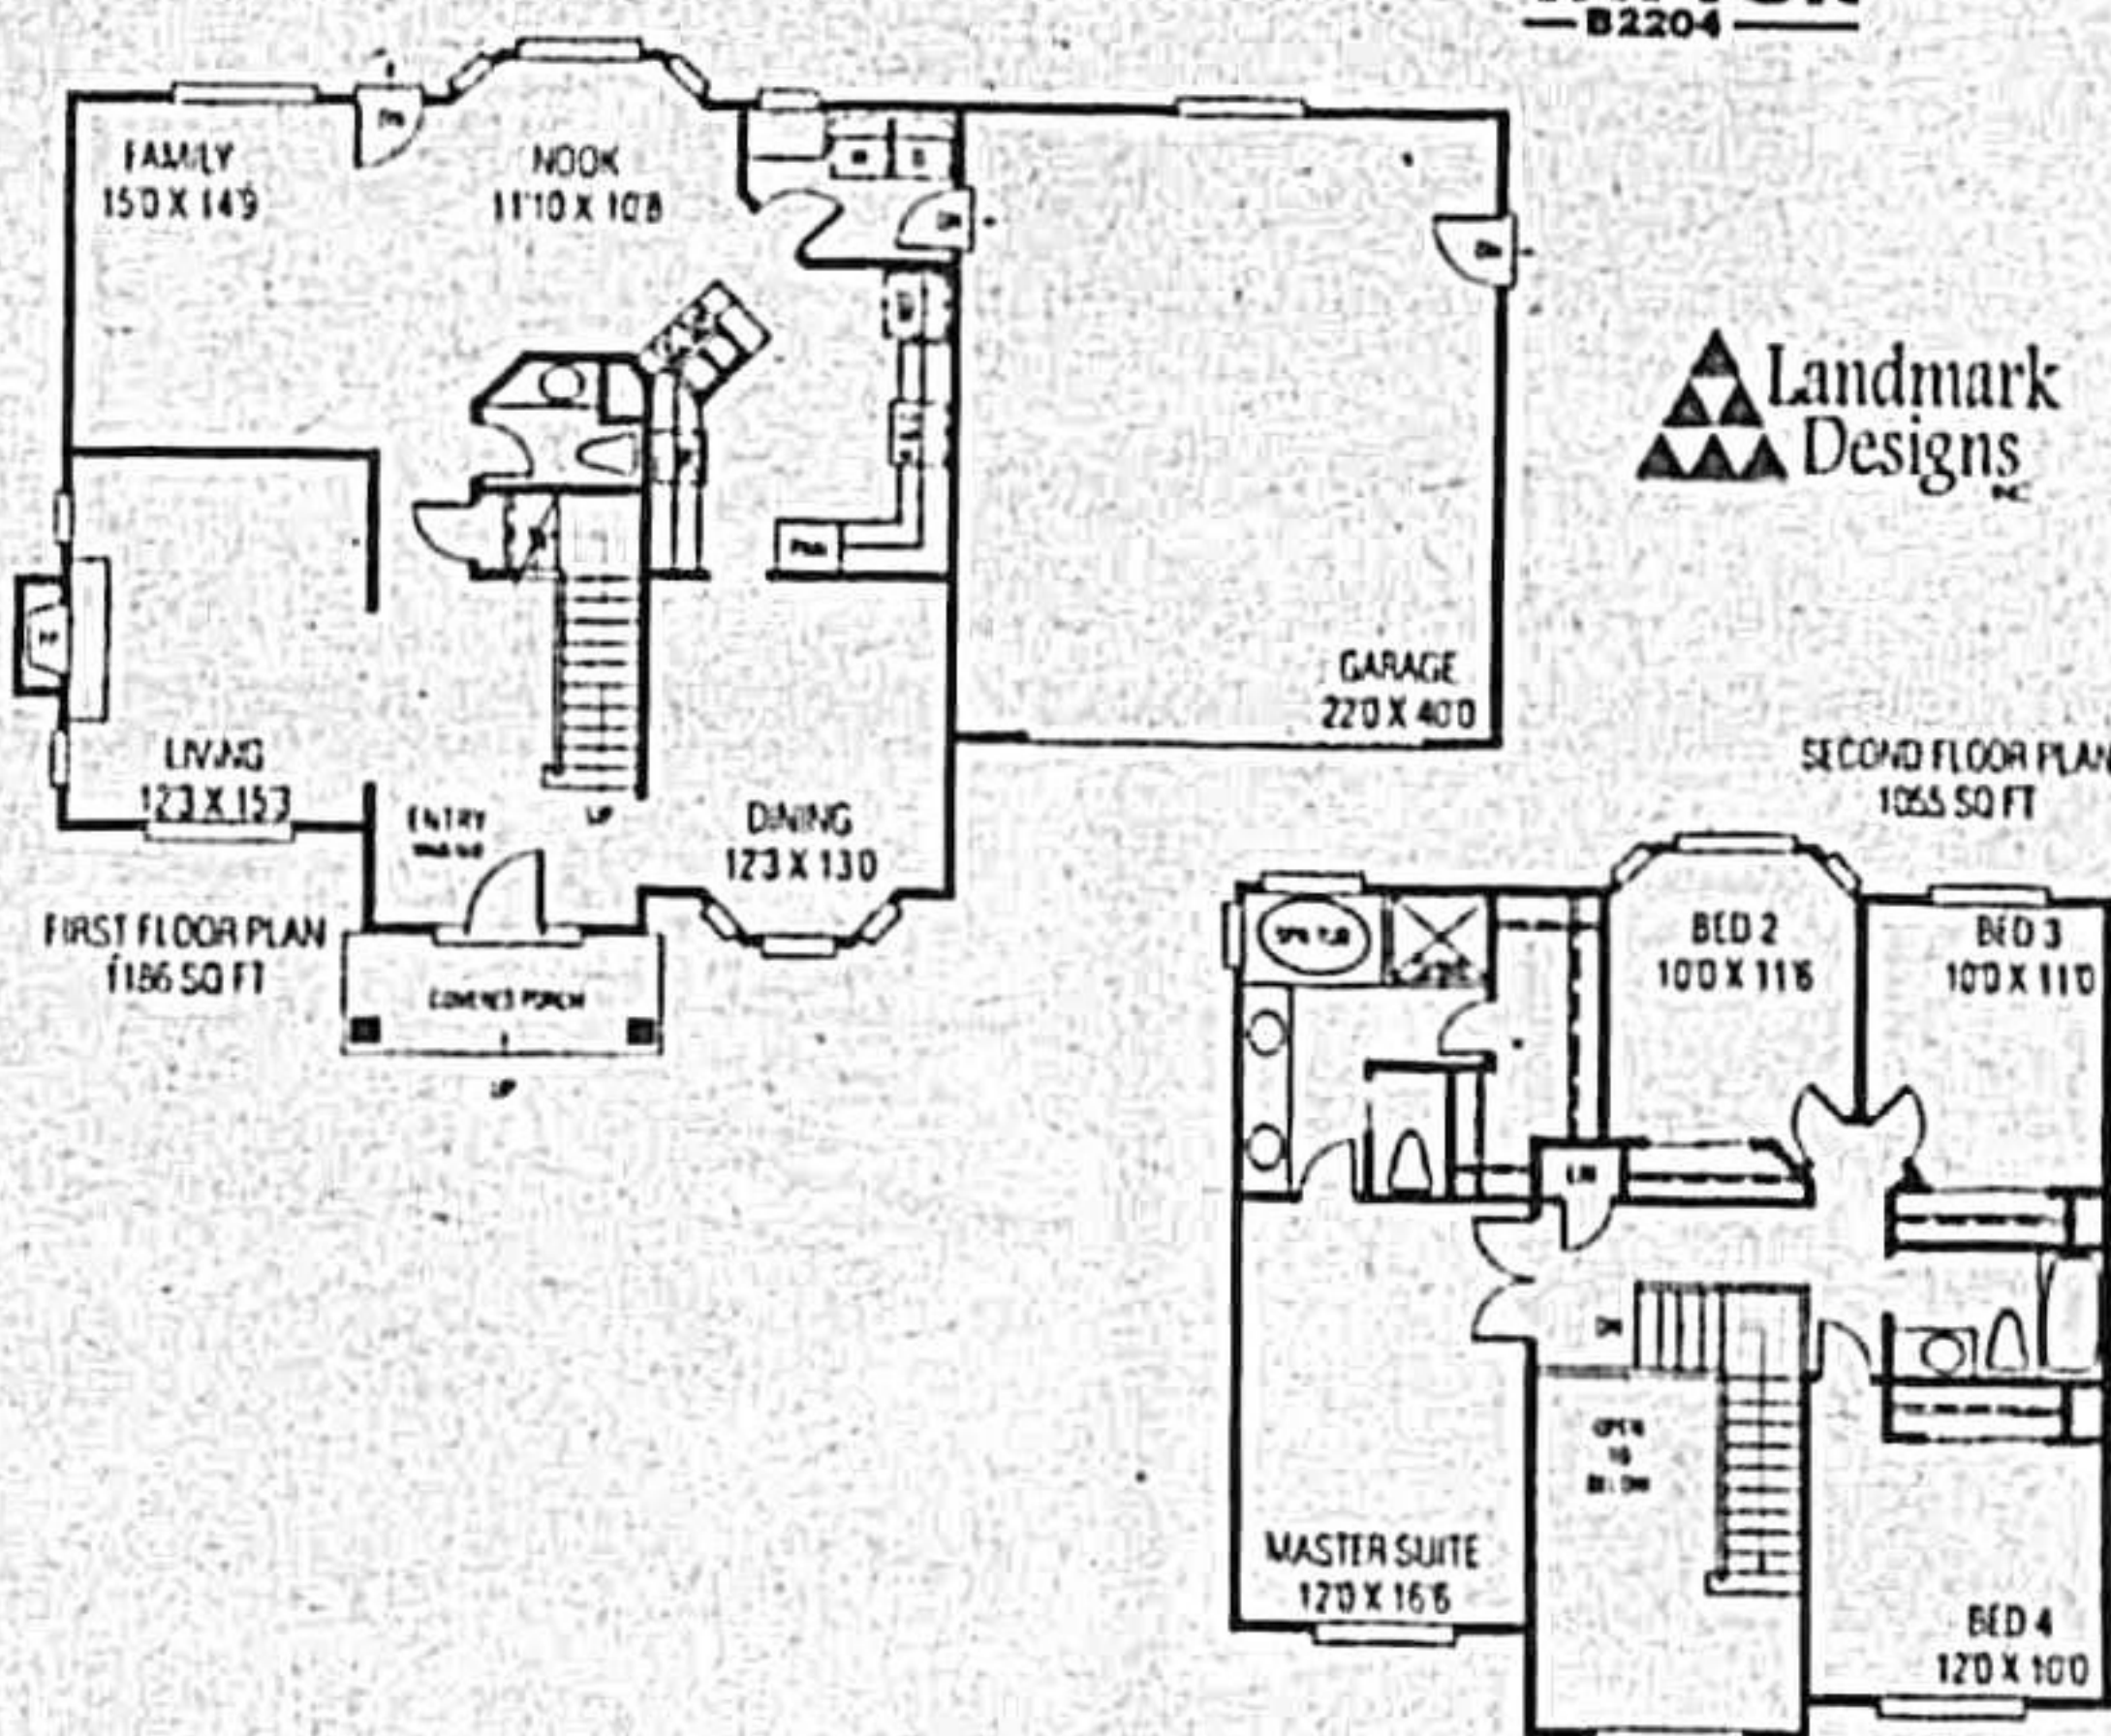

The front door of the Tatton has windows that surround the frame, inviting guests to enter. To the right of the entry is the formal dining room with its beautifully conceived bay windows. It opens into the kitchen, which occupies the left rear corner of the home. The L-shaped cabinets end in a pantry, while on the opposite wall is a built-in dishwasher, sink and an eating bar facing the nook.

Bay windows bathe the open nook with light and add to the spacious feeling of the nook/family room combination. A large picture window in the family room overlooks the backyard. A door opening to the backyard is between the nook and family room.

To the left of the entry is the formal living room with a large fireplace on the sidewall. Windows on each side of the fireplace and one in the front overlooking the street provide natural light for this formal area.

Up the stairs to the second floor finds three bedrooms and the master suite. Bedrooms 2, 3 and 4 each have wall closets and easy access to a full bath with a tub. A linen closet for all the bedrooms is located conveniently in the hall.

Entering the master suite through French doors finds a large open suite with the master bath and closet at the rear of the Tatton. The master bath has "his and her" sinks, a spa tub, shower and the door to the walk-in closet. While the suite is on the same floor as the other bedrooms, there are privacy guards such as the bath and closet between bedroom 2 and the open area between bedroom 4.

With the way the stairs are located, it would be easy to add a basement should one be needed. It would also be easy to add another space to the garage as it is on the end of the building with a different roofline.

For a study plan, including scaled floor plan(s), elevations, section(s) and an artist rendering, send $24.95 to Landmark Designs, 33127 Saginaw Road E, Cottage Grove, OR 97424. Please specify plan name (TATTON) and the number (B2204). A catalog featuring hundreds of home plans is available for $12.95, or save by ordering both for $29.95. For faster processing, call 1-800-562-1151 or visit our web site at www.landmarkdesigns.com.

Cut your energy costs, help the environment

No matter what the seasons may bring, you can keep your house and electric bill at a more comfortable level and do your part to help the environment. The following are money-saving tips and suggestions from Edison Electric Institute:

- Keep your heating and cooling equipment well-tuned with periodic maintenance by a licensed service representative. Check and clean or replace air filters on your heating and cooling appliance every month and clean the outside condenser coil once a year.
- During the winter, set your thermostat to maintain a temperature of 68°F when the house is occupied and a temperature of 60°F when you are away from home or sleeping. In the summer, set your thermostat to maintain a comfortable temperature of 78°F when the house is occupied and even higher when you are away from the home. A programmable thermostat can do this for you automatically.

- Place lamps and other objects away from the thermostat to reduce false readings.
- Maintain proper air circulation by keeping heating supply registers clear of draperies and furniture.

For more information, contact your electric company.

Energy Facts

Ninety-nine percent of the natural gas consumed in the United States comes from North America, with 88 percent coming from the lower 48 states.

Conjure up a spooktacular Halloween

Whether you're hosting a Halloween party or simply greeting little goblins at your door, you're probably looking for a few new tricks for your treats and a little hocus-pocus for your house. It's no illusion; fun food and atmosphere are a must for this haunting holiday!

"Tricks for your Treats" is an easy to use recipe brochure that offers fun food ideas that all your little ghost and goblins will devour. The tasty treats are guaranteed to disappear before you can say, "Abra-cadabra."

Spooky House Pizza uses refrigerated pizza dough as a base and Hormel Pepperoni for bricks and shingles. More advanced wizards can try Freaky Frankie made from a combination of pepperoni, cheese and crackers. This creepy cuisine snack doubles as a centerpiece.

You can conjure up just the right frightful atmosphere with the magic in your fingertips. Simply log onto www.hormelpepperoni.com/boo to find everything you need from Halloween lighting tips to pumpkin carving templates to costume ideas. This fully animated web site is entertaining as well as helpful. Ghosts and goblins of all ages will enjoy exploring this haunted house from the safety of their own monster mansion.

For a free copy of the new 2002 edition "Tricks for your Treats" recipe brochure, send a SASE to per envelope. Offer good through December 31, 2002, or while supplies last.

Scary snacks for Halloween

Freaky Frankie

Combine cheese, crackers, olives and peppers (we used squeeze cheese to hold things together) to make this fun, edible centerpiece.

Ghoulish Graveyard

Mini French bread loaves are perfect for a graveyard sandwich. Cut the middle section out of the top, stuff with sliced pepperoni and green peppers and squeeze cheese.

Goblin Cheeseball

Use a prepared cheese ball from any grocery store. Shape into a goblin head. Add sliced pepperoni cut into strips for the hair, mushrooms and olives for the eyes and sliced pepperoni and almonds for the teeth and tongue.

Time for deck design, building

Even though the outdoor deck entertaining season is waning, there's still time for fall and early winter construction to get a head start on 2003 outdoor enjoyment. The Santa Barbara umbrella has become a trademark for Lakeland decks. Deck material is so varied that every taste can be accommodated. Owners of this log home chose rustic railing to enclose their deck.

Updated ranch plans find interest today

In the 1950s, ranch homes began their ascent to popularity as an affordable option for post-war, first-time buyers. Since then, ranches have remained a sought-after choice among homeowners, but today's buyers are interested in ranch designs for different reasons, including the ease of single-level living and the openness of these floor plans.

Nature's Ridge, a community of 122 single-family homes in Lindenhurst, is one development offering updated ranch designs to meet the changing needs of today's buyers.

Located at Savage Road, just east of Grass Lake Road in Lindenhurst, Nature's Ridge offers 12 floor plans, including two ranch plans, the Jasmine and the Knollwood. Base-priced from $263,900 to $273,900, the ranch homes have two to three bedrooms, two baths, attached two-car garages and 1,831 to 2,010 square feet.

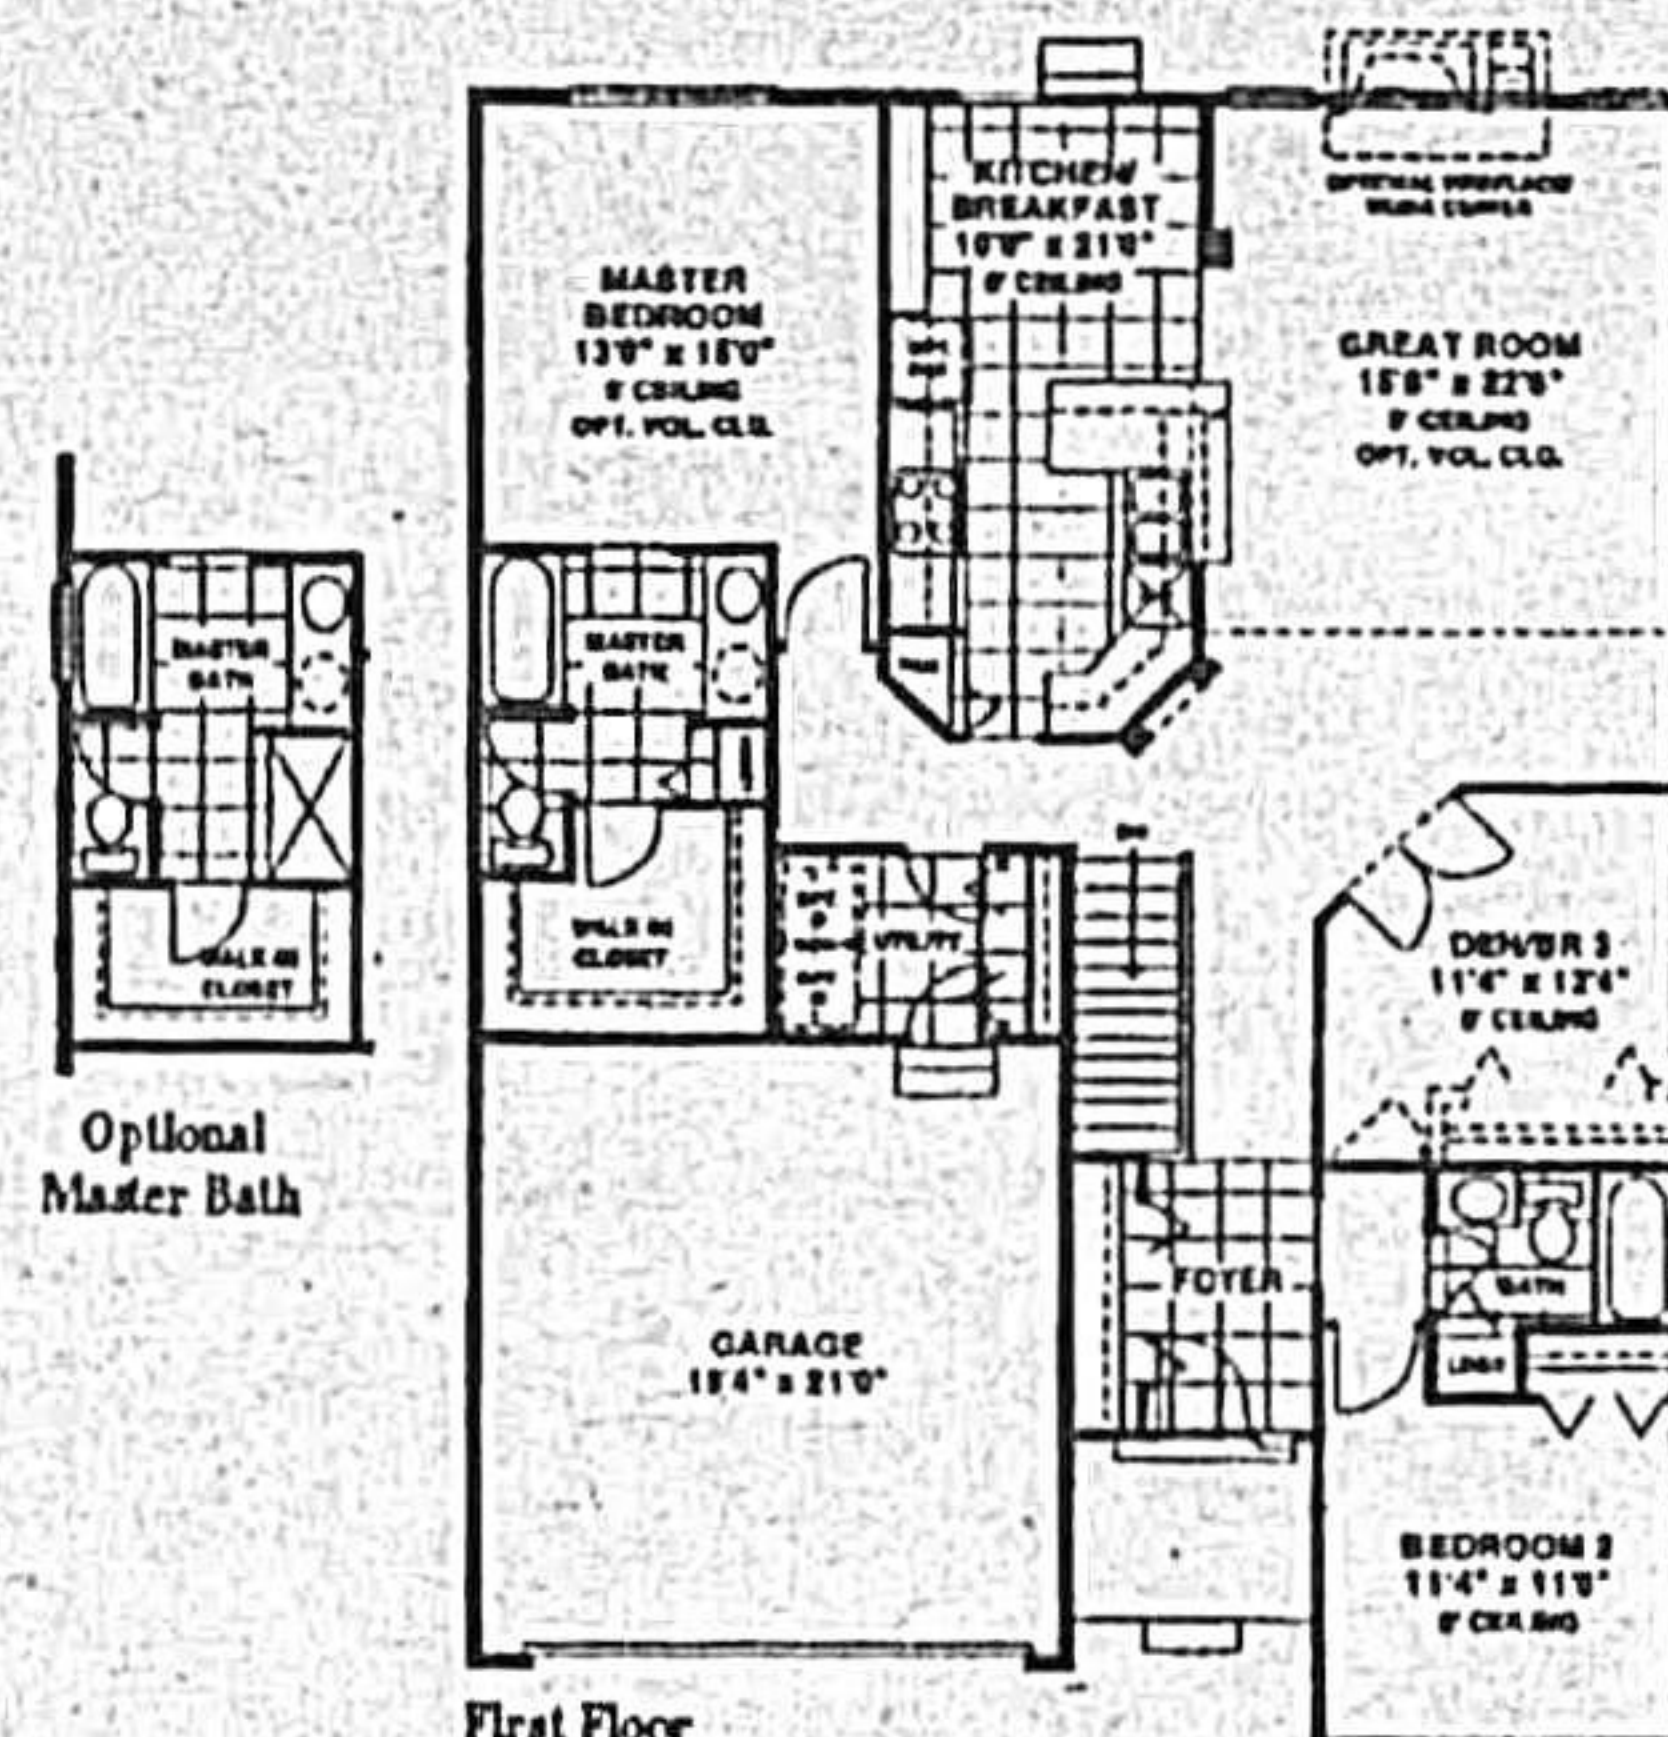

"Most new-construction developments offer one ranch design, if any," said Leon Joffe of Zale Homes. "We decided to include both the Jasmine and Knollwood knowing that all ranch buyers aren't alike. Plus, each home has a number of optional features that buyers can use to customize their space even more."

Priced from $263,900, the Jasmine is a 1,831-square-foot-home with two bedrooms, two baths, a great room, den and kitchen with breakfast area.

At the heart of the home is the great room with volume ceilings, half-walls, an art niche, optional fireplace and access to both the kitchen and den. The open design of the great room facilitates traffic flow throughout the home.

The master suite, adjacent to the kitchen, features a walk-in closet, optional volume ceilings and master bath with linen closet and private water closet. The second bedroom is near the front of the home for increased privacy. A second full bath and laundry room with double-door closet and garage access round out the Jasmine.

Ground floor living is back in style again with modern ranch plans. Some designs aren't inexpensive, but they're popular with buyers who stress openness.

Combine formal atmosphere

Even in an era when a relaxed lifestyle is in vogue, many Lakeland area homeowners opt for a touch of formality in their decorating and furnishing. Combining a formal living room with 'special occasion' dining in one large space leaves room elsewhere for 'easy living' while at the same time providing the home with a custom decorator touch.

Avoid big repair problems by tackling small projects

A home requires attention to ensure its beauty. Two of the best ways to keep a home looking magnificent are by watching for signs of wear and damage and adopting a disciplined approach to upkeep. Regular maintenance guarantees that a homeowner's investment is protected.

Walls, ceilings and moldings can become damaged and dirty over time. A few of the more noticeable signs that a home needs repairs and repainting are worn corners and molding, cracked ceilings and watermarks, and dirt and wear behind furniture and around pictures.

Unfortunately, not all trouble spots are as easy to see as these. Some problems, such as the beginning stages of water damage or a leak, can be easily overlooked by the untrained eye and require a professional to notice.

Hester Decorating, a family-owned and operated firm specializing in painting, paperhanging and faux and specialty finishes, offers homeowners a winter interior maintenance program to help identify problems and perform repairs.

"Just because the problem isn't glaring does not mean it can be ignored," said Tom Hester, founder and president of Hester Decorating "Many homeowners make the costly mistake of waiting until the last minute to make repairs. For example, you can either fix a small watermark now, or wait until next year when mold and mildew have formed, causing a much more serious and more expensive problem."

The skilled craftsmen at Hester Decorating are trained experts in identifying trouble spots and performing repairs. Hester Decorating's interior maintenance program includes an interior inspection of the home, a detailed no-obligation written evaluation, and an estimate and timeline for suggested repairs.

"Winter is the ideal time to complete interior maintenance work," said Hester. "After spending time outdoors and focusing on a home's exterior during the warm spring, summer and fall months, people return indoors during the winter, and shift their attention to the interior of the home."

Hester also points out that the winter months provide the perfect environment to apply today's advanced paints because of low humidity and controlled indoor temperatures. Modern paints emit fewer fumes and, when coupled with new ventilation techniques, reduce the discomforts that previously discouraged winter painting.

All furnaces need check-ups

All heating systems should be serviced periodically by a qualified contractor to ensure top performance, according to the American Gas Association. Such maintenance will ensure safe and efficient operation.

Heating contractors should follow the manufacturers' maintenance guidelines for each unit in accordance with local building codes and regulations, AGA says.

The check-up should include:

- inspection of the furnace vent system
- removal of any leaves, nests or other obstructions from inside the chimney
- replacement or cleaning of the air filter
- lubrication of the blower motor and replacement of blower belts, if needed
- cleaning of pilots and burner chamber
- removal of dust and lint from furnace vents, registers and baseboard heaters
- cleaning and adjusting of thermostats.

Navy couple moves easily from to apartment

For Robin Rice and her husband, who is also named Robin, their search for a new home started on the Internet last year. This career Navy couple was being transferred from Virginia Beach to the Great Lakes Naval Training Center had to find a new place to live. It was during their research on the World Wide Web that Northgate Apartments became the leading contender.

"We owned a home in Virginia Beach and had initially hoped to rent a home in Illinois, but we soon found that for the amount of space we needed, renting a home in the Chicago area would be too expensive. So we started looking at apartments and were impressed by what we saw on the Northgate web site," Robin said.

The fact that Northgate was a brand new community impressed the Rices from the start. "During our research, we really liked the fact that we would be the first people to live in an apartment at Northgate. The freshness and newness of the community meant a lot to us," Robin said.

The Rices have three girls ranging in age from 3 to 13 years of age, so finding a large apartment with three bedrooms was their top priority. Again, the floor plans offered at Northgate met their requirements.

"My husband and I wanted to find an apartment that had a master bath as part of the master bedroom. We looked at many units that didn't offer this feature, but Northgate did and we love it," Robin said.

The master suite in the Rice's Fairmont is a spacious retreat for this couple. The master bedroom measures 15'-8"x12'-8" and includes the desired full private bath plus an enormous walk-in closet.

One of the secondary bedrooms includes a large walk-in closet as well. This plan also features a walk-in linen closet adjacent to the washer and dryer.

"We like the amount of closet space we have in this floor plan along with the convenience of having our own washer and dryer. The location of the washer and dryer is also great, located near the bedrooms," Robin said.

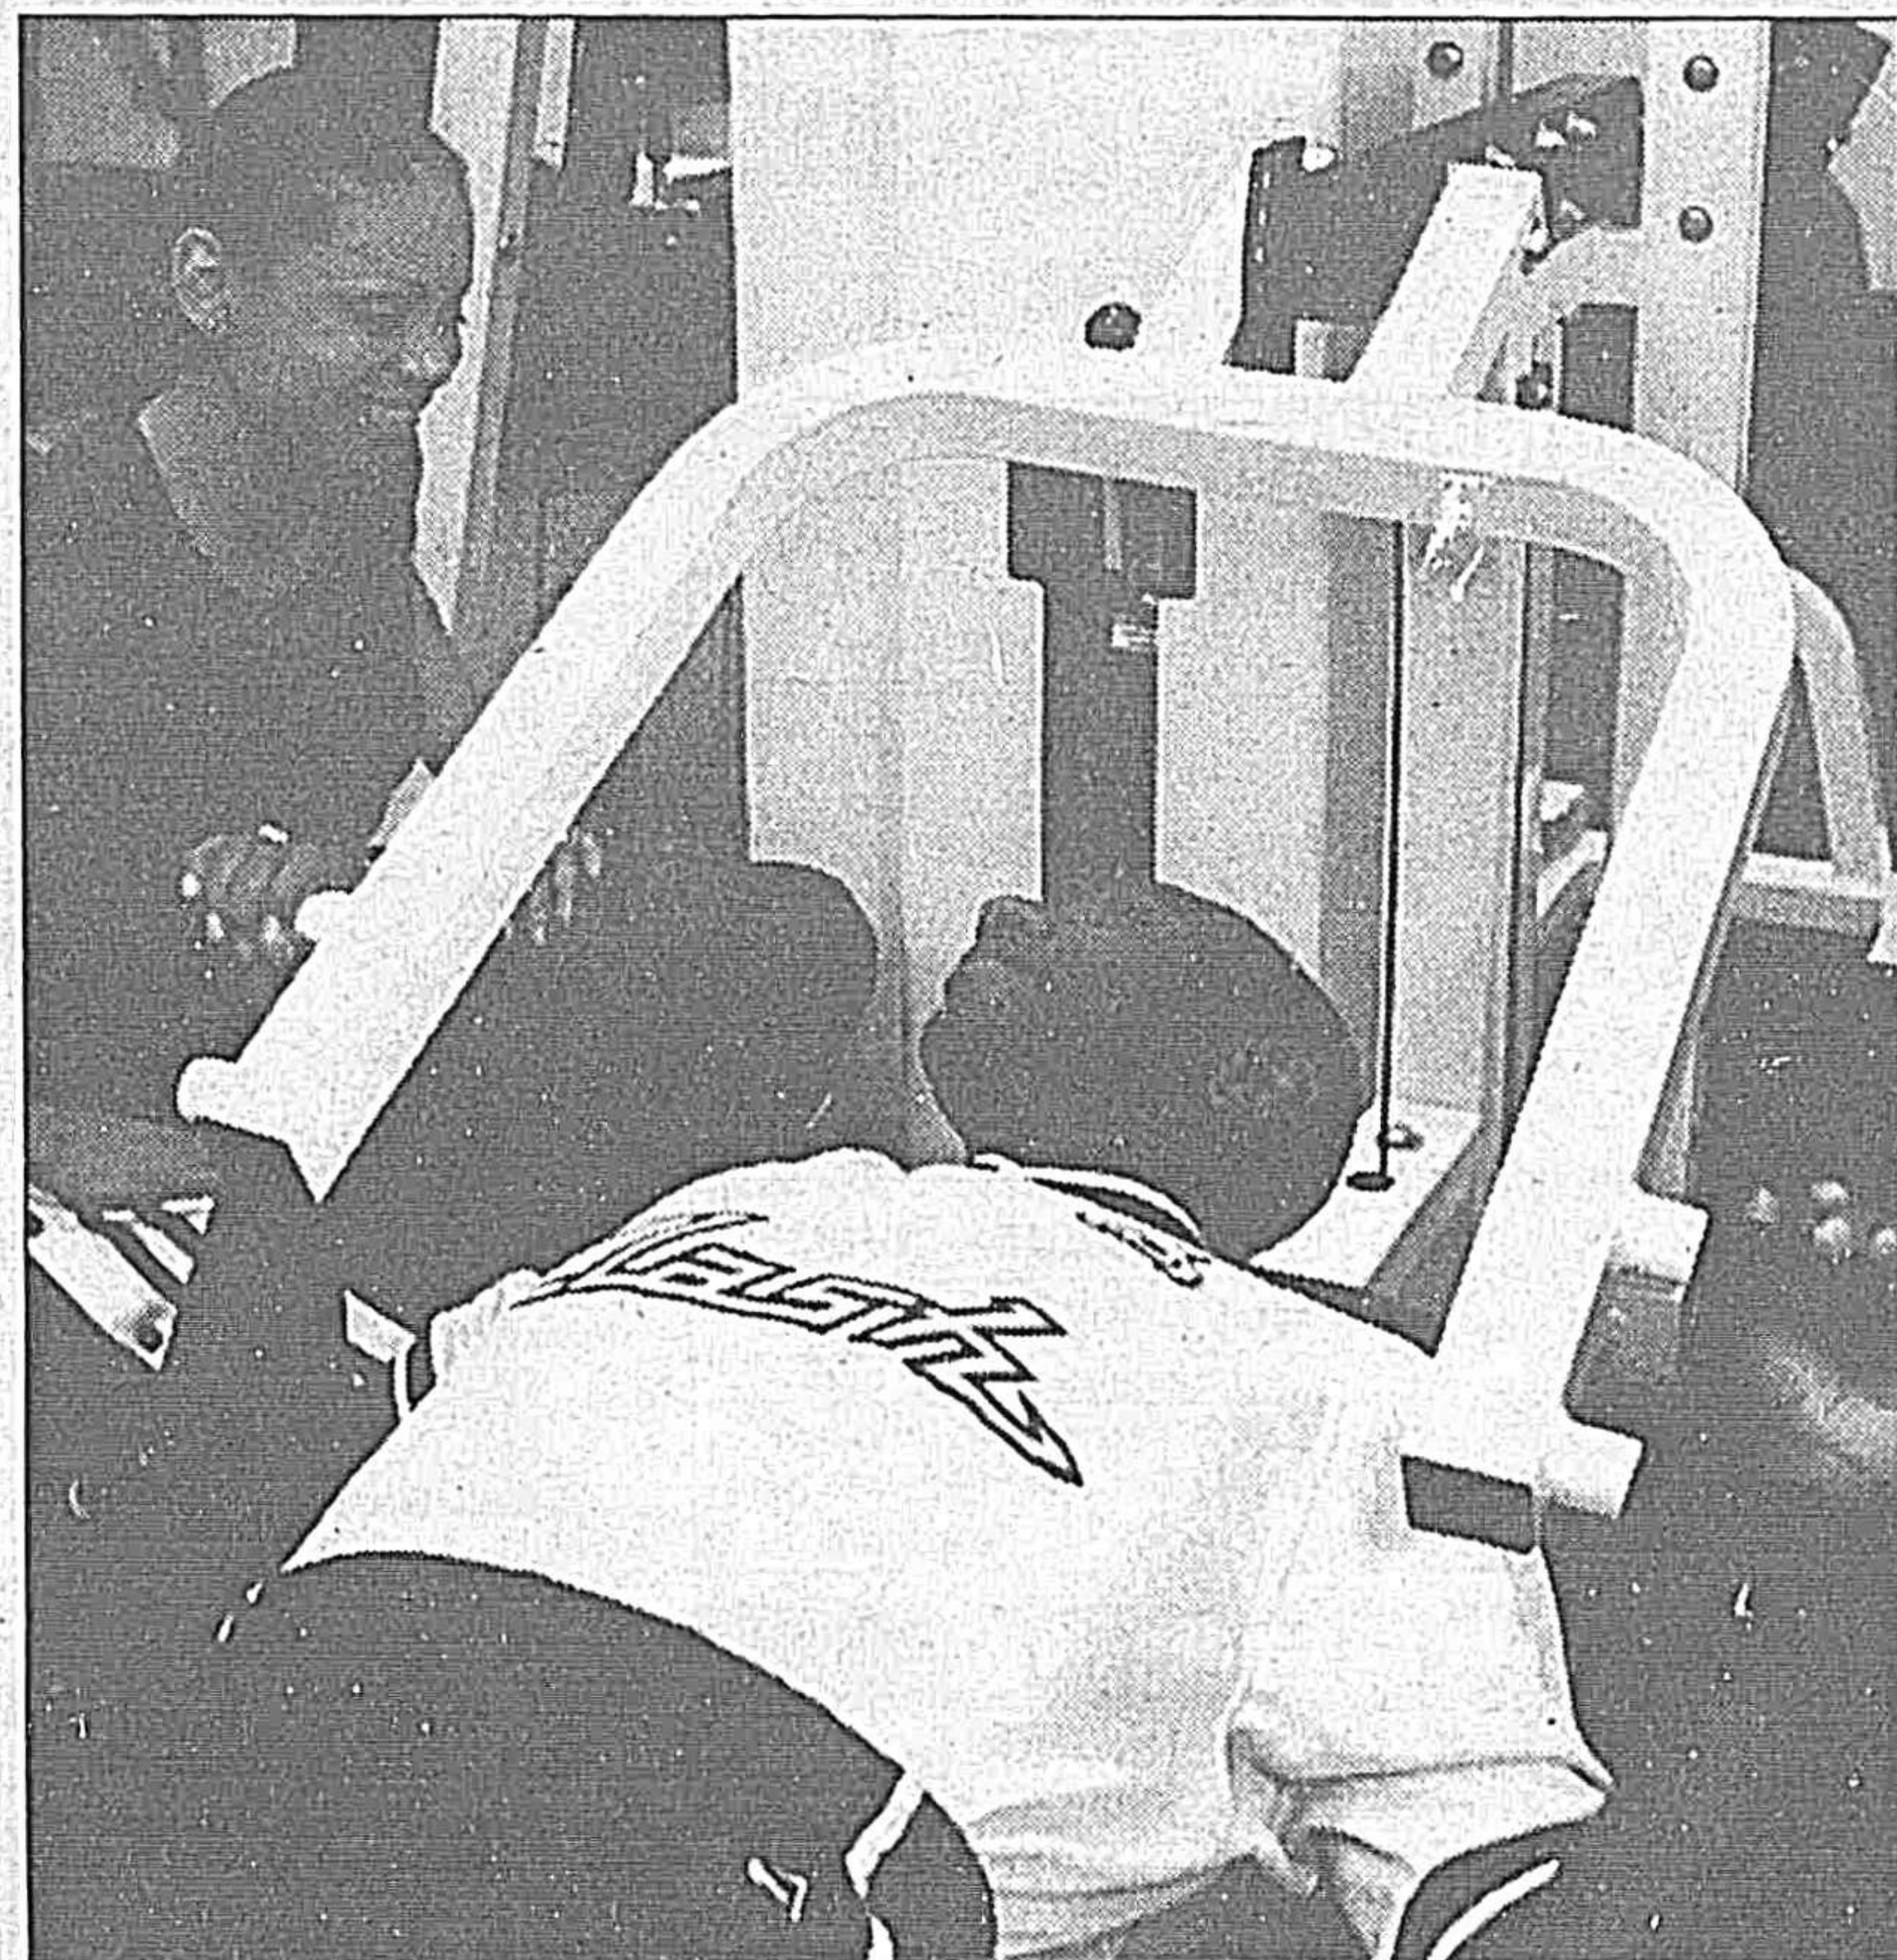

The apartments at Northgate also feature a fully applianced kitchen with over 16' of quality cabinetry, sound-resistant masonry construction and condominium grade finishes throughout. The kitchen in their home has also scored points with Robin.

"The look of the kitchen is very pleasant. I like the color of the cabinets and of the appliances. The breakfast bar that is open to the dining room is very convenient," she said.

The Rice's two youngest daughters, Tyler and Jazmin, share one of the bedrooms and Robin said there's plenty of room in their bedroom for twin beds. Thirteen-year-old Marquiana has her own bedroom with a computer.

But the Rice's enjoyment of their apartment at Northgate is not limited to just the great floor plan. The family also appreciates the numerous amenities of living at the community, which include a fully equipped fitness room that features a weight machine, treadmills and stationary, recumbent and elliptical bicycles. There is also a heated outdoor pool.

Robin also like having 24-hour access to the exercise facilities, so she can work out early or late according to her busy schedule. In addition to the exercise facilities, Northgate residents also have full use of the furnished great room, a friendly area with a fireplace and couches making it the perfect place to read or relax.

New apartment community in Waukegan is working out well for this Navy couple used to living in a single family home. The Rices and their three daughters enjoy apartment amenities including a well-appointed workout room.

Keep safety in focus this fire prevention week - don't get burned

Proper fire safety practices can help eliminate fire hazards.

A simple message, but not something many of us take the time to act upon. With National Fire Safety Awareness Week slated for October 8-14 this year, now is the time to begin addressing potential fire hazards in your home.

The CertainTeed Home Institute recommends following the room by room checklist below for a more fire safe home this season:

The Kitchen

- Keep cooking surfaces free of grease buildups.
- Make sure curtains, napkins, pot holders and aprons are kept away from burners and heat.
- Check that major appliances such as the dishwasher and refrigerator are in working order. Clean them regularly and have them periodically maintained by a qualified service technician.
- Keep trash in covered containers and dispose of it regularly.

The Family Room

- Have chimneys and fireplaces professionally inspected by qualified technicians.
- Check space heaters for frayed or damaged wiring. Keep heaters at least three feet away from anything combustible including drapes and furniture.

The Living Room

- Move any furniture that blocks access to windows and doors.

The Bedroom

- Never smoke cigarettes, cigars or pipes in bed.
- Never use extension cords as permanent wiring. It is cause for trouble.
- Keep small appliances, such as hair dryers unplugged when not in use.

The Attic

- Check the insulation in your attic. If it is combustible, replace it with a more fire safe material. For example, cellulose insulation, made of ground-up newspapers, can contribute to attic fires when installed too close to heat sources such as recessed lights. Replace cellulose with a noncombustible, high quality material like InsulSafe4 Blown-In Fiber Glass Insulation. InsulSafe will remain noncombustible for the life of a home.

The Basement

- If paints, thinners or gasoline are now in your home, remove them to an outside shed, if possible.
- Have your furnace professionally inspected by qualified technicians or fire officials at least once a year.

In addition, take precautions so you are prepared in the event a fire does break out. Make sure extinguishers are installed, fully charged and your family members know how to use them. Also make sure you have a smoke detector between each bedroom, at the head of each stairway and on each level in the rest of the house. Also develop and practice a family escape plan.

Are you tired of ugly concrete?

Dura-Coat, LLC of Antioch will resurface concrete, aggregate, masonry, steel, foam or wood on existing or new surfaces and will guarantee, in writing, up to a 10-year warranty with annual maintenance. As a dealer for Perma-Crete products based in Nashville, Dura-Coat, LLC provides a three-part system, consisting of a Matrix Mix of high strength compounds (over 6000 psi, double that of concrete) with a bonding additive which is a water soluble acrylic polymer finished with two final applications of an acrylic, polyurethane, or epoxy stain sealer. Surfaces are available in over 150 colors and pattern designs.

Resurfacing renews instead of removes; enhances property values; and is a cost effective way of addressing surface deterioration. Call 847-395-8155 for a free estimate.
